ASSESSMENT ABUSE HIT

Passing of Laws Protecting Landowner Forecast for Next Legislature

Paving Contractors and Chambers Blamed for Excess Demands

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24. (AP)—William J. Locke, secretary of the California League of Municipalities, today attacked the assessment method of raising paving funds before the convention of the International City Managers' Association.

Locke declared flatly the special assessment method of financing had been abused in California, and predicted enactment of laws at the next legislative session to give landowners protection.

PRACTICE ABUSED

"In some cases," he said, "overlapping assessments have been imposed on property aggregating a sum far in excess of its value. And the practice of financing street improvements in California under the special assessment method has been abused and carried to such an extreme in some places that remedial laws are certain to be enacted at the next session of the Legislature to curb the ambitions of self-seeking promoters, who, in the main, have been almost entirely responsible for the abuses complained of.

"The promotional activities of contractors and paving companies whose interests are based solely on the profit to be derived from the work undoubtedly have been answerable for many unwarranted projects.

CHAMBERS BLAMED

"The over-zealous ambition of local chambers of commerce," he asserted, "also has been the moving factor in many cases for much untimely work. There is no doubt also but that the abuse of the special assessment method of financing street improvements is one of the contributing causes for the present depreciation of real property."

M. M. O'Shaughnessy, veteran City Engineer of San Francisco, took a somewhat divergent view of the matter of accelerating civic development. He commented on the antagonism and controversy through which projects must pass before approved. He said:

"It requires great patience to sell the measure, first to the public and secondly to the legislative body which has the painful function of levying the taxes."

RAIN FALLS OVER WIDE NORTH AREA

San Francisco District Gets Heaviest Showers Recorded This Season

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24. (Exclusive)—Expected showers fell throughout California north of the Tehachapi today, the precipitation coming from an area of low pressure which moved eastward from the Pacific on a line approximating the Columbia River. In the bay area they were sufficiently heavy for the first time this season to clear the air and mark the gauge.

Reports from Lodi indicated damage was done to grapes, confined principally to Zinfandels.

The storm area has passed, the Weather Bureau reported, and fair and mild weather is to be expected tomorrow with a rise in temperature general.

Russian Reds' Antireligious Campaign Fails

MOSCOW, Sept. 24. (AP)—The Jewish Telegraphic Agency reports that the antireligious campaign of Jewish Communists passed unnoticed on both Rosh Hashanah days, during which the synagogues in Moscow and in other parts of Russia were crowded. An antireligious march which the Communists proclaimed for Rosh Hashanah was negligible in Moscow as well as in the provinces.

"Our cultural brigades slept instead of marching," reports the Yiddish Communist daily, Der Shtern. The Emes, another Yiddish Communist paper, also admits that the march was a failure, but called on the Jewish Communists to prepare a successful antireligious demonstration for Yom Kippur.

Nurse Breathes Without Use of Artificial Lung

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Frances McGaan, the student nurse who is being kept alive by a "mechanical lung" in St. Luke's Hospital, virtually was assured of ultimate recovery today when she was able to breathe without the use of the respirator.

She was taken from the Drinker respirator, the steel chamber in which she has been confined for twelve days, for a test of her strength.

The muscular tension which had stopped the action of her lungs when she was stricken with infantile paralysis was found to have relaxed slightly. She was able to breathe for intervals as long as five minutes outside the machine. This convinced physicians that she will recover.

BOY-MAN SCHOOLS' ENIGMA

Ohio Officials Puzzle Over 6-Year-Old Who Has Mustache and Smokes Cigars

TOLEDO (O.) Sept. 24. (AP)—What to do with a 6-year-old boy who has a mustache, shaves regularly, smokes cigars inveterately, talks in a deep voice and does strong-man stunts, is puzzling Toledo school officials, as well as his parents.

The boy is Clarence Kehr, who is 3 feet 5 inches tall, weighs eighty-four pounds, and has been doing strong-man stunts worthy of a grown-up since he was 3 years of age. He has a high intelligence quotient. Physicians attribute his early development into manhood to superactivity of the ductless glands.

The boy-man's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kehr, arranged today to go to Columbus to take up with the Ohio Department of Education the matter of his education.

Toledo public-school officials declined to enter Clarence, Jr., in any first-grade and schools of the Catholic diocese of Toledo have taken a similar stand after examinations by a physician and psychiatrist. Charles S. Meek, superintendent of schools, said that neither the welfare of the boy-man nor the best interests of his classmates could be served by permitting him to enter the public schools.

There are no provisions in Ohio for education of a boy of Clarence's type in special classes.

CZECHS MOB THEATERS

German Films Cause Rioting

Showhouses Invaded and Smashed Up in Wild Demonstration

Prague Newspaper Blames American Distributor for Disorder

PRAGUE, Sept. 24. (Exclusive)—The growing resentment against German talking films rose to angry heights tonight when a mob of several thousand Czech Nationals dominated Prague streets for several hours and invaded and smashed up four motion-picture houses showing German films. In one legitimate theater they beat up the customers.

Several German and Jewish shops also suffered as the mob of howling Czechs paraded the streets, smashing windows as they went along.

The newspaper "Ceske Slovo" tonight accuses an American distributing concern of encouraging the anti-German talkie riots. It declares that Prague has two large distributors—one offering American films and the other German films. The American films are less popular than the German films because they are more sentimental.

BAN REQUESTED

The Mayor today, due to the growing anti-German feeling of the past few days, asked the Minister of the Interior to prohibit German talking films in Prague due to the fact that it is impossible to preserve order.

The mob, starting out several thousand strong, beat up the police and the doorkeepers at the Avion Theater, where a German film entitled "The Immortal Ne'er Do Well" was showing. They drove out the German customers, beating them unmercifully, and forced the manager to announce that the show would not continue. They then proceeded up the street, with swelling numbers, howling anti-German and anti-Jewish epithets and smashing windows of German and Jewish shops en route.

AUDIENCE IN PANIC

They smashed up two more film houses showing German films. Finally they ended up at a new German legitimate theater, where Max Reinhardt and his company from Vienna have been showing. They broke into the theater, smashed windows, threw the audience into panic and stopped the show.

The mob was still uncontrolled late tonight. The windows of the Prager Presse, a German-language newspaper owned by Foreign Minister Dr. Eduard Bense, were smashed. The mob also smashed up a near-by theater as well as a cafe frequented by German-speaking customers. They beat a number of Germans.

EASIER BUYING OF HOMES SOUGHT IN HOOVER DRIVE

Committee Asked to Find Way for Purchasing Houses as Simply as Acquiring Automobiles

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (Exclusive)—Addressing the initial meeting of the committee he has appointed to plan a national conference on home building and ownership, President Hoover today deprecated the fact that it is easier to finance the purchase of an automobile in the United States today than that of a home.

"The financing of home building, especially for second mortgages," he declared, "is the most backward segment of our credit system. It is easier to borrow 85 per cent on an automobile and repay it on the installment plan than to buy a home on that basis—and generally the house requires a higher interest rate.

"The whole process of purchase and finance involves a ceremony like a treaty between governments, and yet the home is certainly as good collateral as an automobile; it depreciates more slowly, if at all, and its owner will make a harder fight to keep it. The home has tentacles of sentiment, as well as bonds of practical necessity, that bind the occupant to it. Part of the difficulty lies in inadequate financial organization and part of it you will find in obsolete laws."

Receiving the committee, which is headed by Secretary of Commerce Lamont, in the Cabinet Room, Mr. Hoover made it plain that he wants those studying the question to take as much time as they need and bring back some concrete scheme for stimulating home building and ownership on a countrywide scale. He declared he wants "something more than ephemeral discussion" and while he did not propose to put the Federal government into the building of private residences, "it is my hope that this inquiry and the conference should make so well founded a contribution to our national understanding as to give direction and coordination to thought and action throughout the country."

TEXT OF ADDRESS

The text of the President's address follows:

"I appreciate the high sense of public service which has brought you here today. I would not have asked you to come if I had not felt deeply that there was a real need. For some years the business community, our municipalities and great numbers of associations devoted to home building and public welfare have interested themselves in the problems of better housing and home ownership.

BEHIND OUR IDEALS

"I will say at once that we have a larger proportion of adequate housing than any country in the world, and that still we have behind our ideals for homes for our people. Substantial advances have been made in some parts of the country; great experience has been gained and it has been the wish of many of these groups that there should be a thorough national inquiry with view to a crystallization of this experience, the mobilization of existing movements and the possible development from it of a new state of thought and action.

"Adequate housing goes to the very roots of the well-being of the family and the family is the social unit of the nation.

"It is more than comfort that is involved; it has important aspects of health and morals and education and the provision of a fair chance for growing children.

SURROUNDINGS STRESSED

"Nothing contributes more to greater happiness or sounder social stability than the surroundings of their homes. It should be possible in our country for anybody of sound character and industrious habits to provide himself with adequate housing and preferably to buy his own home.

"The finance of home building especially for second mortgages, is the most backward segment of our whole credit system. It is easier to borrow 85 per cent on an automobile and repay it on the installment plan than to buy a home on that basis—and generally the house requires a higher interest rate.

"The whole process of purchase and finance involves a ceremony like a treaty between governments and yet the home is certainly as good collateral as an automobile; it depreciates more slowly, if at all, and its owner will make a harder fight to keep it.

"The home has tentacles of sentiment as well as bonds of practical necessity that bind the occupants to it. Part of the difficulty lies in inadequate financial organizations and part of it you will find in obsolete laws.

League Assembly Rallying to Speed Program of Disarmament

Paris Quibbling Over Parity of Faster Ships Ends Negotiations

GENEVA, Sept. 24. (AP)—While the Assembly of the League of Nations was rallying enthusiastically tonight to expedite its disarmament program, the Italian government's representatives announced that their technical negotiations here with French experts have ended in flat failure.

This acknowledgment cast a cloud of gloom over Geneva, where leaders of a hundred nations have been hoping that some means of adjusting the troublesome Franco-Italian naval differences might soon be reached.

SITUATION HOPELESS

There is no hope according to informed Italian quarters, for anything to be gained by further conversations here which have been conducted between Rene Massigli, the French, and Augusto Rosso, the Italian expert.

The course of the negotiations now acknowledged fruitless is described authoritatively from the Italian side somewhat in this way: Recent proposals from the Mussolini government suggested that Italy, under certain conditions, would agree to French superiority in total naval tonnage of 100,000 tons, approximately. In craft below 10,000 tons Italy, however, would be equal in numbers with a right to shift its tonnage into smaller, faster boats, regarded as suited to Italy's defense needs.

This proposal for a ratio below 10,000 tons, however, is said to have failed when the French wished to define more closely than Italy had suggested the categories from and to which tonnage could be transferred.

DATE PROMISED

A vehement and sometimes impatient demonstration, urging the hastening of the League of Nations disarmament program and early calling of a general conference for reduction and limitation of armaments, was witnessed in the League Assembly's disarmament committee tonight.

From this all that there arose a promise of J. J. Loudon, chairman of the Preparatory Disarmament Commission, that the commission would meet November 3 and fervidly seek to finish its task of clearing the way completely for a congress of all nations to consider a scheme of general disarmament.

After a frank outburst of impatient criticism from Count von Bernstorff of Germany, who declared that the preparatory commission "has done nothing," Viscount Cecil, representing Great Britain, counseled patience and urged that the preliminary work should be well and thoroughly done.

'NECKINOLOGISTS' RATE 'A'

Illinois Dean Says Freshmen Deserve Ph.D. for Skill in Art of Public Love Making

URBANA (Ill.) Sept. 24. (AP)—The collegian of today is rarely a collegiate, says G. Herbert Smith, dean of freshmen at the University of Illinois, and if he is he ought to snap out of it.

The "collegiate type," he has advised freshmen, doesn't attend college. The type cannot stand the scholastic pace, the dean said.

Dean Smith also is taking occasion this year to give freshmen some advice about "dating," and about how they should dress. The correct attire for this year's freshman, he said, is suits of Oxford gray and grayish blue, with shirts of solid white or of blue or Oxford broadcloth, with an attached collar with three-inch points. Neckwear should be of solid color.

"No curriculum in social usage is complete without a study of the relations between young men and women," Dean Smith said. "From the looks of the campus in the early fall and spring it would appear that the high schools have presented a very effective course of study entitled 'neckinology,' or 'the art of public love-making.'

"If the college freshmen could forget what he has learned in this course as completely as he loses his preparation in mathematics and foreign language, the American campus would be much better off.

"I am not going to say it is wrong to kiss a girl. In all probability you will be in love several times before you get out of college and I am not objecting to that. My criticism is against the promiscuous public petting which you see on the streets, in rumble seats, on busses and front porches."

HOME-BUILDING DRIVE LAUNCHED

Hoover Cites Need to Make Purchasing Easier

Committee Told to Conduct Thorough Study

ing of the individual home owner. The problem of creating real and systematic home areas adjacent to industry and to our cities which can be safeguarded from commercial invasion and destruction needs exhaustive consideration.

"Such areas have been created both here and abroad with great success. The helter-skelter building of homes adjacent to our cities produces many inadequacies and wastes. Such a question at once raises large problems of city and industry planning as well as problems of finance. The automobile in such communities is far more practical than ever before.

"I am in hopes you can find the time and organization to go even farther afield than individual home ownership and into this whole question of housing. This will at once carry you into the apartment and rural fields as well.

"Besides these questions there are problems of architecture, aesthetic questions and questions of interior convenience as well as problems of construction—all of which have large importance and enter into rural as well as urban homes.

ANOTHER ANGLE

"I would suggest to you that there is also an important economic bearing of this whole matter beyond even the betterment of the family. With constant improvement of method and labor-saving devices, we constantly set free a stream of workers from established industry which must be absorbed in new or expanding industries if we would have for them employment and the articles or services which comprise advancing standards of living.

"There is no doubt we shall make new inventions and new needs, but the greatest field for the absorption of our surplus national energy lies in better housing. There are some emergency questions arising from the present depression to which you can assist in solution.

"I shall not enter upon many phases of the subject. They are well known to many of you. My general thought has been that we should first have a determination of the facts in every important direction, followed by a weighing and distillation of these facts and the formulation of collective judgment of the leaders of our country in this special knowledge.

STUDY REQUIRED

"Not only the wide scope of the subject, but its many intricate problems involved will all require time for investigation and study. I have not presumed that you could undertake to direct such a task as this and bring it to conclusion within a few weeks or even months or that you could undertake it without large assistance and co-operation.

"We wish to set up something more than an ephemeral discussion. It is obviously not our purpose to set up the Federal government in the business of building homes. There are many questions of local government involved.

"It is my hope that out of this inquiry and the conference that will follow it, we should make so well-founded a contribution to our national understanding as to give direction and co-ordination to thought and action throughout the country."

NEW POSITION FOR ROOSEVELT

Philippines Vice-Governor to be Envoy to Hungary

Resignation of Island Post Accepted by President

Wright Transferred from Budapest to Uruguay

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—The resignation of Nicholas Roosevelt of New York as Vice-Governor of the Philippines and his appointment as Minister to Hungary was announced today at the White House.

Roosevelt was named Vice-Governor a few months ago but had never left for his post. A storm of protest arose from independence leaders in the islands after his appointment and Mr. Roosevelt resigned yesterday.

He will succeed at Budapest J. Butler Wright, former assistant Secretary of State, who will be transferred to Uruguay. Leland Harrison has resigned as Minister to Uruguay.

HOOVER'S COMMENT

In accepting the resignation President Hoover said:

"I chose you for that Philippine post because you would be especially well qualified for it through your knowledge of Philippine conditions and your deep interest in the Filipino people; and I appreciate fully the unselfish spirit that has prompted your withdrawal.

"I have determined to appoint you as the United States Minister to Hungary," the President added, "so that in that other field where you have already worked the United States may have your service."

SUCCESSOR UNDECIDED

No successor to the Vice-Governorship of the Philippines has been chosen. Roosevelt's appointment was sent to the Senate in the closing days of the last session, but the urgings of Philippine leaders in this country for hearings on the nomination led Chairman Bingham of the Territories Committee to defer efforts to obtain confirmation until the next session.

In his letter of resignation Mr. Roosevelt, a writer on the Philippines, told the President a "one-sided propaganda has tended to create in the Philippine Islands a state of mind prejudicial to my present usefulness as Vice-Governor."

TO AVOID TROUBLE

"If prolonged," Roosevelt added, "this situation is apt to have unfortunate repercussions in the next session of Congress, during which vitally important discussions of Philippine problems will presumably occur.

"The fundamental issues then to be considered should not be complicated by questions connected with my appointment, nor should any controversy about my views be permitted to embarrass Philippine-American relations.

"Under the circumstances I have decided to place my resignation as Vice-Governor of the Philippine Islands in your hands, believing that my services can be more useful elsewhere. Your acceptance of it will not lessen my deep interest in far eastern affairs, nod diminish the eagerness with which I look forward to reviving the Philippines."

ECCEPTANCE AIMS

Roosevelt said in his letter of resignation he accepted the Philippine post "with an open mind, anxious to do what I could to further Philippine-American relations, which have been for years my special study.

"In my writings I have taken the position that the United States stands in relation to the Philippines as a trustee to its ward, and that in consequence we cannot withdraw until we have fully discharged the obligation which we assumed on taking over the islands.

"To this end I have urged that educational facilities be extended so that, instead of only one child in three attending school as at present, every child should have a seat in school. I have advocated the extension of the suffrage to include the women of the Philippines. I have pointed out that if ever the Philippines are to be self-sustaining greater attention must be paid to economic development and less to politics.

RESTRICTION FOUGHT

"I have fought the restrictions which selfish American interests have sought to place on Philippine products and Filipino immigrants coming into the United States. Finally, I have urged that so long as the American flag flies over the islands the American administration should be efficient as well as honest and sympathetic.

"Unfortunately, the Philippine leaders have ignored these views and have, instead, broadcast misrepresentations of my writings with an obvious indifference to the correlation between their statements and the facts. In many cases this has been done by persons who apparently have not even read what I have written, contenting themselves, instead, with isolated sentences twisted from their context."

FILIPINO LEADERS SEE MORAL VICTORY

MANILA, Sept. 25. (Thursday) (AP) News of the resignation of Nicholas Roosevelt as Vice-Governor of the Philippines was hailed by Filipino leaders as a great moral victory for the island people. Newspapers issued extras, catching the populace en route to work this morning, and shortly the resignation was the chief topic of conversation.

cities throughout the country. The morning was devoted to reports.

Harold A. Stone, research director for the California Taxpayers' Association, Los Angeles, stressed the need for reduction of municipal costs by eliminating wastes. He suggested a survey for city governments, such as the Hoover industrial survey of 1921, for the purpose of ferreting out expense leaks. Many cities have sought to eliminate management wastes, he said, by adopting the City-Manager form of government.

Alfred Smith of the San Francisco Bureau of Governmental Research advocated long-term financial budgets for capital expenditures in order to get the best results from available funds for highways, education, recreation and health projects.

FRANCO-ITALIAN SEA PACT FAILS

Office tonight. The hitch was declared here to have come over a French counter-proposal whereby France, between 1930 and 1936, would be allowed to build naval vessels on a basis of one and one-half units to Italy's one.

The Italians, while admitting they took the initiative in ending the negotiations, pointed out that it was Foreign Minister Grandi, in a Chamber of Deputies speech last May who suggested the discussion and who, in a Senate speech, launched the idea of a naval holiday.

War Veteran, Thought Dead, Proves Identity

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—After Robert Marcey, a Lyonhurst (Va.) World War veteran, proved he had not been buried with military honors in Arlington National Cemetery, War Department officials today prepared to exhume and attempt to identify the body interred.

The man now buried was killed in an automobile accident ten days ago and identified as Marcey by his sister, Mrs. O. O. Walker of Lyonhurst. Later Marcey's mother, Mrs. Elvin J. Marcey, received a letter from her son, who was in Baltimore.

Professor's Cash Buys Experience

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (Exclusive) A New York City College professor, who had been told the gateway of real money was through high finance, rather than the classroom, sorrowfully told the District Attorney's office today that he had paid $25,000 in cash for a 25 per cent share in N. W. Ayer & Sons, a Philadelphia advertising firm that makes $1,000,000 or more a year.

The professor, George C. Autenreite, teacher of machine designing and mechanical drawing, identified Dudley E. Grosbeck, 33 years of age, a Boston salesman, as the man who gave him a contract in exchange for his $25,000 savings. Grosbeck promptly was clapped into a Tombs cell on forgery charges.

IDAHO REPUBLICANS TO SUPPORT FOR BORAH

BOISE (Idaho) Sept. 24. (AP)—Franklin county Republicans, who refused to indorse the candidacy of Senator William E. Borah at the State convention in Idaho Falls because of his opposition to a higher tariff on sugar, today assured him of the county's support and said he "will receive the customary Franklin county majority."

EUROPE WROTH OVER DUMPING

Wheat to Play Large Part in London Parley

Outcry Raised in Agrarian Areas of Continent

Report of Russian Covering Effort Rallies Pit

LONDON, Sept. 24. (AP)—Political observers believe wheat will play possibly a dominant part in the coming imperial conference discussions.

The dumping of Russian wheat has raised an outcry not only in rural England but across the agrarian states of Europe and has given the movement for wider empire preferences impetus such as no mere academic discussions could possibly have done.

Nevertheless, there are strong doubts as to whether the present Labor government would be prepared to impose a duty on foreign wheat since the free traders and the "free fooders" such as Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and William Graham, president of the Board of Trade, are much at the economic helm at Downing street.

J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Dominions, has a counter-scheme which would accord preferences by way of bulk state purchases. Although Mr. Thomas has not yet divulged the details of his plan it is meeting strenuous criticism on the ground that it will increase the price of food.

The Daily Herald, Labor organ, today described the outcry against the dumping of Russian wheat as a political stunt.

AMERICAN FARM BUREAU WILL INVESTIGATE PLOT

CHICAGO, Sept. 24. (AP)—Directors of the American Farm Bureau Federation announced today they will give immediate attention to what they termed "Russian Communistic activities in the United States threatening the welfare of the American farmer."

A statement issued by M. S. Winder, secretary of the federation, said the directors will meet October 2 and 3 to receive the report of an investigation of Communist activities made by officials of the organization. Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, who recently charged the soviets were attempting to manipulate the Chicago wheat market by short-selling, has indicated he will be present, the statement said.

Winder said further the directors will consider a proposed legislative program which would limit futures trading to 2,000,000 bushels in any one deal, or which leaves a speculator in a net position, long or short, in any one future in excess of 2,000,000 bushels at any one time.

WHEAT RALLIES ON REPORT OF RED COVERING

CHICAGO, Sept. 24. (AP)—A sinking wheat market was snatched from the quicksands of stop-loss sales and general uncertainty today by reports that Russia sought to cover its recent short-selling, while government-sponsored co-operatives purchased heavily on the Minneapolis exchange.

Both reports beat the closing gong by minutes and came as the market floundered in the deepest hole since 1907. The rally carried prices to from 1-4 cent under to 1-2 cent over Tuesday's closing and permitted them to rest at around 2 3-4 cents above the day's lows.

Bottom for September deliveries in the feverish selling preceding the rally was reached at 76 3-8 cents. Rye and oats swept correspondingly downward to record lows. Corn was only slightly firmer, but as other cereals, it reflected the last-minute wheat rally and finished with fractional gains.

The fact Russian and Canadian wheat was pressing for outlet at Liverpool contributed to the market's early frenzy though buyers later found encouragement in a current statement that even if Russia exported 50,000,000 bushels of wheat, the supply would not fill European requirements for one month.

The business conduct committee of the Board of Trade went into session after the close to continue its investigation of the charges made by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde that Russia was attempting to depress prices by short selling.

Jack Donahue, Comedian, Ill

CINCINNATI, Sept. 24. (Exclusive)—Jack Donahue, foremost dancing comedian of the musical comedy stage, was stricken today during a performance of "Sons o' Guns" at the Schubert Theater here.

Donahue, known as one of the most active, agile performers in the profession, collapsed and was rushed to his hotel. There physicians diagnosed his case as high blood pressure. He was placed on a train to be taken to a New York hospital. The specialists who examined him said he had a fighting chance for recovery.

HOSPITAL DUPED AS IT ARRANGES BENEFIT

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (Exclusive) Perhaps the world's meanest check kiter yet discovered is a suave, fashionably dressed man who gave the Flower Hospital a check for two orchestra seats for a sick-and-poor benefit performance in a Broadway theater. He dropped in at the hospital, got the tickets and $4 cash in change and then disappeared. The check was worthless.

RUSSIA KEEPS PRICES SECRET

America Balked in Hunt for Tariff Basis

Several Exports Believed to be Shipped at Loss

Coal Market Invasion Threat Not Taken Seriously

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—The American grain transactions of the Russian government have added just one more item to a considerable list of soviet commercial activities which have disturbed Treasury officials for the past year.

Nearly twelve months ago the attention of the Treasury was directed toward plans of the soviets to import several products into the United States. It immediately set a close watch on the shipments but found itself baffled by inadequacy of existing American laws to deal with the situation in general. Lack of diplomatic relations made virtually impossible the task of ascertaining the cost of production of the various articles in Russia.

MATCH PROOF EASY

Under present law the tariff on any article imported could be raised if it were found Russia was selling it here below its cost of production or below the selling price in Russia. This was established only on one article, safety matches, and the anti-dumping act was applied, raising the tariff to bring their American price into competition with the domestic product.

Proof of the selling price of matches in Russia was comparatively easy to secure because match production there is a government monopoly and the selling price high. On other articles, however, neither sale prices nor costs of production could be determined.

Complaints from American firms were received that Russia was dumping coal, lumber, pulpwood and manganese into the United States. The Treasury ordered lumber and pulpwood barred on the ground it was produced with the use of convict labor—a tariff law clause permits exclusion of anything into the production of which convict or forced labor has entered—but at hearings held on both products the evidence was held insufficient and the embargoes were rescinded.

COAL PRICE DARK

While the pulpwood did not compete with American production it replaced supplies obtained from Canada and was considered indirectly detrimental to some American interests. The lumber was said to come into direct competition with American production but evidence was adduced that the Russians made careful effort to separate convict-made lumber for sale in European markets.

At the Treasury hearings it was testified the Russians had chartered about ninety ships to carry pulpwood to this country, a tonnage exceeded only by that reported chartered for carrying Russian grain to England and Europe.

The Russian threat to invade the American coal markets, while bringing a protest from anthracite dealers, was not regarded as serious.

Coal prices and production costs in Russia so far have not been ascertained nor has any success been indicated in the other lines under investigation.

WAR ON MODERN DRESS MAPPED

Eucharistic Congress Hears Styles Condemned

Large Neo-Pagan Population Blamed by Priest

Pope's Message Quoted and Wide Drive Urged

OMAHA, Sept. 24. (AP)—Methods of combatting what was termed the indecency of modern dress for women were discussed at length today by clergymen attending the National Eucharistic Congress. Rev. Athanasius Steck of Humphrey, Neb., led the discussion.

"The spirit of liberty in its exaggerated form and the lack of delicacy or Christian modesty lost through contact with life in the midst of an overwhelmingly large neo-pagan population, that is Christian in name only," was blamed by Father Steck for making "even ordinarily good Catholic women and young ladies unconscious of the indecency of modern dress and its offense against public Christian morality."

MESSAGE CITED

The pastor declared the message of Pope Pius XI on January 12, last, regarding the dress of girl pupils in schools taught by sisters has by reference been extended to Catholics the world over. He reiterated Pope Pius ruled "a dress cannot be called decent which is cut deeper than two fingers' breadth under the pit of the throat, which does not cover the arms at least to the elbows and scarcely reaches a bit beyond the knees."

He also reiterated the Pope's condemnation of dresses of transparent material and flesh-colored stockings "which suggest the legs being bare."

Father Steck also emphasized Pope Pius decreed that henceforth "girls and women who wear immodest dress shall be denied holy communion and shall not be admitted as sponsors at baptism and confirmation, and, if needs be, shall be stopped from entering any church."

He concluded, "It will require a country-wide concerted effort to bring women back to the Christian sense of modesty."

LAITY AT MEETING

Tonight 25,000 members of the Catholic laity jammed every inch of space in the Creighton University football stadium to take part in the eucharistic mass meeting, held under the auspices of the Holy Name Society. The meeting began with a processional to the tunes of the "Pontifical March."

The principal speaker was Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago. He read a telegram of greeting from President Hoover. The telegram was addressed to Cardinal Mundelein and Rt. Rev. Joseph F. Rummel, Bishop of Omaha, and read:

"I will be obliged if you will express my cordial greeting to the meeting this evening of the National Eucharistic Congress, over which, I am informed, you will preside, and my appreciation of the value of spiritual ideals and of religious observance in the life of our nation, which are indispensible foundations of social order and enduring political institutions.

OPPONENT IN TRIAL SHOT BY WIDOW

Oklahoma Woman Also Fires at Judge Following Dismissal of Her Suit

ENID (Okla.) Sept. 24. (AP)—Mrs. Dolly Douthitt, 60-year-old widow, shot and seriously wounded H. C. Wedgewood, United States Commissioner, and fired another shot at Judge Sutton of Alva today. The second shot missed its mark. The shooting occurred during a trial of damage suits in which she was involved.

Wedgewood was removed to a hospital. Mrs. Douthitt was placed in the County Jail.

The wounded commissioner, also an Enid attorney, was defendant in one of seven suits in which Mrs. Douthitt was involved as either plaintiff or defendant. The suit in which she sought damages from Wedgewood had just been dismissed by Judge Sutton.

Mrs. Douthitt also attempted to fire at Roy Elam, an attorney, but was disarmed by Elam, Joe Porter, court bailiff, and Harry Kirkendall, another attorney.

The thirty-odd court attaches, attorneys and spectators were thrown into a panic when Mrs. Douthitt, who had been acting as her own attorney, arose from the counsel table, drew a pistol and fired.

REDS MARCHING ON SACRAMENTO

Radical Army will Ask for Unemployment Relief

Mooney Freedom and Soviet Recognition Also Sought

Band of About 1000 Due to Petition Gov. Young

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24. (Exclusive)—Communists from all sections of Northern California, including the bay district, are converging on Sacramento with the intention of marching on the Capitol at least 1000 strong with a demand upon Gov. Young for unemployment relief, it became known here today. Information here is that about 100 of them already have reached Sacramento and have established headquarters.

The march to the Governor's office was scheduled for next Saturday but it appears likely tonight the crusade of the Reds may be put off until next week to allow time for those from distant points to reach Sacramento.

AGITATOR ONE OF LEADERS

Among the leaders of the movement is Mike Daniels, who has been arrested here on numerous occasions for inciting labor disturbances.

In their demonstration, as in the past, the Reds hope to attract hundreds of idlers to their parade standard.

It is understood that in addition to the unemployment demand, the Governor will be called upon to grant pardons to Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings, and announce recognition of the soviet union.

RED PAPER APPEARS

Copies of the Daily Worker, a Communist newspaper published in New York, appeared on the streets here today. The paper describes itself as "the central organ of the Communist party in the United States" and declares editorially that "solid organization and continuous determined revolutionary struggle is the only way out for the masses."

Coincidentally it became known the San Francisco branch of the Trade Union Unity League, Communistic, has launched a campaign for a $100,000 national fund to "strike against wage cuts."

POSTAL BUYING PLAN DETAILED

Brown Submits Appeal for Purchases to President

Spending of $43,140,000 in Five Years Advocated

Great Savings Over Leasing Held to be Possible

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—A five-year construction and purchase program to cost $43,140,000 under which the Federal government can become owner of postoffice buildings now leased at 198 points in large cities throughout the country was recommended to President Hoover today by Postmaster-General Brown.

The recommendations are contained in an exhaustive report on the postoffice lease situation requested by President Hoover last March after charges were aired in Congress that the government is being defrauded of millions of dollars by professional bidders on postoffice lease contracts.

FINANCING CRITICISED

Brown defends contracts made with professional bidders, but says there have been cases where bond issues floated by the lessors have exceeded the fair valuation of the properties.

"The fact seems to be," he says, "that if criticism may properly be leveled at any phase of this transaction it goes to the lessor's financing methods, not to the terms of the contract between the lessor and the government."

Brown mentions specifically the commercial lease at St. Paul as an example where bond issues by lessors exceed the "fair valuation of the physical property exclusive of the lease."

This lease was the hub around which the Congressional controversy resolved last session and is being investigated by the special Senate committee headed by Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, along with the hundreds of other government leases.

COMPREHENSIVE PLAN

In addition to the 198 leases Brown seeks to terminate in the next five years, 103 which do not expire until after 1935 also will be canceled as rapidly as possible.

These 301 leases are regarded as "major leases" and carry rentals above $6000 a year each. All the properties are situated in large cities and include 264 station and branch leases and thirty-seven garage leases.

The 301 buildings are placed in two categories. Seventy-eight station and branch structures and fourteen garage buildings are regarded as suitable for purchase and Brown proposed they be taken over immediately. The rental on these ninety-two properties amounts to $2,145,331 and they have a value of $19,060,998.

SAVING ESTIMATED

Brown estimated these can be purchased for about $21,800,000 and thereby save the government $650,000 a year over the twenty-year period estimated as the average remaining life of the buildings, or about one-third the expenditure necessary to continue paying rent.

Leases on 106 of the remaining 209 buildings to be replaced expire in the next five years and Brown proposes these sites be purchased and new buildings constructed at an estimated cost of $21,340,000.

The appropriations for the five-year program he proposes be spread out as follows: 1931, $10,350,000; 1932, $14,650,000; 1933, $8,750,000; 1934; $4,090,000; 1935, $5,300,000.

MORE MONEY NEEDED

Further appropriations of $30,000,000 will be required, Brown said, after 1935 "completely to shift postoffice stations, branches and garages, from leased to government-owned quarters."

In recommending the program, the Postmaster-General said he is mindful of the President's desire to limit current appropriations to "objects of unquestioned necessity."

"It is my judgment, however," he said, "that the savings which would be realized subsequently from this expenditure, would amply justify the inclusion of the amounts above indicated in your financial program for the current and succeeding fiscal years."

Claim Made for Half-Billion in Patents Suits

ST. PAUL, Sept. 24. (AP)—Litigaton involving about $500,000,000 has bobbed up in Federal District Court here in the suit of Mrs. Katherine Ryan of St. Paul against the Inland Steel Company and the Great Northern Railway.

Mrs. Ryan asks unpaid royalty which she says the defendant companies owe her for two patents for a self-locking railroad bolt.

Besides the two defendants today Mrs. Ryan also has filed suit against many of the country's largest steel companies, including the United States Steel Corporation, Carnegie Steel Company, United State Steel Products Company and others. Her total claims, she said would aggregate about $500,000,000.

Thirty Men Lost in French Storm

LORIENT (France) Sept. 24. (AP) Thirty fishermen are known to have drowned in the great storm which lashed the sea north of France last week. It is feared that at least ten others also have perished.

More than 100 boats have not yet returned to port, but most of them are known to be safe. Forty fishing vessels put to sea again today after making repairs in port.

HUSBAND OF SOPRANO SOLOIST ASKS DIVORCE

DAYTON (O.) Sept. 24. (AP)—Marjorie Squires, soprano soloist for symphony orchestra concerts, was sued for divorce today by Omer G. Squires of Miamisburg, who complained she prefers the stage to married life and she has maintained living quarters separate from those he provided for her.

UTAH BANQUETS FRENCH FLYERS

Salt Lake City Gives Airmen Enthusiastic Welcome

Official Greeting Extended in Mormon Tabernacle

Preparations Concluded for Visit Here Saturday

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 24. (AP) The two French aviators who spanned the Atlantic in the first flight from Paris to New York received the adulation of Salt Lake City and Utah here today.

Greeted at the airport this forenoon by a great throng when their scarlet plane nosed through the haze above the Wasatch range, Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte were escorted this evening through streets banked with thousands of school children waving the French Tri-color and shrilling a welcome, and to the Chamber of Commerce where they were guests of honor at a civic banquet.

The official greeting, voiced by spokesmen for city and State, was included in a program afterward in the Mormon Tabernacle to which the general public was admitted.

Departure of the flyers for Boise and Seattle was fixed by Maj. George Witten, manager of their transcontinental tour at 7 a.m. He said their flight will be direct from Salt Lake City to Boise, where their program calls for lunch at the airport and thence to Seattle, flying over as many cities as possible en route.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR ARRIVAL HERE

The one-day interruption of the schedule of Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte on their national good-will tour will not delay their scheduled arrival at 3 p.m. next Saturday at Los Angeles Municipal Airport, Inglewood, it was stated last night by Col. Richard Barnitz, director of the field.

Barnitz was in telephone communication with Coste's flight manager yesterday morning and was informed that the two pilots will trim their schedule between Denver, and Los Angeles in order to get here on time.

The trans-Atlantic pair were forced to return to Denver Tuesday after they had taken off for Salt Lake City, Utah. The Continental Divide proved too much for the sturdy Breguet sesquiplane when it was headed in a direct line for Salt Lake City instead of over the airmail route across lower ranges.

Free parking space for automobiles and facilities for accommodating a large crowd of spectators for the local landing of the flyers have been arranged at the port, Barnitz announced.

On their arrival at the field the flying Frenchmen will be taken to the home of French Consul Didot and then to the Ambassador Hotel for a banquet at 7 p.m. Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce officials will co-operate with the city's aviation department in sponsoring the dinner.

COMPOSER GRUENBERG DIVORCED IN RENO

RENO, Sept. 24. (AP)—Louis Gruenberg, reputed to be one of the foremost modern composers of classical music, was granted a divorce here today from Irene Gruenberg, to whom he was married in London in 1924. Mental cruelty was the basis of the action.

BANK OF FRANCE MAY LOOSE GOLD

M. Moreau Quits Rather than Dissipate Huge Store

Merchants Lay Troubles to Lack of Circulation

PARIS, Sept. 24. (Exclusive)—The abandonment of the French policy of gold hoarding, which has rendered the Bank of France an apotheosis of the traditional Norman peasant's sock, is believed imminent here as a result of the resignation of Emile Moreau, governor of the bank.

Moreau's resignation has thrown a bombshell in financial circles here. Although the news of the resignation was officially confirmed today, the evening papers refused to touch the story, acting on orders calculated to prevent a crisis in the Paris Bourse.

TO PRIVATE BANK

It was officially announced tonight that M. Moreau will assume the presidency of the Banque de Paris et des Pays Bas, one of the largest and most aggressive private financial organizations in post-war European finance. He succeeds Jules Cambon, present president. M. Moreau will be succeeded as governor of the state financial institution by M. Moret, first assistant governor of the Bank of France.

The chief reason for M. Moreau's action was the hostility of French bankers and certain French interests who assert that he has made the country "gold poor."

The Bank of France occupies, roughly, the same position in France as the Federal Reserve Bank of America, and Moreau, supreme chief of the organization, was virtually the monetary dictator of the country. Under his regime there has been a steady influx of gold, unequaled in the history of the world, into the coffers of the Bank of France—and it has stayed there.

HUGE SUM HELD

The gold holdings of the Bank of France today total 47,477,000,000 francs ($1,777,350,700.) This is 52.5 per cent of the outstanding sight engagements, whereas the French law requires only 35 per cent gold coverage for paper notes. It is believed to be a record in world finance, since it exceeds the United States ratio of gold coverage by a substantial margin.

Despite the protests of a number of leading economists M. Moreau has continued to stow away gold ingots in the vaults of the bank, just as the tight-fisted Norman peasant hoards his pennies in the family sock. In eleven weeks recently the currency reserve increased 3,500,000,000 francs ($140,000,000,) while the currency in circulation decreased.

EVILS OF HOARDING

As a result of this policy France is really a poor country, although it possesses the largest quantity of gold per capita of any nation in the world. The Paris Bourse has been stagnant for months. Business is slow. Installment buying is almost unknown and the payment of grocer's bills by check is an operation almost as tortuous as the flotation of an international loan. Consequently commerce and industry languish and the gold does little good.

Abroad this policy of hoarding up what seems to modern financiers to be a fantastic gold reserve has earned France a great deal of bad will. Other nations charge France with selfishly refusing to put gold into circulation to relieve the general economic depression, while injuring the exchange in other countries.

Mr. Moreau played a large part in the stabilization of the franc and has never been able to forget the critical hours when the bottom almost dropped out of French money for lack of an adequate gold reserve. Now the country has a huge surplus and the more progressive bankers have insisted on a change. Moreau, unable to resist the pressure, has consequently resigned.

PREFERENCE LABOR PLEA PRESENTED

Hoover Urged to Order First Chance for Veterans in Government Building

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—A recommendation that government construction contracts carry a stipulation that preference be given American citizens and former service men in employment of labor has been made to President Hoover by Representative Bacon, Republican, New York.

"It creates great social discontent," he wrote, "when ex-service men and other American citizens are willing to work and have that work refused them because aliens may be obtained at less than the prevailing scale of wages."

In a separate communication to Secretary Mellon, Bacon said he had heard of instances in the Middle West, Pennsylvania and on Long Island where contractors recruited labor from remote points for work on postoffices and veteran hospitals, bringing it to "an already demoralized labor market and leaving the local labor supply in the rather sorry position of spectators."

"Even in the erection of a veterans' bureau hospital," he added, "an ex-service man cannot get a job if the contractor wills that cheap aliens should fill his rolls."

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (Exclusive) Lawrence F. Carroll, Jr., of 1823 North Vine street, Hollywood, receives the entire estate of his father, Lawrence F. All of those arrested today were placed aboard a steamer so they cannot be reached by any conspirators who still may be in the country. The prisoners included Jose Maza and Pablo Rivas.

NEW RAY PEEPS THROUGH STEEL

Gamma of Radium Origin Given Valuable Use

Defects in Metals Can be Photographed Easily

Three Easterners Credited with Devising Method

CHICAGO, Sept. 24. (AP)—Three wise men from the East slipped a new pair of glasses on to the eyes of Father Science today and showed the venerable gentleman how he could peek through steel girders and battleship hulls with all the ease of a small boy gaping through a stereoscope.

The peeking has been made possible, the American Society for Steel Treating was told, by the use of radium's gamma ray — much the same sort of ray that gave the world radio and artificial suntan.

With the use of a bit of radium no larger than a .22-caliber bullet, engineers can put a photographic plate behind the girders of your apartment-house and see if they are sound. Workmen can take pictures of locomotive wheels and determine if all is well within.

The innovation is the work of Robert F. Mehl, superintendent of the division of physical metallurgy in the naval research laboratory, Washington, D. C.; Gilbert E. Doan, assistant professor of metallurgy at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pa.; and Charles S. Barrett, assistant physicist with Dr. Mehl in the naval research laboratory.

Hitherto, the X-ray has been the sole means of such inspection for defects in metals, and there have been three notable disadvantages which the gamma ray of radium has overcome. The X-ray, for example, with equipment generally available, can not penetrate deeper than three and one-half to four inches within reasonable time. Research experts of a large electric company have estimated it would cost $100,000 to develop an X-ray machine capable of penetrating the ten inches reached by the radium gamma ray.

LONG ONE-MAN PARADE STARTED BY DRUMMER

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (AP)—Dressed in the uniform of a continental soldier and beating a drum of revolutionary design, Sergt. Sanford A. Moeller, 53 years of age, veteran of the Spanish-American War, started walking to Boston today where he will be judge of the drum corps of the American Legion at its convention.

Sergt. Moeller plans to beat his drum continuously while marching. He will stop tonight at New Rochelle and continue along the Boston post road, arriving at Boston October 9, next.

He started his march from Madison Square Garden, being given the starting signal by U. J. Herman, an official of the radio world's fair. He wears the continental uniform because of his direct descent from an ancestor who came from England with the pilgrims in 1620.

COURT TO HEAR HITLER TODAY

German Fascist Chief to be Treason Trial Witness

LEIPSIC (Germany) Sept. 24. (AP) Adolph Hitler, head of the German National Socialists (Fascists) party, may get an opportunity tomorrow to express his views and plans regarding Germany's political condition before the court which is trying three Reichswehr lieutenants on charges of high treason in connection with Fascist activities.

Today's session in the trial of Lieutenants Richard Scheringer, Hans Ludien and Hans Friedrich Wendt, proceeded quietly. There was an exciting interlude, however, when Capt. Von Pfeffer, a Fascist, who had been summoned as a witness, failed to appear when his name was called in court. He later was brought in forcibly under police escort.

BLAME PLACED IN NORRIS QUIZ

Grocer's Candidacy Laid to Republican Official

Attorney Tells Committee of Seymour's Activities

Accused Man Denies Any Knowledge of Case

LINCOLN (Neb.) Sept. 24. (AP)—The Senate committee investigating the August Republican primary in Nebraska heard testimony today that Victor Seymour of Lincoln, now assistant vice-chairman of the Republican Senatorial Committee in charge of western headquarters at Denver, engineered the filing of the candidacy of George W. Norris, former Broken Bow groceryman, in opposition to Senator George W. Norris.

The testimony was given by A. Paul Johnson of Broken Bow, an attorney, who previously had told the committee the filing of the former grocer had been on his own volition, and was followed by a statement by Senator Nye of North Dakota, chairman of the committee, that "if the committee can bring it about, certain persons are to be tried for perjury in connection with this hearing."

FEE PAID

Johnson said Seymour paid the $50 filing fee for the former Broken Bow man and added that he believes Seymour mailed a $500 bond which Johnson received and placed in the hands of Norris No. 2, whose filing as a candidate for the Republican Senatorial nomination was subsequently barred by the State Supreme Court on the ground it was made too late.

Howard Freeman, cashier of the First National Bank of Lincoln, however, testified that a check of the records of his bank, where Seymour kept an account, and of the records of the First Trust Company, which is affiliated with the First National, showed no transactions with Seymour on bonds within the last three years.

Seymour himself telegraphed Senator Nye, offering to appear before the committee at Washington any time after the middle of November, and issued a statement in Denver declaring he knows nothing of the "candidacy of the second Norris" and that he can "not imagine why I am being dragged into this."

SENATOR WINS POLL

Miss Esther Elton, formerly employed as a stenographer in Seymour's Lincoln office, told the committee Seymour conducted a "straw vote" financed with money "from the East" to determine the most popular man to campaign for the Republican Senatorial nomination and that the result displeased Seymour because Senator Norris was "high man on the ballot."

Walter Kiechel, primary campaign manager for W. M. Stebbins, State Treasurer, who was defeated by Senator Norris, was questioned regarding disbursements for the Stebbins campaign. Senator Nye asked him if he knew of any bonds changing hands in connection with the primary campaign and he replied he "never saw any bonds."

GAS PERILS OUTLINED TO GOV. YOUNG

Hazards of Methane in Hetch Hetchy Workings Subject of Report

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 24. (AP)—The hazards of methane gas are not appreciated in California, the committee of five appointed by Gov. Young reported to that executive today in a summary of mine fatalities such as occurred recently in the Hetch Hetchy workings where twenty men lost their lives in explosions.

The committee consists of Robert G. Sproul, president of the University of California; Michael Casey, labor union official of San Francisco; D. Harrington of the United States Bureau of Mines, San Francisco; M. C. Sloss, former associate justice of the State Supreme Court, and F. W. Bradley, mining engineer of San Francisco.

The committee was appointed to "ascertain facts on which to base recommendations for future conditions of mines and tunnels," rather than "to assessing responsibility for the past."

The committee stated there should be at least ten competent and qualified persons to look after the safety of the 34,000 men in the mining, tunneling and oil industries to prevent possible gas explosions in the underground workings.

PANTAGES CASE RESTS WITH WEBB

Affidavits Regarding Jury Members to be Handled as Routine Matter

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24. (AP)—Atty.-Gen. Webb received affidavits today from attorneys for Alexander Pantages, purporting to show certain jurors convicting him were intimidated and forced to join others in convicting the millionaire theater man of an attack on a girl. Webb was in his office today for the first time since his return from Los Angeles.

The Attorney-General said he has not yet read the documents and indicated they will be handled as routine as they constitute only one of several hundred cases reaching his office every year for investigation.

Webb said his department has power to disqualify a District Attorney and appoint a deputy to handle prosecution of a new trial in cases where irregularities have been found to exist, but added that various irregularities charged in the cases reaching his offices are usually unfounded.

GRAND ISLAND (Neb.) Sept. 24. (AP)—Grover Cleveland Alexander once a star hurler of the National League, is in jail here pending hearing on eight separate charges, most of which have to deal with asserted violations of the liquor laws.

Refusing to settle after an automobile accident, Alexander drove off but was caught after a six-mile chase.

WAR SABOTAGE CLAIMS FOUGHT

Germany Answers Charges on Damage in America

Proof Involving Government Declared to be Lacking

Argument Presented Before Hague Mixed Tribunal

THE HAGUE, Sept. 24. (AP)—Presenting Germany's case to the mixed tribunal which is adjudicating American claims against Germany for damage caused by sabotage engineered by German agents in the United States before America's entry into the World War, Dr. Von Levinski argued Germany can be held responsible only for acts committed by her agents.

He said it is necessary to establish beyond a doubt Germany's agents actually committed the acts, and there is a break in the chain of evidence linking the sabotage to the German government.

CABLE EXPLAINED

He said a cablegram sent by the Berlin Foreign Office January 26, 1915, to the German military attache in Washington did not order sabotage in America, but only authorized it. He declared the Foreign Office sent the cablegram at the request of the General Staff, but it has been established, Von Levinski declared, this intervention was entirely ineffective because Von Papen, military attache, disregarded the cablegram and did not pass it on to his supporters.

Ambassador Von Bernstorff was strongly opposed to such action because he desired to have peace achieved through mediation of President Wilson, Von Levinski said.

German agents in America destroyed only supplies destined for use by the Allies, he said, but never set fires in American munition factories.

Anthrax germs given to horses intended for use in the Allied armies were harmless to human beings, Von Levinski asserted.

BLACK TOM BLAST

Dr. Tannenburg gave Germany's version of the Black Tom (N. J.) munitions explosion in 1916. He said there were no simultaneous explosions at the Black Tom terminal, but only a fire in one munitions cart, probably caused by spontaneous cobbustion.

He pointed out the American spokesman before the tribunal had contended a German named Kristoff had been the sole perpetrator, although he was employed by Capt. Frederick Hinsch, German secret service agent. Tannenburg insisted Kristoff's "so-called confession" to a detective of the Burns agency was inconsistent with an established fact. According to the confession, Kristoff had placed dynamite on a large steamship loaded with powder. It has been shown, the German representative told the tribunal, that at the time of the explosion there were only barges at the Black Tom terminal, and the first blaze appeared from the inside of a munitions cart.

There is no evidence whatsoever, he declared, connecting Kristoff with the Black Tom disaster or showing that he was employed by the German government. Furthermore, he insisted, there is no proof that Hinsch under the false name of Graendnor, had any connection with Kristoff.

Nuevo Puesto para Nicholas Roosevelt

Roosevelt fue nombrado vicegobernador hace unos cuantos meses, pero no llegó a salir para ir a ocupar su puesto. Ante su nombramiento se levantó toda una tormenta de protestas entre los lideres de la independencia en las islas, y el señor Roosevelt decidió renunciar ayer.

Sucederá en Budapest a J. Butler Wright, ex-subsecretario de Estado, quien será removido al Uruguay, donde dimitió como ministro Leland Harrison.

El presidente Hoover aceptó en estos términos la renuncia de Roosevelt: "Elegí a usted para el puesto de las Filipinas, por estar usted especialmente calificado para desempeñarlo, dados sus conocimientos sobre las condiciones de las islas y su profundo interés por el pueblo filipino; y estimo en lo mucho que vale el espíritu desinteresado que lo ha movido a usted a retirarse.

"He determinado nombrar a usted ministro de los Estados Unidos en Hungría, para que este país beneficie de los servicios de usted en un campo donde ya ha trabajado usted con fruto."

CHICAGO, Septiembre 24.—Los billetes de segunda clase en los ferrocarriles, que fueron abolidos en 1918, cuando el gobierno tomó la administración de éstos, van a volver quizá, según parece indicarlo el anuncio hecho hoy por el Ferrocarril de Santa Fe, de que reducirá los pasajes, durante Noviembre, de Chicago, San Luis y Kansas City a la Costa del Pacífico.

El señor W. J. Black, gerente de tráfico de viajeros, dijo que iba a cobrarse aproximadamente dos centavos por milla de viaje, e indicó que este experimento lleve tal vez a una rebaja permanente en la tarifa de viajes y al establecimiento de pasajes de segunda con opción a camas en los coches de turistas.

La Causa de Pantages Pasa a Manos del Procurador General

SAN FRANCISCO, Septiembre 24. El procurador general Webb ha recibido hoy declaraciones juradas de los defensores de Alejandro Pantages, en las que se hace constar que ciertos jurados se vieron obligados a dar fallo condenatorio en la vista de la causa de Pantages por haber sido intimidados por sus colegas. Webb fue hoy por primera vez a su oficina desde que regresó de Los Angeles.

Manifestó el procurador que todavía no había leído los documentos en cuestión, e indicó que pasarían por los trámites de rutina, pues no forman sino uno de los varios centenares de casos que cada año llegan a su oficina para revisión.

Agregó el señor Webb que su oficina tiene facultades para descalificar a un fiscal y nombrar un teniente que lleve la acusación en nuevo juicio. Esto se hace cuando se descubren verdaderas irregularidades en el procedimiento; pero en muchos casos las que los defensores señalan no están bien fundadas.

Hombre sin País Obligado a Vivir en un Puente

DETROIT, Septiembre 24.—Parecía que William Haughey iba a tener por señas y dirección permanentes "el puente Ambassador". Este individuo pasó en coche el puente yendo al Canadá, y allí le estorbaron el paso los inspectores de inmigración canadienses al declarar él que había nacido en Cuba. Volvió entonces hacia Detroit, y el inspector yanqui, al saber donde había nacido William le dijo que no podía entrar en los Estados Unidos.

Tras andar como lanzadera de un cabo al otro del puente, que cada minuto se le hacía menos deseable como sitio de residencia, William exigió que se resolviera su caso: "No puedo quedarme aquí eternamente", arguyó; "este puente se pone muy frío de noche".

El inspector norteamericano le plantó entonces esta disyuntiva: "O el puente o la cárcel". "Me quedo en el puente", replicó William.

Pero los inspectores se juntaron a estudiar el caso, reglamentos en mano, y anunciaron que, dado que William procedía de padres yanquis, tenía derecho al libre paso. William no se lo hizo repetir. Dio vuelta a su coche, y rodó éste hacia Estados Unidos. "La perspectiva se presentaba bien negra en aquel puente", comentó William después.

Después, se iba a jugar a la guerra con sus muñecas y a disponer las líneas de batalla y dictar la táctica como un pequeño veterano (Afterward she would play war with her dolls and arrange battle lines and tactics like a little veteran). Su padre le refirió también lo relativo al gobierno del país en la gran ciudad blanca de Washington, a los senadores, a los diputados y al mismo presidente. Clara tenía curiosas ideas acerca de esos grandes hombres que regían el país. Creía que el presidente de los Estados Unidos había de ser muy diferente de los demás hombres, y tan grande, tal vez, como la casa de sesiones. Y pensaba que el vicepresidente debía de ser tan grande, al menos, como la escuela (Clara had some queer ideas about these great men that ruled the country. She believed that the President of the United States must be very different from other men, as large as the meeting-house, perhaps. And she thought that the Vice-President must be as big as the schoolhouse, anyway).

The Clark Plan Owns . . .

Allegiance to none but you

An independent institution of trust, pledged to faithfully and diligently do more for you in your climb to economic freedom than you, alone, can do for yourself

The Clark Plan Trust-worthy

THE creation of a $100,200,000 trust fund in which the public shares in profits, is not a light responsibility. It must be free of all entangling alliances. It must be based upon a foundation of duty, and adhere to the spirit of the men who design it.

Therefore, the CLARK PLAN TRUST owns allegiance to none but its participants—those who help build it; in short, to none but you as you combine, with the millions of other dollars being here marshaled together as a powerful constructive force, your own surplus funds—whether in terms of but $10 monthly, or $100,000 in cash.

That is why CLARK PLAN TRUST participants are given FIRST consideration in CLARK PLAN earnings; that is why the Management Board serves without salary; that is why an independent and protecting dual-control has been set up through an unbiased Board of Trustees; that is why that Board, even though it cannot profit from the trust fund as such, is bonded to the State of California; that is why the Management Group has pledged its right of management and compensation with the Trustees, subject to default if it fails in its duty to YOU; that is why we cannot speculate in securities, or claim any kind of profit except those profits actually made.

We Own Allegiance to NONE But YOU!

Where else than through the CLARK PLAN can you find two such groups of men as here listed, committing themselves to the task of so handling your monthly or other surplus funds as to make for you, FIRST, 6% from earned profits, such as custom and tradition fix as normal; SECONDLY, giving you 65% of the net profits above 6%—the one group operating diligently to build you a higher and a sounder income; the other group carefully scrutinizing every act and supervising every placement of trust funds as a double guard against even the error that is human. The management group receives as compensation for its trust estate direction, the remaining 35% of net profits above 6%.

That is a new spirit in finance; a new and broader outlook upon the right of everybody to a share of the money made from their money.

Your rights in the event of death; your rights in the event of unemployment, of unexpected need for immediate cash; your rights in many contingencies—these are further evidence of the allegiance we owe to YOU, and to no one else, nor to custom, nor to even the demand of law which does not ask that we do these things.

An Institution of Trust

These are aspects vital to the average man or woman for whom this institution was originally created, and we are proud of the fact that in the CLARK PLAN there is enough generosity, enough forethought and enough human-ness to take them into consideration.

We face an era of unprecedented prosperity. An epic-like upswing of the cycle of business in every field is unqualifiedly forecast by the most wise of financial prognosticators. Realty, securities, commodities, are on the bargain counter. The creators of the CLARK PLAN are one in the belief that the most splendid opportunity of the century is before them to carry YOU, and many thousands of others, high with them on the tide of that upsweep.

The CLARK PLAN is a dedication of capable men to the business of helping you become a profit-participating individual in that enormous stride forward, and the general progress of America.

We invite you to learn ALL about the CLARK PLAN. We invite conferences with you on the creation of a trust fund for your children; an educational or retirement or travel fund; we invite you to subject the CLARK PLAN to your most thorough and exhaustive scrutiny, or that of your banker, broker, or attorney. We have no secrets of any kind; anything you may wish to know about the CLARK PLAN we will be glad to tell you.

Dr. Robert Richards to Take Charge of Millionaire

All Family Urges Court to Approve Selection

Col. Barnard Nominated for Estate Manager

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 24.—(Exclusive)—All persons concerned in the welfare of Stanley McCormick today joined forces here in petitioning the Superior Court to approve the appointment of Dr. Robert Richards as resident physician on the incompetent multimillionaire's Montecito estate at a salary of $30,000 a year.

The petition was filed by McCormick's court-appointed medical board, consisting of the nominee himself, Dr. Milton D. Lennon and Dr. William Boardman, and carries the signatures also of Harold McCormick, the incompetent's brother, Anita McCormick Blaine, his sister, and Mrs. Katherine Dexter McCormick, his wife, constituting the official board of guardians.

JOB FOR BARNARD

The petitioners ask further for approval of the appointment of Col. Joseph Barnard, retired army officer, as secretary of the medical board and general business manager of the estate at a salary of $20,000 a year. Approval of both appointments is requested as of August 1, last.

Superior Judges Dehy and Crowe, before whom the petition will come up tomorrow, indicated tonight that they are favorably impressed by the board's choices. Judge Dehy said unofficially the court will not oppose the requests.

TAKES KEMPF'S POST

Dr. Richards, of the department of psychiatry at University of California, will fill the position made vacant some months ago by the discharge of Dr. E. J. Kempf, psychoanalyst, who had been employed at a salary of $120,000 a year and who was the central figure in the long court battle involving McCormick's guardianship and administration of his $50,000,000 estate last year.

It was Mrs. McCormick's objection to the employment of Dr. Kempf that precipitated the litigation. The suit is said to have cost more than $150,000 in attorney's fees and court costs.

CANNON RADIOS HE WILL FIGHT

Bishop Protests Legality of "Hurried Action"

Churchman Reveals Efforts to Learn Charges

Elders Refuse to Grant Him Right to Confer

S. S. AMERICAN LEGION AT SEA, Sept. 24. (AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Church, South, today made a statement to the Associated Press concerning charges recently made by clergymen regarding his activities, political and otherwise, the first word received from the southern bishop since his departure, some weeks ahead of schedule, from Brazil. The statement follows:

"September 8, without previous intimations, I received by cable from Washington, 'Acting under Paragraph 252, discipline, we give you notice that we are inquiring into your case. [Signed] Prettyman, Mastin, Harrell, Martin.'

"Paragraph 252 says, 'Three traveling elders, after notice to a bishop, shall carefully inquire into his case if they believe an investigation necessary and shall report the matter then to another bishop.'

DEFENSE PLANNED

"I cabled immediately: 'I desire to answer all charges. My absence involves a great disadvantage. I insist upon the disciplinary provision that three elders carefully inquire after notifying the bishop clearly implies conferring with the bishop before asking an investigation.

"'It is impossible for me to reach Washington before October 2. The Brazilians insisted that I remain for annual conferences and I had promised to deliver temperance addresses, thus arriving at Washington November 25, but will be at Washington on whatever date is specified after October 2.

"'I desire to know the nature of the accusations.'

PLEA REFUSED

"They (the three elders) cabled refusing to grant me the right to confer and declining to express an opinion up to the date of my leaving Brazil.

"I immediately cabled a friend to see the elders, stating that under the circumstances, I considered it improper for me to continue to participate in the Brazilian conference, and that I was sailing on the first steamer, arriving October 1. I insisted that I would contest the legality of the procedure if a request for an investigation was presented to Bishop Ainsworth before the elders had heard argument justifying a conference with me beforehand and also again requesting to know the nature of the charges.

REQUESTS DENIED

"This friend cables me that both requests were denied. I received a report by ship's wireless on the 21st inst. that the complaints had been forwarded to Bishop Ainsworth without the elders awaiting my arrival for a conference with me.

"This gives you all of the information that I have received and all action taken by me.

"As indicated, I shall protest the legality of the hurried, premature action taken before my arrival, making impossible a conference with me which the disciplinary provision 'to carefully inquire' necessarily includes.

"Until I see the official text of the complaints, I shall enter into no discussion, newspaper or otherwise, concerning any matters pertaining thereto.

[Signed]

"JAMES CANNON, Jr."

ELDERS ANNOUNCE FILING OF NEW CHARGES

RICHMOND (Va.) Sept. 24. (AP)—The filing of new charges against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., was announced here Saturday by four traveling elders of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who submitted the accusations to Bishop William N. Ainsworth of Birmingham, Ala.

Dr. Costen J. Harrell of Richmond, made public the announcement, which was signed by himself, Dr. J. T. Mastin, also of Richmond; Dr. I. P. Martin of Abingdon, Va., and Dr. Forrest J. Prettyman of Baltimore.

They refused to make known the nature of the new charges, which have also been withheld by Bishop Ainsworth. The Baltimore Sun, in a story published Sunday morning, said the accusations included charges additional to the stock speculation and political activity allegations which Bishop Cannon faced and of which he was acquitted last May in Dallas.

Whatever the nature of the charges, the rules of the Southern Methodist Church make an investigation mandatory. Bishop Ainsworth is required to call a committee of twelve who will inquire into the matter, and, if eight vote for a trial, Bishop Cannon will be suspended and his trial be held at the next general conference in 1934.

Bay City Pumps Angeleno-Made

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24. (Exclusive)—A ruling by Timothy A. Reardon, head of the Board of Public Works, disclosed today that a Los Angeles manufacturing company had been granted the contract for water pumps at a cost of $1000 each, but protests which were filed prior to the sealing of the contract resulted in a reversal in favor of San Francisco-made pumps. Accordingly, the contract was awarded to two San Francisco companies and when the pumps were delivered it was discovered they had been made in Los Angeles, after all.

Demand was made by Reardon upon the City Auditor today that the pumps, delivered, be not paid for. The Los Angeles bid, it developed, was $190 per pump less than the San Francisco bid.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS (W. Va.) Sept. 24. (Exclusive)—Johnny Abergast, a caddie at the Green Brier golf course, discovered a fourteen-inch rainbow trout flopping about in the grass near the lake at the fifteenth hole.

He picked up the fish, which had an abnormally large stomach, and was taking it home when Special Officer Ramsey spied him and placed him under arrest for fishing out of season. Abergast explained where he had found the trout, and Ramsey cut the fish open to discover that the bulge was caused by a brand new golf ball which the fish had swallowed.

Boulder Canyon Mine Locations Under Attack

PHOENIX, Sept. 24. (AP)—Stephen D. Pool, deputy register of the Federal land office in Phoenix, said today the Federal government is contesting 200 mining locations at the Boulder Canyon reservoir site.

In 123 of the contests, he said, the government is charging that the locations are of nonmineral character; that minerals in sufficient quantities have not been discovered within the limits of the claims to make them valid discoveries, or that they have been abandoned.

Notices of the contests will be mailed to the claimants within a few days, he said.

Flying Business Declared Hurt by Practice

The manufacturers passed resolutions condemning the stunt flying of airplanes "except as is necessary for the training of students and for scientific research by airplane manufacturers."

The step was declared necessary because "the aircraft industry in order to sell its products must first convince the public that air transportation is a business and not a circus or dangerous novelty and because casualties during air races and individual stunts do incalculable harm to the industry."

Meeting Called for Action on Hill Leveling

Action on the prosopal to raze Bunker Hill will be brought nearer as a result of a call issued last night for a meeting of all property owners in the hill area next Tuesday in Music Art Hall. The call was issued by twenty of the property owners. The Bunker Hill project is deemed essential to the expansion of the downtown business district, and to the opening of necessary major traffic arteries to the east and north.

The property owners at Tuesday's mass meeting will be made conversant with the details of the undertaking, but are not expected to take a definite stand in advance of completion of a survey started several weeks ago on funds provided by the Los Angeles City Council, the County Board of Supervisors and individual citizens. It is contended that the Bunker Hill area as it now stands is not suited to business, dwelling or industrial purposes.

"WILDCAT" BUS DRIVE OPENS

Arrest Discloses New Utilities Board Move; Case Fifth of Kind Within Few Days

Another drive on wildcat intrastate and interstate bus-line operators, said to be operating without permits, insurance or funds, has been initiated by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation of Los Angeles, it was revealed yesterday with the arrest of George H. McKean by Inspector Harry F. assett and A. S. Groocox.

McKean was arraigned yesterday afternoon and pleaded not guilty before Municipal Judge Curtis. He asked a hearing by the court October 22, next, and was released on $50 bail. He is charged with having advertised that he was going to New York and had room for five passengers who would pay their own expense.

According to Inspectors Bassett and Groocox, McKean charged his passengers $30 each for the trip. He was compelled to return their money and is charged with violation of Section 2, Ordinance 60020, requiring permits for use of city streets for such service.

Arrest of McKean makes the fifth operator so charged within the last few days, according to Bassett, who states that "wildcatters," who were stamped out for a considerable period after the last drive made against them, are bobbing up again with advertisements stating they "have room" for so many passengers to various destinations.

Of three arrested, one hadn't a cent to pay expenses of a trip to San Francisco with a 1922 touring car with worn-out tires, according to Bassett. Another defendant had but 7 cents and an ancient touring car for a trip to Houston. Another had but 12 cents and a fourth man who advertised for passengers had but 70 cents for expenses.

Before permits are granted by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation for such service the operator is compelled to put up a bond to show that he is able to carry passengers through, and that he is insured in every way and able to maintain the service, Chief Inspector Gunn declared.

Salinas Child Robbers to Escape Arrest Until Detention Home Ready

SALINAS, Sept. 24. (AP)—While police waited patiently for the completion of a detention home now under construction, a band of ten boy robbers continued their lives as usual tonight.

Police said rather than arrest the youngsters, all between the ages of 10 and 13, and put them in jail with hardened criminals, they would wait until the new detention home is completed next week.

But while police tried to keep them under surveillance, the youthful robbers broke into the garage of William Alexander and stole ammunition and a pair of rubber boots, authorities said.

New Endurance Flight Trial to be Made Today

With the infection in the hand of Doc Howard, radio operator, reported by a physician as curbed, preparations were being made last night at Grand Central Air Terminal for the second take-off of Loren Mendell, Pete Reinhart and Howard this morning in an attempt to set a new air-endurance record.

Howard's hand was burned by a rope during an attempted refueling last Sunday after the endurance monoplane Pride of Hollywood had gone aloft on the first try at a 1000-hour goal. It was forced down when refueling contacts failed to deliver enough gasoline.

C. H. Holdson and Bud Hussey, crew of the refueling ship, stated that the Buhl Airsedan in which Mendell and Reinhart set a former world's-endurance mark over Culver City, will be used as the contact ship instead of the Javelin monoplane.

MEXICAN FLOOD EBBS TO DRIBBLE

Only 406 Admitted During August, Says Report

Immigration from South Cut Down 90 Per Cent

"Exclusion Issue" Extinct, Department Holds

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (Exclusive)—The administration's efforts to hold down Mexican immigration were continued effectively during August.

Statistics issued today by the State Department show that during that month immigration visas were issued to only 406 Mexicans, not one of whom was of the common labor type so objectionable to the political restrictionists on Capitol Hill, who for the past several years have been using the so-called "Mexican problem" as an issue in their campaigns for re-election.

FLOOD NOW DRIBBLE

The figure for August, added to Mexican visas issued during the preceding five months, means that 2774 Mexicans have entered the United States legally during the past six months. In other words, Mexicans are now coming into the country at the rate of 5548 per year as compared with an annual average rate of 56,747 for the last five fiscal years, 1925 to 1929.

This is a reduction of 90.2 per cent since the State Department set out eighteen months ago to head off exclusion legislation regarded as a serious threat to our friendly diplomatic and trade relations with the Mexican republic.

For July of this year the reduction in the flow of Mexican immigation was even greater, visas being issued that month to only 324 natives of the country below the Rio Grande. This July figure was a reduction of 6259 from the same month in the 1927-28 fiscal period, and the August figure of 406 was 5491 under that for the corresponding month in the year before the State Department began its tightening-up process.

THUNDER STOLEN

The State Department takes the position that there is nothing in the Mexican question further to agitate any member of Congress, no matter how hard up he may be for an issue in some district or State remote from the border and from a clear conception of the matter.

"The immigration of Mexicans," declares the department statement, "has been reduced so drastically during the past eighteen months that it is no longer a problem. This result has been accomplished through strict law enforcement measures put into effect by government officials. The situation cannot be described as due merely to economic causes, as has been sometimes asserted, since the actual and potential demand for visas on the part of Mexicans has not diminished. Visas are how being refused to the large majority of such applicants under statutes covering aliens likely to become public charges, contract laborers, illiterates, and physical and mental defectives.

TO KEEP IT UP

"Furthermore, proper enforcement of existing immigration laws can and will be maintained in the future, in Mexico as in other countries, so as to prevent effectively the recurrence of conditions existing a few years ago when the recorded admission of Mexican laborers was very high."

This last was in answer to the charges of exclusionists in Congress that the administrative branch cannot be depended upon to keep on with the stricter policies, and that a formal act of Congress is necessary to handle the Mexican situation.

NO LABORERS

According to the State Department figures August was the third consecutive month in which no Mexican common laborer without previous residence in the United States was allowed to come in as an immigrant.

Analysis of the August statistics shows that only ninety Mexicans or 22.2 per cent of the total for the month represented "new immigration of a character that would be stopped at the border by the imposition of a quota act, such as was fought over for months in Congress at the last session. The bulk—77.8 per cent—were returning residents, students, business men, pleasure travelers and other types which would not be affected by quota restriction or immigration exclusion.

Arizona's Quota of Congressmen Rests on Ruling

PHOENIX, Sept. 24. (AP)—Joseph A. Hill, assistant director of the census in Washington, has advised Senator Ashurst Arizona's chances for another Representative in Congress depend largely on whether Indians on reservations are to be included in the reapportionment figures.

Mr. Hill said the Indian question has been submitted to the Department of Justice, for an interpretation of a law enacted in 1924 giving Indians citizenship, as compared to the constitutional provision which excludes Indians who are not taxed. If the Indians are included, Mr. Hill said, there appears little doubt Arizona will receive another Representative.

HIGH COURT SUSTAINS LAWYER'S SUSPENSION

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24. (AP) The State Supreme Court today sustained a recommendation of the State Bar Association urging suspension of Llewellyn F. Marsh, Los Angeles attorney. Several Los Angeles women asserted Marsh accepted their fees and then either failed to file papers or failed to appear in court. A complaint resulted in an investigation by the association and a recommendation for disbarment. Marsh asserted the accusation was not supported by the evidence, termed the punishment too severe and asserted such suspension was contrary to law.

INQUIRIES IN RAIL KILLING CASE CLOSE

Body of Slain President of Maryland Line Borne to Home for Last Rites

BALTIMORE, Sept. 24. (AP)—With official investigations at an end, the body of Maxwell C. Byers, president of the Western Maryland Railway, slain yesterday in his locked office by Dudley G. Gray, the traffic vice-president, who then took his own life, was borne on a special train tonight to his old home at Point Pleasant, W. Va., where the funeral will be conducted tomorrow.

Gray's body is to leave in a private car for Columbus, O., where his funeral will take place Friday.

Associates of the railroad president and Gray expressed the opinion the vice-president had permitted business disagreements to pry on his mind. One of the major officials of the company, who declined to permit use of his name, revealed that Byers frequently of late had overruled suggestions in the traffic department advanced by Gray, its chief.

SEA PACT WITH CANADA URGED

United States Expected to Make Proposal

Enforcement of Prohibition Would be Aided

Ship's Seizure Raises Issue of Coast Rules

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—A proposal for mutual American-Canadian agreement, to strengthen enforcement of prohibition along the seaboards and at the same time eliminate menaces to navigation, may be made shortly by the State Department to the Ottawa government.

Brought prominently to the fore by the Canadian government's protests recently against the seizure within the twelve-mile rum-smuggling treaty limit of the Canadian vessel Fire Light for running without lights, the whole question of coastal navigation may become the subject of diplomatic conversations between the two governments.

INCIDENT CLOSED

While department officials consider the American government's acknowledgement of Canada's protest closed the incident of the Fire Light, it is felt here that some steps should be taken to protect shipping against possible collisions near the coasts with vessels running without lights, whether carrying rum or other commodities.

The Canadian protest was not made against the seizure of the vessel, since the boat was later released. The Ottawa government did stress, however, its feeling that the American action in seizing the Canadian vessel for violation of a domestic American navigation law under the terms of an antirum-smuggling treaty constituted a breach of principle.

Coast Guard officials have already discussed the question with legal experts of the State Department and have suggested that steps be taken to protect navigation along the coasts.

One of the principal difficulties which has confronted the Coast Guard in the enforcement of prohibition is that many rum-runners ply the coasts without lights and it is believed by Coast Guard officials that an agreement under which a nation would refuse to support the master of a vessel running without lights, whether carrying rum or not, would discourage the practice and facilitate the work of enforcement along the coasts.

DUKE'S DAUGHTER WEDS

LONDON, Sept. 24. (AP) — Announcement was made today of the marriage of Lady Mary Pelham Clinton Hope, youngest daughter of the Duke of Newcastle, to Charles Kenneth Horne.

'MAN WITHOUT COUNTRY' TIRES OF LIFE ON BRIDGE

DETROIT, Sept. 24. (AP)—For a time it looked as though William Haughey's permanent address would be the Ambassador bridge.

William drove across the bridge to the Canadian side, and was turned back by immigration inspectors when he told them he was born in Cuba. He returned to the Detroit side.

"You can't enter the United States," said the inspector when William told his birthplace.

After several shuttles back and forth between inspectors, with the bridge each minute becoming a less desirable place for residence, William demanded action.

I can't stay here all the time," he wailed. "It gets cold on this bridge at night."

The American inspector held out an alternative. Jail, he said, was the next best place.

"I'll stay on the bridge," William decided.

Then the inspectors went into a huddle, produced rule books, studied them, and announced that William, having been born of American parents, had rights of free passage. William speedily trundled his car into the United States.

"It sure looked lonely up on that bridge," he said.

RAILWAYS PLAN LOWERED FARE

Move to Win Back Passenger Business Started

Santa Fe Continues Rates from East Here

Second Class, Abolished in War Time, Revived

CHICAGO, Sept. 24. (Exclusive)—Another movement toward lower passenger fares and faster service by American railways appeared in the offing today. In fact, there are some indications that second-class passenger fares, which were abolished under government war-time control of the railroads in 1918, may be permanently restored.

Recently many of the railroads have been conducting numerous low-fare excursions to offset growing competition from the bus lines. Such excursions apparently have proved so popular that railroad officials have about concluded that cheaper permanent fares will restore their passenger traffic, which has constantly dwindled in the last few years.

The Santa Fe started the ball rolling today by announcing that low-rate coach fares will be continued next month between Chicago and Middle West points and California.

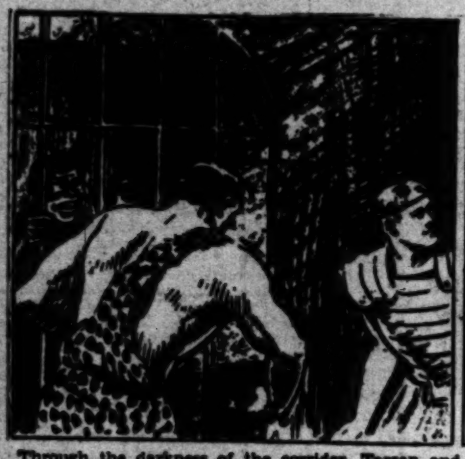
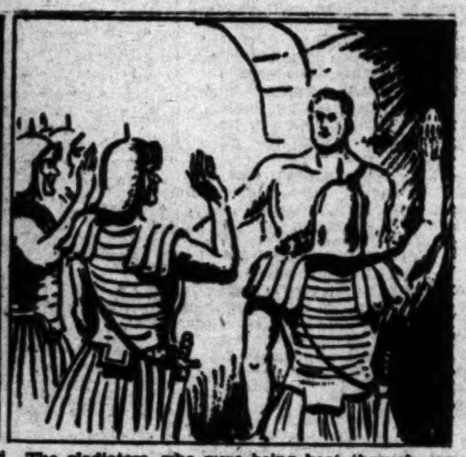
TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



Through the darkness of the corridor, Tarzan and Praeclarus crept from cell to cell, freeing the prisoners. Lukedi, Mpingu and Ogonyo were among those they liberated. They had almost given up hope when they came upon Metellus and Hasta in a cell close to the arena.



The gladiators, who were being kept through some whim of Caesar that they did not understand, were already inflamed in anger against the Emperor. Readily they pledged themselves to follow Tarzan wherever he might lead. "Few of us will come out alive," said the ape-man.

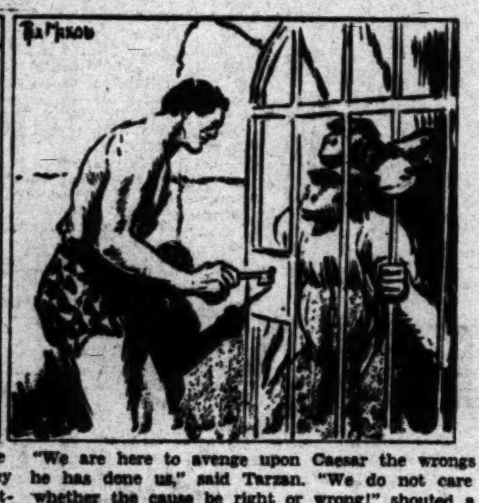
He gathered all of the liberated prisoners in the large room reserved for the contestants before they were ushered into the arena. There were the patrician political prisoners, the professional gladiators, the enemy captives, criminals, and blacks from the outer villages.



"We are here to avenge upon Caesar the wrongs he has done us," said Tarzan. "We do not care whether the cause be right or wrong!" shouted a gladiator. "Lead on!" "First I must liberate the rest of my friends," said Tarzan. His great apes were waiting for him.

CELOTEX PROGRAM RATIFIED

Plans for Refinancing and Reorganization Get Stockholder Sanction

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Stockholders of Celotex Company at a special meeting today approved the proposed refinancing and reorganization program which includes provision of a revolving credit, decreasing the number of directors of the board on which White, Weld & Co. and associates will be represented, and the setting up of a finance committee to have supervision of the company's finances.

Establishment of a five-year voting trust and elimination of stockholders' pre-emptive rights to subscribe to additional stock were also approved, together with the approval of the offering of approximately 55,302 shares of common stock pro rata to stockholders at a subscription price of $10 a share to be underwritten by White, Weld & Co. and associates at $9 a share.

Associates of White, Weld & Co. in the underwriting of the proposed additional issue of common stock were listed as Reed of Los Angeles, Adler & Co., Marence Corporation, Harry S. Covington and Rirsch, Lilienthal & Co.

The stockholders also unanimously approved the granting to White, Weld & Co. and associates of five-year options to purchase 100,000 shares of common stock or voting trust certificates therefor at $15 a share. Of this total 25,000 shares or voting trust certificates are to be reserved for options of the management of the company and such options are to be distributed within three years.

Bandini Board Votes Dividend

Directors of Bandini Petroleum Company declared yesterday a dividend of 10 cents a share, payable November 20, to stockholders of record, October 30, next, placing the issue on an annual dividend basis of $1.20 a share. Dividends were suspended in January, 1929.

Directors also intimated the probability of increasing the rate in the near future should the current rate of earnings continue. The company has a slurplus of approximately $2,500,000. It is understood that installation of a new accounting system has been completed and that auditors have prepared the necessary statements to accompany application for listing on the New York Curb Exchange. Arrangements are being made for the printing of new certificates and the appointing of a registrar in New York in accordance with the eastern listing requirements, it was stated.

Local Trade in Slight Upturn

Improvement in the business of food-supply houses and increased activity on the part of furniture manufacturers and wholesalers of clothing, especially women's wear, are the highlights of the weekly summary of business conditions in Los Angeles issued yesterday by the Bradstreet Company. While sales are still below a year ago, the improvement is noticeable after the quiet July and August business, the report stated.

The real estate market is very quiet, and while prices for building materials are lower than in years, there is a better activity in this line compared with former years. The automobile trade still reports very cautious buying on the part of the public with sales of the higher-priced cars far behind last year's volume, according to the summary.

UNION HOLDS LONG PURSE

Spring Financing, Turns Out as Long-Headed Move by Management; Reserves Swelled for Emergency

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Current conditions in the oil business are the best answer to the financing of the Union Oil Company in March of this year. Various and mysterious reasons were advanced at the time to explain the sale of the $15,000,000 5 per cent debentures, but it now appears the Union Oil management must be given credit for sound business acumen.

Through this smart piece of financing when money was cheap and the stock market was rising, the Union entered an uncertain year with a well-filled long purse. It is true that money rates have remained at low levels since that time, but the combination of cheap money and a boom in stocks was only available for a short time in the early months of the year.

PREPARED FOR WORST

In replenishing its purse when it did, the Union placed itself in a position to meet any emergency that developed. It is doubtful if the company entertained any intention of using the money for the purchase of new properties, but was more interested in piling up cheap dollars against a time of need.

As it has turned out, the company has probably drawn on its reserve cash resources to some extent to meet the gasoline war emergency. The greater portion, however, has undoubtedly been employed in the company's business and in outside investments at returns on the capital to approximately offset the cost of the financing. The loan cost the company slightly more than 5 per cent.

After receiving the proceeds from the debentures, the company entered the second quarter of the year with current assets of approximately $81,000,000. The ravages of the gasoline war will show up in the report for the third quarter, but unquestionably the Union statement will disclose a cash and current position that few in the industry will equal.

STANDARD ENTRENCHED

Of the Pacific Coast companies, the Standard Oil is also well fortified with cash resources, although the exact status is unknown because this company is one of the few not issuing quarterly reports to stockholders. At the end of 1929, the Standard Oil Company of California reported cash and marketable securities of approximately $27,000,000 and current assets of more than $114,000,000.

This position has probably been reduced since that time by troubles in the industry, but it would take a depression of extraordinary severity to seriously impair this company's liquid status.

In contrast with these two is the Shell Union, which recently passed its common dividend. The Shell liberally increased its funded indebtedness to finance expansion in marketing and refining facilities, and when the time came when cash reserves counted, the company was unable to turn in any direction to meet the emergency. There was nothing else to do but pass the cash payments on the common.

Lipman Due to Start New Lap in Bank Career

J. C. Lipman, vice-president, Union Bank and Trust Company of Los Angeles, today will complete a quarter of a century in the banking business on the Pacific Coast. He began his career as a messenger for the Citizens' National Bank in San Francisco September 25, 1905.

When the Citizens' National of San Francisco was merged with Bank of Italy five years later, Mr. Lipman was made paying teller and later transferred to the head office. In 1913 he was sent to Los Angeles as assistant cashier of the first branch to be opened, being recalled to San Francisco in 1917 after which he filled a number of important positions and finally became assistant secretary of the Bank of Italy.

In 1920 Mr. Lipman returned to Los Angeles to become vice-president of Union Bank and Trust Company and later was also elected a vice-president of the Union Company. He was graduated from the American Institute of Banking and was a member of one of its earliest boards of governors of San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Production of Steel Ingots in Slight Pick-up

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Steel ingot production in the week ended last Monday is estimated at a shade over 60 per cent, as against a fraction under 58 per cent in the preceding week and 56 per cent two weeks previous. The principal improvement has been among the smaller independents, which did little during July and August, but which have been showing an upward tendency in the past two weeks.

For the United States Steel Corporation, the rate for the past week is placed at about 66 per cent, against a shade under 65 per cent in the preceding week and around 63 per cent two weeks ago, while the independents are estimated at a fraction over 56 per cent, against slightly better than 52 per cent in the previous week and under 51 per cent two weeks ago.

At this time last year there was a drop of 2 1-2 per cent in the steel corporation's rate of 88 per cent and the independents were off 2 per cent at 79 per cent, with the average down a fraction over 2 per cent to nearly 83 per cent.

Custom Plant Pares Copper

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (AP)—One custom smelter was reported today to be selling copper for domestic delivery at 10 1-4 cents delivered, a reduction of one-quarter of a cent from the price that has prevailed for some time.

Tonnage sold at that figure, however, was said to have been small. It was said three other custom smelters were willing to sell at 10 1-4 cents, either on their own account or that of others. Producers, meanwhile, remained at 10½ cents a pound delivered, and there was no change in the export price of 10.80 cents c.i.f. European base points.

FUNDS HELD AMPLE FOR CROP NEEDS

Reserve Board Survey Finds Units of System Well Supplied

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board announced today the twelve Federal Reserve banks of the country are ready and able to extend ample credit facilities for financing the marketing of the agricultural crops in an orderly manner.

The statement was made after a preliminary conference of the Federal Reserve Board with the governors and chairmen of the twelve Federal Reserve banks at which they reviewed the agricultural general economic and credit situation throughout the country.

The board said it was "assured and satisfied that in each of the twelve Federal Reserve districts ample credit facilities are available for financing the marketing of crops and that such facilities are being provided by the banks and other agencies concerned in the orderly marketing of agricultural commodities."

The statement said it was the view of the conference the extension of credit to support the orderly marketing of crops, at all times an important function of the Federal Reserve banks, was of special importance now.

The board said to accomplish that end the Federal Reserve banks would continue their efforts to acquaint their communities with the facilities of the system and the disposition of the management of the banks to help meet the problems connected with the marketing of the crops.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (AP)—Cotton prices were steady early today owing to less pressure of southern selling and continued buying by domestic and foreign spinners against their immediate and more distant requirements.

Subsequently, however, the market again reacted owing to increased local and Wall-street selling on the weakness in the stock and grain markets as well as further declines in some of the other commodities. New December advanced early to 10.87, later reacting to 10.75, and during the middle of the afternoon the market was barely steady with only moderate changes from the previous closing levels.

RESERVE BANK PROFITS OFF

Plethora of Money in Vaults of Member Units in System Brings Slump in Net

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Federal Reserve banks, which have shown big earnings in prosperous years, have hardly broken even the last six months.

The Federal Reserve banks of San Francisco, Kansas City, Richmond and Boston did not earn their dividends. They were forced to make up the dividend by digging into surplus. The Kansas City bank not only did not earn its dividend but suffered an operating deficit.

Why? The answer lies largely in the fact that while the reserve banks have plenty of money to lend, the member banks are full of money, too, and need no help just now.

It requires at least $1,000,000,000 of Federal Reserve credit outstanding at all times to permit the banks to earn their dividend requirements. Today the volume of reserve credit outstanding is much less than this amount.

In prosperous years, reserve banks, like individuals, must prepare for the lean ones. There is much merit to the law's provision of a 100 per cent surplus for all Federal Reserve banks before any earnings are returned to the Federal government.

A large bank surplus is a very wise provision of Federal Reserve policy.

Thomas F. Wallace, president of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, doesn't think much of the "riotous saving" comment of William Trufant Foster, of the Pollak Foundation for Economic Research, of Boston. Mr. Foster said "riotous saving" was the cause of crippled retail sales, dropping purchasing power and prolonged unemployment.

"A very interesting theory, but based on a fallacy," says Mr. Wallace. "The basic structure of business is savings. Business cannot get credit unless it has some cash, and a large part of this cash is furnished by the institutions which collect the savings of thousands and put them into one mobile mass; while Mr. Foster starts with the premise that saving means withdrawing capital from industry."

Mr. Wallace said that if Mr. Foster's view was carried to its logical conclusion, it would really mean that a man going to business from his home ought to change his suit at every block, to increase trade for somebody.

Mr. Wallace believes the right course for the average man today, to assist in an economic revival, is to bank the money not needed for necessities.

When some one suggested that Calvin Coolidge had championed the Foster theory in one of his recent writings, Mr. Wallace observed that Mr. Coolidge felt "that conditions could be aggravated by an unwise cautiousness and he urged that people buy necessities so far as they could and give employment now if they had work that needed to be done."

To this Mr. Wallace heartily agreed.

UNIVERSAL OIL OMITS DIVIDEND

Action to Conserve Cash Taken as Curtailment Lowers Income

Universal Consolidated Oil Company directors yesterday afternoon voted to pass the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents on the capital stock. In commenting on this action J. A. Talbot, president, stated:

"The company earned $237,357.55 after all charges for the six months ended June 30, last, equal to 66 cents per share on the 358,103 shares outstanding at the end of the period.

"The directors felt it advisable to conserve cash at this time as a result of materially reduced income brought about by curtailment of the company's production in accordance with the California curtailment program, and in consequence of the increased expenditures that will be necessary on the new wells now in progress.

"Universal has just entered Kettleman Hills and has taken over eighty acres in Section 36. This property is near the Whelpley well, which is making 2400 barrels of oil and 65,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. Universal's first well will be started immediately.

"The company has eighty-eight producing wells shut down, including a number of wells at Lost Hills, where a deep test is drilling at 2500 feet on fee property owned by Universal. The company's first well at Potrero, recently completed, is considered the best in that field, and is producing 400 barrels per day of 42-deg. gravity oil."

STOCKS SLUMP IN BEAR DRIVE

Prices Beaten Down to Low of August 12

Day's Sales Total Heaviest Since June 23

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (AP)—The stock market barely had time to draw its breath today after Tuesday's technical recovery when it plunged into a fresh and pronounced decline. Although short covering came to the rescue late, eating substantially into the extreme losses of 3 to 10 points, the close was 1 to 6 points net lower.

So heavy was the selling during the afternoon the turnover was pushed to 3,442,000 shares, the largest volume since June 23, when it aggregated 3,836,000 shares. Rallies were feeble and only the final spurt was able to accomplish much.

The break appeared suddenly around noon after the market had been making some headway with the aid of better reports from the steel industry, whose operating ratio was said to have increased 3 per cent the past week. A collapse in wheat, and an announcement that an extra or increased dividend by American Can need not be expected, plunged speculative sentiment into a fit of bearishness and brought out vigorous selling throughout the list. United States Steel, American Can, Westinghouse, Radio, Anaconda, American Telephone, Atchison and others, together with United Aircraft and Vanadium, went skidding and several—among them Steel common—dropped to new lows for the reaction before important support was uncovered.

BEARS DOUBTFUL

Professional stock traders, however, refused to be encouraged by the steel report, finding the renewed outburst of selling in wheat, a reduction in copper to 10 1-4 cents by a few custom smelters and a smaller than seasonal gain in freight-car loadings sufficient excuse to resume liquidation. In addition, the street was crowded with rumors.

The rally in wheat proved to be the cushion against which the market finally bounced. When fractional net advances were posted on that grain stock prices turned up and although there was another flurry of selling thereafter, covering became more active in the last ten minutes. United States Steel, which had been down to 158 1-4, closed at 161 1-4, off 1 1-8. American Can's

THE INVESTOR'S DILEMMA

WEBSTER defines "dilemma" as "a perplexing predicament." Yet nearly every individual investor faces the following dilemma. If he decides to avoid risk through broad diversification of investments, he finds himself involved in a hopeless maze of troublesome details, inheritance tax difficulties and expensive odd-lot charges, etc. And on the other hand, if he concentrates his funds in one or two types of securities he overlooks a fundamental investment safeguard. Massachusetts Investors Trust, representing ownership in 140 strong dividend-paying common stocks through a single security, offers a practical solution to the problem. Countless troublesome details are avoided, and inheritance tax problems are solved. M.I.T. is subject to inheritance taxes in the home state only, whereas, if an individual investor owned the stocks back of M.I.T., he might be liable to inheritance taxes in 20 or more states.

Buying Dollars for 30 Cents

"THERE is now a golden opportunity for every man who has eyes to see it. Dollars are now being sold for 30 cents. Practically every security in the United States is now being sold at less than its value."

So stated a leading financial journal recently in an article which pointed out the tremendous wealth and resources of the United States and its certain future progress and prosperity despite temporary periods of depression.

Nowhere is today's investment opportunity more clearly marked than in the field of tax-free bonds. We are offering Los Angeles County District issues—with principal and interest collected with and as a part of regular County taxes—priced to yield 5⅓% to 6% completely tax free.

We believe this situation will not long continue and suggest your investigation of these offerings at current levels. Detailed circulars gladly furnished on request.

4-point loss was reduced to a similar amount and Westinghouse, off 7 points at the bottom, regained all but 3 points of the drop. Nevertheless, the averages based on final prices closed at 159.7, the lowest since August 12. The composite decline was 2.6 points.

RUMOR SPIKED

One report that found ready circulation said Federal Reserve member banks were liquidating security loans at the suggestion of important circles, but this was quickly and authoritatively denied. Rumor also had it that an economic conference was to be called in Washington to consider the general economic situation.

Vanadium Steel was heavily liquidated, breaking more than 14 points and closing 10 off. Foster Wheeler and Case lost 6 on the day, Johns Manville 4, Stone & Webster, United Aircraft, Anaconda, Gillette, American Telephone, Du Pont, North American and Union Carbide 2 to 3 and General Electric Radio, Bethlehem Steel and General Motors one or more. Radio had equaled its year's low, American Smelting, in sympathy with the weakness of the coppers, tumbled 7 but ended the day with a loss of around 4.

Foreign issues, especially German governments, improved.

EXCHANGE TO CLOSE

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Management of the New York Cocoa Exchange voted today to continue through October the summer policy of closing on Saturdays.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Fresh receipts carried 13 loads mature cattle and two loads mixed. There were 12 loads held over. A fair clearance of the fresh receipts was effected, although trading was inclined to be draggy. Most transactions were made on a steady to weak basis, some sales of she stock looking a shade lower. There were several pens of cattle still in first hands at the end of the morning session.

Two loads 1015 to 1115-pound steers out of near-by feed lots landed at 8.25, with a few head sorted at 7.25. Several loads medium grade 1000 to 1075-pound California steers landed at 7.60@7.75 and other loads and lots carrying a few northerns at 6.75@7.25. Cull dairy bred steers sold down to 5.00. A feeder took two loads good 700-pound California yearlings at 8.00.

A few good heifers reached 7.25 and a load intermountain mixed cows of medium to good quality scaled at 6.50. Two loads good 975-pound Montana cows reached 6.25 and a few loads medium grade feed lot California and northern stock made 5.35@5.75 and two cars 770-pound southwesterns, 5.15. Odd head fleshy dairy types reached 5.75, with others ranging down to 4.75. Low cutters and cutters cashed at 2.50@4.50. Good bulls reached 6.00, with medium grades down to 5.00. A load of bulls was held over.

CALVES—Trading in this division continued at a standstill. Around six loads were carried over, but no bids were received. Values were not determined and quotations remained unchanged.

HOGS—A few truck lots butchers comprised yesterday's offerings. Nothing had been done on these up to a late hour and in the absence of a price criterion quotations were carried unchanged.

SHEEP—Offerings consisted of a truck lot lambs which arrived late Wednesday. Not enough was offered to make a market. A truck lot medium grade 81-pound lambs at 6.50, sorted 12 head at 5.00, looked about steady.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (AP)—In sharp contrast with the trend of equity issues today was the bullish tone of the bond market when buying, stimulated by the paring of time money rates, carried more than three dozen domestic obligations to new highs for the year.

Railroad bonds were especially strong. The broadened inquiry for both high-grade and some second-grade issues brought advances that ranged from 1 to 4 points, whereas movements ordinarily are fractional. Total transactions surpassed $11,000,000.

The feature of the foreign list was the improved tone of key German issues as the uneasiness over the political situation in the Reich waned. The recovery was only partial, however, some bonds continuing under pressure to reach new year's lows, and there was considerable irregularity also in the South American group of bonds.

United States governments were steady to firm, Treasury 3⅜s and Liberty 3½s making small gains.

The Argentina government has arranged for refinancing of notes due October 1 through issuance of $50,000,000 one-year notes bearing 5 per cent interest which probably will be offered tomorrow, together with two other large issues. These are the $12,000,000 4½ per cent mortgage bond issue of the Cincinnati Union Terminal, and a $21,000,000 financing program of the Chicago District Electric Generating Corporation.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

MOODY'S COMPOSITE PORTFOLIO RATING A

The ups and downs of the stock market are without significance to the real investor. Wise men regard high-grade common stocks as long-term investments—partnerships in the steadily growing profits of American business enterprises. They are interested primarily in the security of their principal and in a steady, consistent and liberal income.

CORPORATE TRUST SHARES

—are devised for just this type of investor. Each share offers a pro rata participating ownership in the common stocks of 28 basic American industries listed at the left. Each stock included in this group is a proven dividend payer. The companies or their direct predecessors have been in existence for an average of 58 years and have paid dividends without interruption for an average of 33 years. Collectively these 28 basic industries form a bulwark of security that is as sound as the financial structure of America itself.

A distribution rate of 70c per share per annum is stabilized through a reserve fund but all accruals of the trust in excess of 70c per share are also paid to shareholders. For the past 17 years, the annual distribution which would have been paid on Corporate Trust Shares has amounted to 14.7% per share on the average price.

TRUST OFFICER

THE PASSING OF THE INDIVIDUAL TRUSTEE

THAT the individual trustee will eventually be no more is plainly indicated by the fact that the trust companies of the nation are today safeguarding estates and trust funds totaling in value many billions of dollars.

The thoughtful person of today does not want to risk the many uncertainties of individual trusteeship. He wants to know definitely that the disposition and management of his estate will be in reliable, experienced hands. That is why so many thinking people have appointed this company as Executor and Trustee of their estates. A consultation with our trust officers may prove worth while to you.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24. (AP)—Sudden selling pressure in Wall street scared western speculators into dumping their holdings in Montgomery street today, and knocked prices rapidly down before a rather unsteady recovery set in. After the first dizzy hour, Pacific Coast leaders gradually re-established their lost prestige, but the market morale again weakened before the close and part of the recovery was lost.

The hectic session sent nine stocks to 1930 record bottom prices, while four irrepressible utility preferred issues attained peak prices for the year. They were San Joaquin Power 6s and 7s, the former up more than 3 points to put its top at 108½, Los Angeles Gas preferred and California Water Service preferred.

The rest of the story was full of gloom. Utilities, industrials and oils were hammered downward, and their comebacks left sizable spaces below yesterday's final quotations. Losses of 1 to 5 points were chalked against Crown Zellerbach common and preferred, both at new lows, Honolulu Plantation, Rainier Pulp and Paper, Caterpillar, Shell Union at a low record, Transamerica and Bank of California, the latter being the 5-point loser.

Volume leaders were Transamerica and Crown Zellerbach with turnovers of 10,500 and 10,200 shares, respectively. Appearance of further competition in the Pacific Coast paper production field added to the adverse influences affecting the paper stocks.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stock Market Rallies After Early Break but Fails to Recover Severe Losses

Widespread liquidation swept through the Los Angeles Stock Exchange early yesterday morning when a sudden turn of tactics on the New York board alarmed an already apprehensive sentiment in local trading circles and caused a hasty though temporary retreat. While the deluge of selling was checked and the list again turned upward the rally was by no means as extensive as the decline. Further uncertainty was demonstrated in the final hour as quotations on the more popular issues moved in irregular directions.

Half a dozen new bottoms were chalked up on the early break including such issues as Richfield, Rio Grande, Shell, Claude Neon, Pacific Mutual and Pacific American Fire. Declines of from 1 to 2 points were prominently scattered throughout the list.

Sellers of Transamerica flooded the market with nearly 15,000 shares under which the issue dropped 1 5-8 to 20 7-8 and rallied later to close at 21 1-2, off 1 point net.

Aside from Transamerica, oils completely dominated the market. Approximately 5000 shares of Standard of California crossed the board to depress the issue more than a point to 57 3-8. The close was 57 3-4. Union, on a turnover of more than 4000 shares, hit 37 1-4 and ended at 37 5-8, off 3-8, and Rio Grande and Richfield traded as briskly, the former dropping to 12 1-8 and closing at 12 1-4, off 1 1-4 points net, and the latter falling to 13 5-8 to recover later to 14, off 1 point net. Shell slumped 2 points to 13, a new low.

Claude Neon, which has held the spotlight in the past week by reason of its steady decline, struck a new bottom at 20 1-2, 10 points lower than sales last Monday. This issue closed at 23, however, to record a net loss of but 1-4. Pacific American Fire dropped 4 points to 34, Pacific Mutual, 3 points to 74, Pacific Lighting 2 1-2 to 75 1-2 and Edison 1 to 56 1-4.

Both San Joaquin preferred issues and Southern Counties Gas preferred reached new highs with gains of a point or more.

Sales totaled 46,478 shares, valued at $1,403,579; previous day, 26,536 shares, valued at $836,342.

VIRDEN PACKING NOT IN MERGER DISCUSSION

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—Current merger rumors involving the Virden Packing Company are without foundation, T. O'Leary, assistant secretary of the company, today stated. He added that during the last few years the company has received purchase offers but none of these has been attractive.

Squeezing the sponge of 100% financing!

THE FORECLOSURE ERA OF THE PAST YEAR AND A HALF . . has been squeezing the sponge of 100% "easy" financing . . with which Southern California development has been cursed . . and we estimate that the foreclosures of the MUTUAL Building and Loan Association OF POMONA . . have wiped out $300,000 of such "junior" paper during that time.

There have been millions of dollars of second and third mortgages, lot "equities," joint-control pay-off schemes, contractor's "profit mortgages," furniture assignments, and all such JUNIOR FINANCING. All shrunk out by the foreclosures of legitimate financial institutions of Southern California during the past year and a half.

THERE HAS BEEN NO HARD-HEARTED FORECLOSING . . of the villainous stage type . . by conservative financial institutions who merely want working wages for their money . . but many an owner has been put to the wall . . by the extortionate payments on "junior financing" . . until he has had to quit and let his property go . . and go through bankruptcy sometimes.

We have had foreclosure bargains where second mortgages as high as $30,000 have been so wiped out, with furniture value of another $30,000, and liens of nearly that amount—all squeezed out by our foreclosure of the FIRST TRUST DEED. That gets property back to outgo-less-than-income to the new purchaser on his own reasonable terms.

We talk of these things right out in public as we have for 37½ years of old-fashioned, conservative financing. In no get-rich-quick fashion has the MUTUAL Building and Loan Association OF POMONA grown to three State records, with $3,400,000 paid-in capital, surplus and reserve, with resources of $16,000,000.

Completes One

S. S. Wortley's No. 1 near the intersection of Thirty-sixth street and Elm avenue in the Los Cerritos field, northwest of the Signal Hill oil field, was completed yesterday for 1500 barrels of oil a day with bottom of the hole at 7500 feet.

Potential Established

Three new completions in the Venice oil field have established their potentials, according to Umpire Neil H. Anderson. The Pacific Shore Oil Company's No. 1 is producing at the rate of 350 barrels of oil a day; the Pacific Western Oil Company's Stanley-Lieber is producing 550 barrels daily and George F. Getty's V-3 is flowing about 1000 barrels of oil a day.

Nearing Completion

The General Petroleum Corporation's Erburu No. 8, nine miles due west of the Elwood oil field, is drilling below 1350 feet and may be ready for a production test soon. General's Erburu completions have generally been placed on the pump at about 1400 feet, and after establishing their flow, were shut in to aid the State-wide oil-curtailment program. Locations for Erburu No. 9 and No. 10 are suspended pending completion of Erburu No. 8.

General's More No. 3, on the More ranch southeast of the Erburu lease, is making progress with the drill below 2050 feet. It is the third test in that vicinity, and may determine future development on that portion of the More ranch.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (Exclusive)—Although spot prices for crude rubber in London reached record low ground, the local outside market displayed a steady tone today and did not fall below yesterday's low figures. At one time local prices made some attempt to rally, but later subsided to the previous day's closing level.

Much of the current depression in the rubber industry is attributed by rubber interests to the aftermath of the British Stevenson restriction scheme, which was abolished in 1928. The present price for rubber is below the cost of production for a great many companies and, unpleasant as the fact may be at this time, important factors in the industry look upon the present condition as one that, the old economic law of supply and demand, bodes good for rubber.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (AP)—More than a dozen stocks, including Electric Bond & Share and several other pivotal issues, broke into new low ground for the year today as the curb market was unsettled by a bear drive that netted losses of from 1 to 5 points.

The selling movement brought out considerable liquidation and the volume of trading reached the best level in four months, transactions involving 645,400 shares. The day began and ended with covering operations, the movement at the start being a resumption of the upward trend of the previous close. Price movement was narrow and trading dull on the rise but business picked up steadily as prices receded. Short selling and liquidation combined to force prices down to the low levels of August in the afternoon before a nominal rally erased a portion of the losses.

In the heaviest turnover in many weeks, Electric Bond & Share toppled from its opening of 73¾ to 69½, ¾ under its year's low, and closed at 70⅛ for a net loss of 3½ points. American Superpower reached its year's bottom price on the reaction, and American Commonwealth A and Cosden Oil reached new low ground but made a partial recovery.

At the close about a dozen issues rested in new low ground for the year, including American Cyanamid B, American States Public Service A, Dow Chemical new, Diamond Match new, Fajardo Sugar, Ford Motor of Canada, Gulf Oil, Standard Oil of Kentucky, Standard Oil of Ohio, Technicolor and Vacuum Oil.

The whole list was unsettled by the selling but the utility group was in the forefront. Losses of 1 to 3 points were registered by American & Foreign Power warrants, American Superpower, Electric Power Associates A, Hydro Electric Service, American Light & Traction, Missouri Kansas Pipe Line, United Gas new, and United Light & Power A. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore and Duke Power rose 4 to 6 points respectively.

The bearishness of professional traders toward petroleum stocks was accentuated by the cuts in gasoline by prominent companies. Standard Oil of Ohio broke 2⅞ to 70, and Gulf, Vacuum, Cosden and Humble yielded a point or more. Cities Service and Standard of Indiana resisted the decline and were only ⅜ off at the close.

Mercantile Stores and Aviation of Americas led the decline in the industrial section, down 5 points each. Technicolor, Newmont Mining and Aluminum Company of America receded 1 to 3 points.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

Wheat Futures Make Recovery in Late Rally

CHICAGO, Sept. 24. (AP)—Grain prices rebounded excitedly in late minutes of trading today after having smashed low price records because of wild selling to stop losses of holders. The sudden final upward jerk of the wheat market was due to a buying stampede which accompanied reports that Russia had begun repurchasing millions of bushels of wheat future deliveries that she had recently sold here. There were also late reports current that United States government-sponsored agencies were buying December delivery of wheat at Minneapolis.

The wheat market closed stormy and irregular, ranging from ⅛c lower than yesterday's finish to ⅛c net advance. Corn closed ⅞@⅛c up, oats ⅛c off to ⅛c gain, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 25c.

In the feverish trading which preceded the abrupt late upward rush of the wheat market here, prices made a maximum jump of 3⅝c a bushel. The close was at virtually the day's top down to the bottommost point reached since January, 1907, and had eclipsed the memorable collapse of values in July, 1914, which preceded war-time advances to the peak of $2.49¾. Today's tumble of wheat prices dragged rye and oats down to new low-record levels, and also brought about acute temporary weakness of corn.

Nervous unsettlement of the wheat market here was manifest at the opening, owing largely to fresh downturns in quotations at Liverpool, where Russian and Canadian wheat was reported to be pressing urgently for an outlet. However, a transient dearth of future delivery offerings here on the initial downturns in price led to a recovery which lasted until nearly mid-day, with buyers encouraged over statement current that even if Russian exports of wheat this season totaled 50,000,000 bushels the amount would not satisfy European importers' requirements for one month.

Corn and oats prices displayed independent strength at times owing a good deal to likelihood of frost tonight in Nebraska and elsewhere.

Provisions were responsive to declines in the value of hogs.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

[illegible], Eighth between Broadway and Hill—"The Sap From Syracuse." [illegible]—"The Sap From Syracuse."

Boulevard, Washington at Vermont—"Let Us Be Gay." A sophisticated comedy about a wife who wins back her husband. Norma Shearer.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood — "Hell's Angels." It took Howard Hughes four years and $4,000,000 to produce the colossus of the air; and it was worth it.

Criterion, 642 South Grand—"Madam Satan." Reviewed in today's Times.

Figueroa, Figueroa at Santa Barbara—"The Sap From Syracuse." Another of Jack Oakie's delightful comedy characterizations.

Filmarte, 1228 North Vine—"The Fatal Passion." Interesting as a study of foreign film technique and emotional acting.

Forum, Pico at Norton—"Oh, Sailor Behave." Rough stuff from Olsen and Johnson.

Majestic, B'dwy. at 9th—"Top Speed." A rather silly uproar with Joe E. Brown.

Million Dollar, Broadway at Third—"Anybody's Woman." A fairly careful study of a woman's character. Nicely done by Ruth Chatterton.

R-K-O, Hill at Eighth—"Outside the Law." Opens today.

R-K-O Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth—"The Little Accident." Troubles of a bridegroom interpreted by Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and fellow workers.

United Artists, Broadway near 9th—"What a Widow." A lightning farce that somehow forgets to be funny. Gloria Swanson.

Wilshire—"Call of the Flesh."

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at 11th—"It's a Wise Child." A splendid cast enacts this modern treatment of an old theme. Recommended to those who take comedy with a grain of salt and lots of pepper.

El Capitan, Hollyw'd Blvd. nr. Highland—"Parlor, Bedroom and Bath." Charlotte Greenwood strides onto the stage, and the play matters not at all. Destined for a healthy and wealthy run.

Mason, Hill near 11th—"Temptations of 1930." Opens tonight.

Vine Street, 1615 N. Vine—"A Cup of Sugar." The delightful comedienne, Dorothy Mackaye, returns in a farce about husbands and various wives.

BURLESQUE

Follies, Main at Fourth—Burlesque.

TWO FIRES BREAK OUT IN ONE CAR

Santa Fe Refrigerator on Tracks at Hanford Twice in Flames; Blame Tramps

HANFORD, Sept. 24. (Exclusive) Two fires broke out in the same Santa Fe refrigerator car here last night. At midnight the fire department responded to a call and put out the blaze, which had started from some unknown cause, inside the car, which was spotted alongside a local packing-house.

The railroad yard crew moved the car to an isolated place on the siding and at 6:30 this morning a call summoned the department to the same car.

The second fire destroyed the car beyond repair. It is believed that tramps set the first fire and that the second fire was a holdover from the first—that the fire had not been completely extinguished.

TAMMANY CHIEF ASKS IMMUNITY

Curry and Kohler Refuse to Sign Waivers Before Special Grand Jury

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (AP)—John F. Curry, leader of Tammany Hall, and Charles L. Kohler, city budget director and a Tammany district leader, refused to sign waivers of immunity today before the extraordinary grand jury investigating asserted office-buying in the city judiciary.

Both declared they had been "insulted" on emerging from brief appearances before the grand jury.

"The only 'insults,' if those gentlemen preferred to construe them as such, were contained in the fact that we asked them to sign waivers," said Hiram C. Todd, special prosecutor in charge of the investigation.

Both were excused as witnesses, Todd said.

Earlier in the day, Mrs. Martin J. Healy, whose husband, a Tammany district leader, has been indicted by the grand jury on a charge of accepting $10,000 in consideration of George F. Ewald's appointment as city magistrate, appeared before the grand jury and refused to be sworn in as a witness on the ground that her husband had already been indicted by the body.

Charles S. Hand, former secretary to Mayor Walker and now commissioner of street cleaning, was closeted with the grand jury for about an hour. His testimony was understood to have dealt with the general methods at City Hall for handling recommendations for appointments to judicial posts.

CANADA TO AID CANCER TREATMENT

Radium Institute will be Helped by Government in Million-Dollar Project

QUEBEC, Sept. 24. (AP)—A radium institute for the treatment of cancer is to be established in Toronto by the Ontario government, Premier Ferguson has announced.

The institute, he said, will be founded on a co-operative plan with members of the medical profession providing property and buildings valued at $500,000 and the Province contributing radium to the value of an equal amount.

He said establishment of the institute is part of a vigorous government campaign against cancer and indicated that in addition to being used for cancer treatment and research radium will be distributed wherever needed throughout the Province. At present Canadian physicians obtain their radium tubes in New York, thus involving delay and a heavy expense.

Plans for another center for the treatment of cancer are already under way in Toronto. Officials of the radiation institute connected with the General Hospital said they hope to have their center in operation by December. Approximately $400,000 already has been spent for equipment for this institute which will be operated by members of the University of Toronto medical faculty.

WOMAN BURNED WHEN GASOLINE EXPLODES

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24. Mrs. Carl Walrous, 11555 Kittridge street, was seriously burned yesterday when a pan of gasoline with which she was washing clothing on her back porch, burst into flames. The house also caught fire, the blaze being extinguished by the local fire department. Mrs. Walrous was working near a burning water heater which, firemen state, caused ignition of the gasoline fumes.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—[illegible]

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

HEEDLESS CRITIC SCORED

City Club Speaker Points Out Responsibilities of Those Attacking Public Officials

"Shulerizing" public officials is a privilege, but also a responsibility of citizenship, Harry H. Baskerville, member of the Board of Education, told members of the City Club yesterday.

"Every citizen has the privilege of discussing or 'Shulerizing' public officials, but the trouble about 'Shulerizing' men in office is that the critic doesn't know what he's talking about," said Mr. Baskerville.

Declaring that the average official is sincere and honest, the speaker admitted that not every servant of the people is efficient, but said the chief blame for this fact lies at the door of the people who submit to and uphold a system which permits election to office of men not fitted for the work which the public expects them to do.

POLITICS HIGH ART

"Because a man may have made good in the business world, it does not necessarily follow that he would be a good Mayor," said Mr. Baskerville. "Politics is or should be the highest of arts. Government has much to learn in methods from the business world and business could learn something by watching the way in which public affairs are conducted.

"One of the privileges of citizenship is to learn when to keep one's mouth closed and when to open it to voice constructive criticism," said the speaker. "There are in this city many individuals and organizations that work with fanatical zeal to elect men to office and then hamper them, criticise them, check them and double-check them until it is impossible for them to accomplish anything worth while."

Discussing college students, the speaker said that the average graduate would be more successful in the battle of life if he put the same zest and thought into his work that he puts in his studies and athletic work at school.

MISS PROSPERITY GUEST

The luncheon was presided over by Bradford Trenham, president of the Junior City Club, who was introduced by Jess E. Stevens, president of the City Club. Mr. Trenham announced that this was the first of a series of programs to be given under the auspices of the junior club.

J. E. McElree presented a silver cup to H. E. Bogardus, champion of the men's singles tournament of the junior club. The guest of honor was Miss Gwen Seager, the "Miss Prosperity" of the Glendale pageant, who will leave Los Angeles October 6, next, on a good-will tour of the Latin-American countries.

COUNCILMEN AGAIN DELAY GOLF VOTE

Curfew and Noise-Making Features of Ordinance to Come up Separately

Adoption of the miniature-golf ordinance again was postponed by the City Council yesterday, and it has been divided, the measure regulating radios and noise-making machines being considered as a separate ordinance.

Four members voted against the golf ordinance, which requires lights to be turned out at 12:30 a.m. This was sufficient to defeat the suspension of the rules and immediate adoption. If Barthel, Davis, Lewis and Randall hold fast next week their votes will strike out the emergency clause, which calls for immediate effectiveness with the right of referendum denied.

The radio ordinance will make it a misdemeanor to operate a noise-making contraption in such fashion as to be a nuisance, and provides a penalty of fine and imprisonment not to exceed $500 and six months in jail. A hearing will be conducted by the Police and Fire Committee.

NEW PLAYGROUND URGED

Theodore C. Porter and others yesterday petitioned the City Council to form an assessment district for the acquisition of property at Eighth avenue and Seventieth street for a playground. The cost of the ground, it was stated, is $47,500. The petition was referred to the Board of Park Commissioners and to the Parks and Playground Committee.

Woman Suffers Burns as Blaze Destroys Home

Suffering from second-degree burns received when she awoke early yesterday morning with her bed clothing, bed and home in flames, Mrs. Catherine Workman, 60 years of age, was transferred from the Receiving to the General Hospital late yesterday in a critical condition.

Mrs. Workman lived at 7608 South Vermont avenue. The house was destroyed. Mrs. Workman said she went to sleep the night before with an oil lamp burning on a table near the bed. It is surmised that the lamp was knocked over, setting the furnishings afire. With the bedclothing and her night clothes ablaze, Mrs. Workman stumbled out of the house and collapsed on the lawn where firemen found her.

WATER OFFICIAL HERE FOR STUDY

Commissioner Lawson Seeks Border River Data

Problems Affecting State to be Discussed

Imperial Valley Issues Also will be Examined

International water problems, particularly in California, were given impetus toward ultimate solution yesterday with the arrival here of Lawrence M. Lawson, recently appointed International Water Commissioner. They are to be discussed at length in a series of conferences he will have with the various interests involved, chief among which in Los Angeles proper is the Metropolitan Water District.

The task to be performed by Commissioner Lawson during his incumbency, he explained, is principally the acquisition of exhaustive hydraulic data bearing on the development of international streams and calculated to facilitate an agreement with Mexico covering the equitable distribtuion of the waters thereof. The waterways to be embraced in the long and intricate survey are the Tia Juana River, the lower Colorado River, which constitutes twenty miles of the International Boundary, and, of course, the Rio Grande, which constitutes the dividing line for 1300 miles.

IMPERIAL VALLEY NEXT

Upon completion of his compilation of the necessary data here, Commissioner Lawson will go to Imperial Valley and there resume the survey in co-operation with the Imperial Valley Water District.

"Flood control in the Imperial Valley," he said, at the mention of that region, "will be tantamount to physical control, or complete rectification, of the entire lower Colorado River."

Throughout duration of the survey Commissioner Lawson will maintain liaison with Mexico's board of water commissioners, of which Ing. Fortunato Dozal is chairman.

President Hoover appointed Commissioner Lawson to office last month. He now holds two Federal offices, the other being that of United States boundary commissioner, to which he was named by President Coolidge in 1927. As boundary commissioner he developed the first river rectification plan by which national sovereignty of some 17,000 acres, long liable to dispute, is determined.

IN MEXICO LAST WEEK

Last week Commissioner Lawson was present at Mexico City when the agreement drafted by him in collaboration with Mexican Boundary Commissioner Gustavo Serrano was approved officially by the administration.

Commissioner Lawson is a product of California education, having received his engineering training at California Institute of Technology, when it was known as Throop Polytechnic Institute; Mt. Tamalpais School, San Rafael, and Stanford University. As a Federal irrigation engineer he devoted thirty years to solution of Colorado River and Rio Grande irrigation projects.

During his stay in the city Commissioner Lawson is making his home at the University Club, of which he is a charter member.

AUTO MISHAPS KILL FOUR

Bicycle Rider and Man Victims of Auto Accidents; One Other May Die of Injuries

Four more deaths from traffic accidents were recorded here yesterday and one other victim is expected to succumb to injuries.

Peter Da Mante, 15 years of age, of 537 North Lorena street, was seated on his bicycle, "stealing a hitch" on the trailer of an automobile driven by Ray R. Burgoon, 1610 Ricardo street. At Eighth and Alameda streets the boy lost his balance and fell under the wheels of the trailer. He died soon after at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

A. M. Richards, 76, of 701 West Los Angeles street, Baldwin Park, died in Covina Hospital of injuries he suffered last Tuesday. An inquest into his death will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow by Chief Deputy Coroner Macdonald in Christiansen & Moore undertaking parlors, Covina.

An unidentified woman and a 6-year-old boy were dead at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital last night after they had been struck by an automobile driven by Chester R. Palmer, a real estate broker, 7141 South Western avenue, who was held by University police on a drunk-driving charge after he had been examined by hospital surgeons, who said he was intoxicated.

The woman and the boy were crossing the Thirty-ninth-street entrance to Exposition Park, near Figueroa street, when Palmer struck them. Investigating Officers Baird and Crum said they were dragged 163 feet before Palmer brought his car to a stop.

Hospital attendants gave the following description of the woman: About 30 years of age, grey eyes, auburn hair, 5 feet 5 inches in height, 130 pounds weight, clad in a white gingham dress, low tan shoes. The description of the boy was: About 6 years of age, blond hair, brown eyes, 4 feet tall, fifty-five pounds weight, dressed in a brown coat, blue bib overalls and high-laced tan shoes.

Venners Will Contestant Loses Out

Winners in Legal Fight

Thomas Barton, 11 years of age; Jack, 8; Mrs. Helen Barton, their mother, and Jack's twin, Bob.

Tom, Bob and Jack Barton, small sons of Mrs. Helen Barton, smiled yesterday when a jury in Superior Judge Fleming's court returned an instructed verdict in favor of them and other heirs of Mrs. Carrie See Venners, whose $80,000 estate has been in litigation.

The will of Mrs. Venners was contested by her stepson, Paul Venners, who contended that his father, who died five days after Mrs. Venners had made her will, was the decedent's legal heir. The will, it was asserted, had been made while the testator was under improper influence of Mrs. Venners's major heirs, particularly Mrs. Mary Fee, her sister, who will inherit the bulk of the estate.

Mrs. Venners died February 18, 1929. Proponents of the will were represented by Attorneys George Greer and H. T. Kellogg, who drew the will which was contested.

HIGH WAY PAVING BID SUBMITTED

Only One Concern Offers to Do Mulholland Work and it Asks $266,000

Only one bidder, J. G. Donovan & Son, offered to pave Mulholland High Way from Cahuenga Boulevard to Laurel Canyon Road yesterday when the Board of Public Works opened bids on the project. The Donovan concern bid $266,000, which is $47,000 above the estimate of the City Engineer. The work includes approximately four miles of concrete pavement, curbs, sewers and storm drains.

Nineteen bidders submitted offers for oiling the roadway of Topanga Canyon avenue from Mulholland High Way to the south city boundary, the work also including sidewalks, curbs and a small amount of storm drain. Apparently the low bidder is G. W. Ellis, who offered to do the job for $17,193.64.

BURGLAR TAKES CANARY-BIRD

Feathered Pet Removed from Its Cage by Intruder in Nocturnal Visit

Search for a burglar who on Tuesday night or early yesterday morning broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rosenblatt of 1144 North Eastman street, and included in his plunder a live canary, was under way yesterday by the Sheriff's office.

Report of the theft disclosed that after taking various articles valued at less than $50, the burglar removed the bird from its cage and left through a bedroom window, the screen of which had been pried off to permit entrance.

SILLS'S MEMORY HONORED

Hollywood Film Colony Pays Tributes to Late Actor as Philosopher and Idealist

Members of the Hollywood motion-picture colony, associates and admirers, 1000 in number, gathered last night at All Souls' Congregational Church, Wilshire and Plymouth boulevards, to do honor to the memory of Milton Sills, motion-picture actor, who died at his home at Santa Monica on the 15th inst. of a heart attack.

The altar was banked solidly from chancel rail to pulpit, the width of the church, with flowers. Those who were denied sending of their tributes at the funeral services made their offerings last night. Touching tribute was paid the memory of Sills, as a philosopher and thinker, a lover of beauty, an actor and a man of ideals. Vocal selections echoed the belief of Sills in immortality of the soul. George Huston sang "Agnus Dei" (Bizet) and Lottice Howell "Ave Maria" (Gounod.) Elsie Watkins-Mills, church organist, offered a prelude of favorites of the actor.

Many stars of the screen were in attendance, the reserved section at the front of the church being filled with those interested in the industry, either as actors, studio employees, or producers.

Fred W. Beetson, executive vice-president of the Producers' Association, presided in the absence of Cecil B. De Mille, who was unable to attend on account of a badly wrenched ankle suffered during the week-end at Catalina.

Lawrence Grant, vice-president of the Masquers' Club and representing the actors' branch of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, under whose auspices the service was held, said that it was the combination of scholar and actor that made Sills unique in the motion-picture world. He said his name was synonymous with dignity and culture in the minds of the public in all parts of the world.

Louis B. Mayer, vice-president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and one of the founders of the academy, declared Sills to be a leader among men but with the outstanding characteristics of modesty and consideration of the rights of others.

GAMING STORY TOLD BY CLARA

Will Rogers Also Reveals His Side of Affair

Actress Gives Full Details of Calneva Party

She Admits Signing Blank Checks for Losses

Imagine Clara Bow's chagrin when she found that 50-cent pieces with which she gambled really represented $100 chips.

CLARA BOW

Imagine Will Rogers's surprise when he learned that Clara did become, as he described it, "a bit reckless."

Thus did the actress and the cowboy philosopher come forth yesterday with versions of how Clara dropped $13,900 in a Nevada gambling resort.

First came Rogers's explanation of his part in the affair, and then one last night by Clara herself—in which she sets forth details of the evening's play and why she canceled payment on the four checks after she returned to Hollywood from Lake Tahoe.

BLANK CHECKS SIGNED

Clara's statement, dictated by her, points out that not only did she receive 50-cent pieces at the resort without knowing that each represented $100 in the resort's black-jack game, but, furthermore, that she allowed the operators to fill out her four blank checks and did not know their totals until informed of them by her Hollywood bank.

Rogers, in his statement, wants it distinctly understood "It doesn't seem to be hardly fittin' for me to be riding out to fame and notoriety on the tail of Clara Bow's skirts."

WILL ROGERS

Secondly, he didn't introduce Clara to the manager of the resort as the resort owner asserts.

"It would be just like introducing Hoover to the Senate or Lindbergh to the Boy Scouts," he opined, "It just ain't done—introducing Clara Bow to anybody."

UP CAME CLARA

"We had been up there to Lake Tahoe on location makin' a picture," Will continued. "I like this here boy, Rex Bell, who Clara runs around with. He's a right nice feller. He had a piece in the picture, too.

"My wife had been up there with me but she had to go back to home to start the youngsters back to school. Rex came up to me one day and told me Clara was comin' up. I said 'Let 'er come.' And she did, red hair and all.

"Well, this here Rex wanted us to go to dinner. I told him to come to dinner with me. They did. We went to this here place, Calneva, which was about nine miles away from the Tahoe Lodge.

EVERYBODY KNEW HER

"It was about the only place in that neck of the woods where a feller could get anything decent to eat. I aim to go back there again sometime just to eat.

"Well, anyway, we hopped over to this Calneva place. It's a great sight. Sure, Clara and Rex were with me. I had invited them. We had dinner together. It was a great meal. And then we went into the gambling room. As I said before I didn't have to introduce Clara. Everybody knew her.

OLD HOME WEEK

"Why, gosh, it was just like old home week up there. Everybody's wife from Long Island was present. While we were sittin' eatin' the wives of a couple of fellers I played polo with came up to the table. They were Mrs. Brice Wing and Mrs. Louise Stoddard.

"They gave us the lowdown on everybody in the place. For instance, they would point out a woman to us. 'There's Mrs. Whoosis—she's only got six weeks to go.' Or

Everybody who drives an automobile knew this, anyhow; but it is good to have one's judgment affirmed.

In one of the eastern States all motor-car drivers arrested for wild driving have been given the army intelligence test. Approximately 90 per cent were found to be subnormal.

In passing this fact on to the world I feel that I am definitely adding valuable basic material for automobile repartee. This gives you something new to growl at the next sap who cuts in on the wrong side.

AN APPEAL FOR HELP

Here is an appeal that has come to me; it is serious enough to make anyone sit up with a bump. It relates to the military defense of the United States.

In theory the Regular Army of the United States has a strength of 280,000. Congress has cut down the appropriations until only 118,000 men are on the rolls. The National Guard is supposed to consist of 480,000; on account of the lack of money only 240,000 men are in training.

The defense plan is that in an emergency six field armies are mobilized, the Regular Army furnishing one, the National Guard two, and the organized reserves three. At the present time there are not sufficient troops in both the Regulars and the National Guard to furnish one field army—instead of three.

The burden, therefore, must fall upon the reserve.

EXPERTS NEEDED

This reserve is divided into two parts—the Officers' Reserve and the Enlisted Reserve. The Officers' Reserve is in good shape with 110,000 officers in hard training. This number is sufficient for three field armies. The Enlisted Reserve is a minus quantity, with only 5500 men in the United States.

This special appeal that has come is for men to enlist in the Nine Hundred and Seventy-seventh Coast Artillery Regiment, which is in Los Angeles. It is an antiaircraft regiment, commanded by Col. E. A. Evans, a war veteran who is, in private life, a well-known architect. Enlistments are for three years; meet twice a month at 751 South Figueroa street; pay during training-camp periods.

The work is very interesting. Men specially needed are electricians to operate radios, switchboard operators, linemen, general mechanics, etc. Also needed are cooks, chauffeurs, motorcycle riders, surveyors, supply clerks, musicians. The training is with searchlights, machine guns and rapid-fire antiaircraft guns.

WILL SMELL POWDER

One only has to read these facts to realize that the next great war will not be fought by enormous, unwieldy mobs like the World War; it will be fought by a comparatively few trained experts—with machines.

And we who sit in cities will not languidly read the war extras and find out how the boys at the front are dying. We will get hell from high explosives.

OLD BILL

Will Rogers is taking a long chance in making a movie out of Frank Bacon's old play, "Lightnin'." Old Bill is one of the great characterizations of theatrical history. Mr. Rogers will make of that quaint, delightful soul a different character; but I think his

Gun Gang Ties Up Five and Robs Branch Bank of Almost $7000

MANAGER MADE TO OPEN VAULT

Three Bandits Enter Place at Closing Hour

Victims Struck When They Fail to Obey Quickly

Police Launch Wide Search for Daring Group

Three methodical bandits, each armed with an automatic pistol, held up the branch of the Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank at West Washington Boulevard and Westview street yesterday afternoon just as it was about to close its doors and escaped with all the cash in the counter tills and a large sum from the bank's vault, the total being placed at almost $7000. It was the first gang hold-up of a bank this city has had this year.

Evidences of careful planning were shown in the way the gangsters worked, from their selection of the time when they were unlikely to be disturbed by customers entering the bank to the fact that they went prepared with two-foot lengths of twine with which to bind everyone who was in the bank.

BANDITS RUSH IN

Just as George C. Clements, a teller, was about to shut the front doors, he was confronted by the leader of the trio, who was much taller than his two companions. The leader roughly shoved Clements inside the bank as the latter turned to protest he felt the muzzle of a revolver in his back and was told to put up his hands.

The two smaller bandits then entered with their pistols drawn and lined up the other occupants of the bank, who were James R. McKee, the manager; E. C. Peterson, the assistant manager; Lois Edwards, the book-keeper, and two customers, A. W. Makepeace of 4784 1-2 Franklin avenue, and Jimmy Nupoff of 328 South Spring street.

All of them were told to lie flat on their faces and those who did not obey quickly enough were knocked down. Then, while the leader stook guard over them, the ankles and wrists of all except the manager, were bound together with the lengths of twine by the two other bandits.

This accomplished, the same two went about gathering up the cash at the various window tills. They also gathered up four revolvers which the employees kept at the windows. With the leader still standing guard over the prostrate five, his two companions, apparently having found out beforehand who the manager is, took hold of McKee and shoved him roughly back to the vault, which they commanded him to open.

With two guns against his back, the manager opened the vault and allowed the bandits to scoop up all the currency they could find. Then they threw McKee into a corner, bound his ankles and wrists and walked out, slamming the door of the vault behind them.

After warning the three employees and two customers on the floor against following them, the three bandits leisurely walked out the front door and disappeared.

GIRL CALLS POLICE

Miss Edwards was the first of those on the floor who was able to loosen her bonds sufficiently to hobble to a telephone and call the police. The bank is not equipped with any automatic alarm device. In the meantime, McKee also was able to free himself and get out of the vault with a key which is kept on the inside as a precaution against employees being locked in it.

Detective Lieutenants Moran and Wilson of the Wilshire station were at the scene within a few minutes, and they were followed by Detective Lieutenants Woolman and Malina of the Central robbery squad. The detectives obtained excellent descriptions of the three men and they also found and took a record of fingerprints which the two men who invaded the vault had left there.

YES, BANANAS GROW HERE

Two Heavily Laden Trees Prove It

Los Angeles Couple Partake of Fruit

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Luscher need only reach from their kitchen window to obtain supply.

When Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Luscher of 5743 Rimpau avenue, want bananas for breakfast they just open their kitchen window and pick them.

Two trees, more than twenty feet high, are growing luxuriously in their yard, and on each tree are two large bunches of fruit. The bananas are ripe and of good size. Horticulturists say very few bunches come to maturity here but that these two plants apparently are exceptions.

CLARA ADMITS GAMING PARTY

She Thought "Chips" Worth Only 50 Cents

Rogers Says He Played Host at Resort Dinner

'there's Mrs. Sawbucks with a couple of weeks to go.' Even the judge that gives 'em their divorces was there.

"It's a great place for them there divorcees who go to Reno to get free. It's a sight, I'm tellin' you, a real honest-to-goodness sideshow.

"Well, anyway, we all finally went into the gambling room. Clara got to playin' blackjack or twenty-one or whatever they call it. From my observation she played pretty close to begin with. Mebbe she did get a bit reckless. All people that don't know how to gamble have that peculiar habit.

GAMES LOOKED STRAIGHT

"I played a bit myself, but I never aim to lose more'n $50. The games up there looked straight enough to me, all right. From my experience they don't have to be crooked, because I've found out that jes as long as they'll keep playin' the house'll finally get their money.

"I'd be a kinda funny cowpuncher if I didn't know a bit about gambling. That's why I don't make it a practice. I've gambled in Mexico City and in Spain. And I've played a bit at Caliente.

"Why, I even lingered three extra days at one time at Monte Carlo just to find out what all them there old ladies was adoin' at the roulette tables."

If Clara Bow lost $13,900 and later refused payment on her checks that's her own affair, Rogers asserted. He said he did not stay at the Calneva Lodge while the company was on location, but that he had meals there a great deal.

SECOND MEETING

He made many of his visits, he said, to get material for a national magazine story, "and to sit around and see the show and see the wives of all the folks sittin' 'round markin' time."

Rogers said he lingered at the Calneva resort for approximately one hour and then returned to his own lodge. Clara and Rex stayed behind, he said, and he didn't know what time they got back.

He opined it was practically the first time in his life he had ever met Clara Bow.

"The only other time I remember meetin' her was when she came back to my dressin' room in New York while I was subbin' on the stage for Fred Stone," he said.

CLARA'S STATEMENT

Clara's statement followed a hectic day of dodging interviewers and was issued after it had been determined that a gambling debt cannot be collected even in Neneva because I did not care to mix are legalized.

Her explanation is as follows:

"I have not previously given details concerning the affair at Calvena because I did not care to mix my host, Mr. Will Rogers, in my personal affairs. However, since he has seen fit to make a statement to the papers there appears to be no reason for me to keep quiet.

"I had never been to Lake Tahoe, so, not being at work on a picture, I decided to take a short trip with my secretary, Miss Daisy Devoe, to Lake Tahoe Tavern, which everyone knows is a very fine, respectable place.

PLAYED BLACKJACK

"While there Mr. Rogers invited Mr. Rex Bell, Miss Devoe and myself to dinner at Calneva. I did not know that it was a gambling place until after we reached there. After we had dinner Mr. Rogers went to one of the gambling tables and, naturally, we went with him.

"I began to play a little game called twenty-one, which they called there blackjack.

"They gave me 50-cent pieces to play with and I signed some checks in blank, telling the dealer to fill in the amount of the 50-cent pieces he had given me. There were four of these checks.

"It now seems they claim these 50-cent pieces represented what they call $100 chips and they put enough in the checks to amount to that.

CALLED BY BANK

"When the checks reached my Los Angeles bank they called me and said the checks had a slip on them telling the bank to 'wire state of these checks.'

"This attracted the attention of my bankers and they called me up and I found out for the first time that this gambling house claimed I had lost and owed them nearly $14,000. I told the bank not to pay the checks. As I said in my first statement, if these people think they have an honest claim against me I will gladly receive any legal documents that they serve on me or they can present them to my attorney, Mr. W. I. Gilbert."

B. P. Schulberg, production executive at the Paramount Publix studio where Clara is employed, came forth with another statement yesterday asserting the studio will adopt a hands-off policy.

"I received a brief letter this morning from the law firm of Thatcher & Woodburn," Schulberg's statement reads. "I am replying that it is evident the letter refers to a personal matter of Miss Bow's and not to a matter that concerns Paramount Publix and I, therefore, do not understand why they are communicating with me."

LETTER FROM LAWYER

The letter he refers to is one sent to him by Attorney George B. Thatcher of Reno, Nev., engaged by James McKay, one of the owners of the resort, to attempt to recover the amount of the four checks which Clara assertedly repudiated.

Reno dispatches yesterday stated that Lester D. Summerfield, District Attorney of Washoe county, declared the Bow matter had not been laid before his office. He declared that if the proprietors of the Calneva resort had accepted or cashed checks for Miss Bow or anyone else in a gambling transaction they did so at their own risk. Such checks, he was quoted as saying, cannot be collected at law. Dispatches said Nevada attorneys gave the opinion that the Nevada courts have uniformly held the collection of gambling debts cannot be enforced.

REX BELL ELUSIVE

Yesterday it was established that Marie Dressler had not been at the resort with the Will Rogers company. McKay admits he got her name confused with that of Louise Dresser, who is working with Rogers in the film for the Fox studio. She was not reached for a statement.

Bell, too, was as elusive as Clara yesterday. Friends at his apartment didn't know where he could be located. At the Bow home it was said Clara was out and "will not be back until late."

Clara's father said yesterday he doesn't know a thing about his daughter's trip to Calneva or anything about her asserted losses or her turning down payment on the checks. "If she did lose such an amount it will be a lesson to her," he said.

In his version of Clara's visit to Calneva on the 11th inst. McKay asserted a red-headed woman was introduced to him as Clara Bow. She was accompanied by her secretary. Clara played roulette, chuck-a-luck, blackjack and craps and lost. He said he cashed four checks in all, drawn on a Hollywood bank, one for $7300, a second for $6000 and two more for $300 each. All came back, he said, marked "payment stopped."

Then he hired a lawyer.

MRS. ANDERSON'S FUNERAL RITES TO BE TOMORROW

MRS. MARGARET J. ANDERSON

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret J. Anderson, one of the pioneers in the real estate development of Hollywood and Beverly Hills, and until two years ago owner of hte Beverly Hills Hotel, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Forest Lawn Cemetery. Mrs. Anderson died Tuesday after an illness of three months.

She was 71 years of age and a native of Iowa. She came to Southern California with her father, Rev. Robert Boag, a Presbyterian clergyman, and the family first lived at Wilmington. After her marriage she and her husband were among the first growers of the navel oranges and planted a ranch near Alhambra.

As a widow with two small children, Mrs. Anderson undertook the management of the Hollywood Hotel in 1903 when it was located in the midst of wide orange and lemon orchards. The first hotel had accommodations for only sixteen guests and it was three times enlarged. During 1916 she gave up the Hollywood Hotel and assumed control of the then newly constructed Beverly Hills Hotel and continued as owner of the property until two years ago when it was sold to the Interstate Company.

Mrs. Anderson is survived by a son, Stanley S. Anderson, and a daughter, Mrs. Ruth A. Mattinson, and three grandchildren.

Included in the list of honorary pallbearers for the funeral service on Friday will be Roland Bishop, Will Rogers, George Thomas, Jr., Harry Lombard, King C. Gillette, O. M. Beasley, J. M. Sartori, Jefferson Chandler, Jack Jevne, Dr. P. G. White, Dr. E. C. Moore, Lewis D. Miller, H. C. Dawes and Gurdon W. Wattles.

Rum Influence in Will Charged

Charles Franklin Bevier of Pasadena was under the influence of liquor when he made a will leaving his property to Mrs. Agnes Guthrie, 333 Del Monte street, Pasadena, his uncle, F. G. Bevier, asserts in a contest to probation of the will, on file yesterday.

The contestant asserts the property involved is worth much more than the amount at which Mrs. Guthrie listed it, $5000. The decedent, who lived at Mrs. Guthrie's home for three or four months prior to his death, left $1 to each of his legal heirs, and the rest to Mrs. Guthrie.

Magazines in Trouble

With the coming of Indian summer another bunch of magazines have gasped and died—Plain Talk following the death trail of Century.

Is it a sign of the times that the two types of magazines that thrive are cheap, hot and exciting pulp adventure magazines and high-class magazines of facts—like Time and National Geographic?

Foreign-Language Plays

A Spanish teacher in one of the high schools writes to say that the best possible way to study Spanish—or any other foreign language—is to go to the foreign-language movies. There you hear the language spoken clearly and slowly, and with gestures that help you to the meaning. The old California Theater on Main street is now devoted exclusively to these foreign pictures.

MILTON SILLS'S DEATH MOURNED

He read the resolutions passed by the academy and presented an engraved copy to the family.

M. C. Levee, executive manager of Paramount studios and a member of the board of directors of the academy, told feelingly of the receipt of the news of the death of Mr. Sills. He paid tribute to him as a man and an actor. He read letters from Conrad Nagel, now in New York, and William C. De Mille, also in the East.

Clinton Wunder, executive manager of the academy, told of Sills's kindly nature and of his interest in those he met. He said his life was dedicated to the nobler things.

It was announced that Lawrence Grant has been named by the nominating committee of the actors' branch of the academy to serve for three years on the board of directors, succeeding Sills.

of the skull and other injuries last night as he attempted to cross at Fourth and Olive streets, and was struck by an automobile driven by Bert Hoffman of 906 North Mott street. Virtually no hope for his recovery was offered at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

Abraham Lober's automobile went over a retaining wall into the bed of Los Angeles River near Griffith Park Boulevard a mile from Burbank yesterday. It turned completely over after dropping fifteen feet, and plunged forward many feet more. The car was wrecked, but Lober, who is 36 and lives at 1830 Silver Lake Drive, suffered only a small cut on the lower lip which was treated at Hollywood Receiving Hospital.

TRAFFIC COMMITTEE WILL MEET TODAY

The Los Angeles Citizens' Traffic Committee will hold a luncheon meeting at the Elysian Park pistol range today. This committee, recently reorganized, is preparing to participate in an intense State-wide campaign to reduce or, if possible, eliminate highway accidents. A feature of this meeting will be a report given by Mrs. Leland Atherton Irish on traffic conditions as she recently found them on an extensive tour in Europe and other countries. Mrs. Irish visited sixteen countries, and closely surveyed the traffic conditions in each.

NEW NARCOTIC AGENT IN CONFERENCE HERE

William D. Allen, recently appointed agent in narcotic investigations in California and Nevada, yesterday was in Los Angeles to confer with Chris Hansen, agent in charge. He takes the place of Harry V. Williamson and will have his main office in San Francisco. Allen was the first narcotic agent to be appointed to the Honolulu division after the adoption of the Harrison Act.

RESERVE OFFICER PROMOTED

First Lieutenant Abraham Morse, Infantry Reserve, 1171 3-4 East Fifty-fourth street, has been promoted to the rank of captain, it was announced yesterday in a dispatch from Ninth Corps Area headquarters, San Francisco.

Today's Bible Text

For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; Looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ.—Titus ii:11-13.

THE FAST TRAVELER

Recently Capt. Hawks flew from New York to Detroit in three hours. If there are any speed records that that wizard doesn't own we don't know what they are. He may be anywhere at any time.

NOT SO EASY

Bill Green intimates that union labor will declare for 2.75 beer at its conference next month, but that does not mean that handsome waiters will pass down the aisles serving the product. There are still a few formalities ahead.

NEVER TOO OLD

They have lawsuits everywhere. Joseph Antonio Lopes, who had lived at the base of the snow-robed volcano of Cotopaxi, in Ecuador, just ended a lawsuit by dying. He was 135 years old and his fourth wife had just been suing him for separate maintenance. Now she will have to get out and hustle for herself. Such is fate.

THIS OLD WORLD

Now a distinguished German scientist asserts positively that this world is only 30,000,000 years old. Others have declared it much older and many place it as vastly younger. Under the circumstances the layman has the right to reserve his opinion. To some of us careless folk it doesn't seem to make much difference whether the earth is 30,000,000 or only 27,000,000 years out of the nursery. We can get gasoline at the corner just the same.

THE GREAT LIBRARY

Said that the great national library in Paris has more than sixty miles of baled magazines and newspapers awaiting the binders and library space. It needs a structure as large as the library itself to cover the overflow. The library receives about 600,000 publications of all kinds each year and is possibly the greatest institution of its kind in the world. Its doors are open to almost everything that is printed—any time, anywhere. It would be a great place to turn a confirmed reader loose.

WORLD BEAUTIES

These beauty tournaments all seem to pick out a different fairy for Miss Universe. At the recent contest and show in South America a Brazilian girl was named as the prettiest damsel in the world after competing with the favorites of twenty-six different countries. The sweet-faced representatives of Portugal and Greece were tied for second place and the maiden from the United States was third. When the tourneys are held in this country we do better by ourselves. The Brazilians are only following precedent.

A SCINTILLANT STAR

From a little print shop in a back street, with the scantiest equipment, William Rockhill Nelson issued in 1880 the first edition of his Kansas City Star. The other day that well-known and highly regarded newspaper celebrated its fiftieth anniversary. When the Star first began to shine it twinkled feebly as a little four-page daily. Now it is many times that size and is a prosperous and influential journal of a unique make-up and fine literary character.

The Star drew the public eye and became a great newspaper largely because of the independent attitude of Nelson on all important public matters and because in fully covering the news field of its populous territory it did so with little regard for whose toes it might tread upon. Nelson, who died in 1915, was a man of strong emotions and prejudices. If anybody protested against one of his policies he would exclaim: "I am publishing the Daily W. R. Nelson. If people don't like my paper they can buy another."

This individual quality stamped the Star in many ways and was a fine advertisement for it. The rugged, honest spirit of Nelson still rules the Star. It was such a following in Missouri and Kansas as to lead one to conclude that the discerning element there has hitched its wagon to it for good and all.

A NEW DEAL IS NEEDED

Little argument is needed to establish the contention that better protection ought to be accorded the wild life of California. Even the opponents of Proposition No. 11 on the November ballot concede that "the preservation of fish and game in California for the benefit of the people depends upon a constructive program of conservation," while proponents of the measure see extinction within a very few years for every variety of fish and game in the State except deer. Nor is the latter contention seriously challenged.

That wild life is an asset, commercially and esthetically, without which human life in this State would be the poorer, is another statement which it is not necessary to prove. Aside from the commercial fisheries, the fishing and hunting in the woods and waters of the State, including the territorial sea waters, are a great tourist attraction, as well as furnishing priceless recreation to the residents.

The controversy is over how this best can be preserved. The proposal before the voters is to create a Fish and Game Commission with real powers and to delegate to it general legislative control, leaving to the Legislature the fixing of broad outlines of conservation policy and to the commission the task of filling in the details. Its alternative is to retain in the Legislature the duty of prescribing in every minute particular the fish and game laws, and leave the Fish and Game Commission as a mere patrol body without real powers of regulation and control.

California has the latter plan now and it is not working; that is, it is not working for the benefit of the State. It is working for a few immediate pocketbooks only. If present conditions continue, even these immediate pocketbooks will be hurt, since the source from which they draw their profit will be destroyed. The Legislature is either too inexpert or too busy, or too prone to listen to fish-and-game hogs, to take a proper interest in the situation.

Now the conservation of fish and game is a highly technical matter. It is as much a specialized business as the regulation of public utility rates. Those who fix bag limits and seasons must know the habits of the various creatures with fur and feathers and fins, their breeding times and peculiarities, what is good for them and what is not. It stands to reason that a commission with real power to act can function far more effectively than can a Legislature which meets once in two years and has many other important matters to attend to.

Years ago, State legislatures undertook the direct regulation of railroads, gas and electric companies. There is not a single legislature which longer exercises this function—concededly, in theory, a legislative function. It has universally been found better to delegate these legislative powers to a commission of some sort. There has been for several years a parallel in the case of fish and game regulation and most of the State commissions which have been created have been conspicuous successes.

In Pennsylvania, for example, the commission has restored good fishing and good hunting in an outstanding manner. Canada has had such a system for years and now accepts it as a matter of course, with the result of attracting tourist sportsmen by the thousands every year. Not only have the Canadian commissions checked depletion, but increased the stock to abundance.

The California Conservationists, the Izaak Walton League, the Associated Sportsmen of California and other similar bodies have indorsed Proposition No. 11 and it should be adopted.

MEXICAN FOOTBALL TEAM

More than usual interest attaches to the football game to be played tomorrow night in the Coliseum between the University of Mexico and Occidental College. It initiates intercollegiate relations through the medium of a popular sport from which nothing but good can come to both republics. For the first time a team of representative young Mexican athletes, trained to American football with Yale technic and ethics as a model, comes to exhibit its prowess on California soil. Los Angeles can be counted on to give our visitors a cordial and hospitable welcome—and may the best team win!

The game itself will of course be a great attraction to all sport fans, for many will be anxious to size up the football possibilities of these doughty warriors from the southern republic in what promises to be the first of a series of such international contests. But tomorrow's event cuts far deeper than mere sport. It will make for better knowledge and understanding between the youth of two neighboring countries. As the university thinks today so will the people be thinking tomorrow. The contest between Occidental College and the University of Mexico will exert an influence not to be overlooked in establishing a bond between the two nations.

That the leading Mexican university should have taken up with so much zeal our American game of football is a compliment to us we should return in every way possible. Those who have supported the organization and training of the Mexican players have been moved by patriotic motives. They felt that to develop a sportsmanship among Mexican youth, similar to the spirit shown in American universities, would in the end be found a valuable national asset. On our part, by encouraging these trained football players to compete with our own college men, we can help both countries to realize the inestimable benefits that spring from teamwork.

The Duke of Wellington, it is said, once made the boast that the battle of Waterloo was won on the playgrounds of the British public schools. It may be ours to make the far finer boast that the friendship between the United States and Mexico was cemented on the football fields of California.

JUST A SONG AT TWILIGHT

Said that Irving Berlin has written a campaign song for Heywood Broun, the New York columnist who is running for Congress on a Socialist ticket. Heywood is a bright boy, but it will take more than a campaign ditty to put him over. He is in the wrong pew.

THE LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

IT TAKES all kinds of businesses to make up a great city.

But the queerest we know of in Los Angeles is that of Ben N. Powers, 1246 North Kings Road, who is a dealer in used stagecoaches.

Stagecoaches in His Blood

Powers was born on the plains of Kansas, at Manhattan, and from earliest boyhood was thrilled by the romance of the plains. His father bought and sold many horses and later moved to Fort Riley, where he bought cavalry horses when they showed the strain of hard riding. He went to every wild west show which came along and when he saw the stagecoach make its desperate run to evade the attacking Indians his heart fluttered wildly, for that was just the sort of thing, he knew, which had happened frequently on the very plains over which he often rode. A stagecoach became, for him, a symbol. He used to fancy himself driving one through hostile Indians. And he resolved that when he grew up he was going to own a stagecoach and drive it.

Stagecoach Days in California

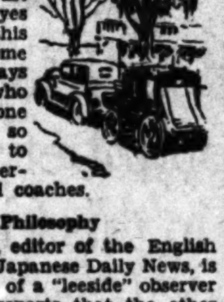
He had become a California business man before he got the chance, but hardly had he taken root here when he began making inquiries about old stagecoaches. He was told that there weren't any left in California, except one or two in museums. But whenever he found himself where stagecoaches had been used he asked about them. He was told that a man named Leander Poole at Yreka had part of an old stagecoach and took a vacation to go to Yreka and see it. He found he not only had part of it, but all of it, and that it was one of the old Concord coaches. He bought it, hitched it behind his motor car—and trundled it to Los Angeles. It was so well built that on a good road he could tow it almost as fast as his car could go.

Followed the Covered Wagons

The coach was numbered 69 and Powers wrote the Concord company, which still is in business though now it makes other vehicles, for its history. He learned that the company sold the coach in 1865 to one Ben Fish of Lexington, Mo. It was from Lexington that the Oregon trailers really started. Some of the most important characters in "The Covered Wagon," you will recall, were Lexingtonians, the leaders of a large party. In those days it was the stagecoach which carried civilization into the wilderness. Before it came the frontiersmen were mere explorers and adventurers in tierra incognita. Once they established settlements and trading posts the stagecoach came to them, bringing mail and communication with the world they temporarily had lost. No doubt that old Concord coach followed that route, for it ran from a point in Oregon to Yreka on a line of the old California Stagecoach Company.

Ramona Parlor of the Native Sons wanted that coach and Powers sold it to them. But he immediately began looking for others. He has bought and sold several since then and has two in his back yard at home. The other day he drove home from Ukiah with one which used to run between Ukiah and Vichy Springs. It makes an odd picture when down the Camino Real comes a modern automobile towing a battle-scarred stagecoach, but Powers's neighbors have got so used to seeing that combination that they no longer turn to look at it.

Incidentally, Powers has become an authority on the stagecoach history of the West. He has bought coaches built for mountain travel and others built for plains travel. He hasn't bought any of them to sell, but because they interested him. He likes to have one or two around, just to feast his eyes on. But in this strange city some one is always bobbing up who wants to buy one from him, so Powers has to keep on discovering abandoned coaches.



Street-Corner Philosophy

Masao Dodo, editor of the English section of the Japanese Daily News, is a good deal of a "leeside" observer himself. He reports that the other day he stepped up to the wheel-chair newsman at First and Main streets to buy a paper. He fished in one pocket for a nickel, but brought up only larger coins. So he thrust a hand into another pocket with the same result.

"I've got too much money," laughed Masao.

"Yep," commented the newsie, grimly, "lots of folks have got too much money. But nobody seems to have enough for two."

Chivalry, Where Art Thou?

A young woman reports that when she boarded a Glendora-Monrovia car the other evening she was the only woman on it—and also the only passenger without a seat. All about her were seated American men who couldn't see that American girl at all. But up in the end of the car was an elderly Mexican laborer. After waiting long enough to see that nobody else was going to offer her a seat, he arose and proffered his.

"Oh, no thank you, senor," she said, in a clear voice. "I imagine you have worked hard today and are as tired as I am. Besides, you'd better save your seat for some woman of your own nationality, for I doubt that any man of my country will offer her one."

THEY MAKE ME SICK!

THE EVER-POPULAR PIANO

Musicians and music lovers are not apt to take too seriously David Strauss's purposely exaggerated declaration that every piano in the world should be burned. Were it not for the family name he bears so ridiculous an expression of vandalism would have attracted no attention whatever. Nor is it probable that David Strauss intended it to be more than a sensational gesture in his efforts to sacrifice Terpsichore on the altar of the modern Moloch, "tonal expression." Only those who prefer the slide trombone to the harp would countenance such iconoclasm. And these could hardly be called musicians. Or even folks.

The piano, from the ancient spinet to the modern grand, has always been the instrument of the home. In the mansions of the great and the cottages of the humble the children have assembled for generations around the pianoforte, perhaps to sing the hymns and folk songs of their nation, perhaps to strum five-finger exercises, or join in dance and chorus with the boys and girls of the neighborhood. No other instrument has done so much to instill in the heart of humanity a love for the songs and melodies about which are woven the tenderest memories of home and country.

Every teacher knows that without the piano musical education would come to a complete standstill. And music, even though elementary, has played a leading part in the cultural and religious development of human beings. No wind instrument could ever take its place, even though it gives tonal expression to those half and quarter and sixteenth notes which the erudite David deplores as lacking in the fixed chromatic scale of the piano.

What would that greater Strauss, the composer of the "Blue Danube Waltz," have said if such a proposal had been made when he was filling the world with the vibration of his harp strings? Or if some innovator had come into his home to destroy his piano? How does his spirit react to this strange psalm of the modern David?

No one need fear that the piano will ever become extinct. It may be confined to a permanent scale, but it has done so much with that permanent scale to keep music alive that even the noisiest jazz hound is unable to make "tonal expression" a satisfactory substitute. Would the most advanced musical modernist care to hear Mendelssohn's Spring Song or Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata crashed out on a battery of saxophones and snare drums? Or would he deny, on the other hand, that the piano is capable of producing an entirely satisfactory version of the Funeral Blues?

USING GASOLINE

We are going somewhere. Back in 1926 the per capita consumption of gasoline was ninety-four gallons. This year it will be more than 135 gallons. Papa and Mama must be having a longer haul.

CONFESSION

By James J. Montague

There's a zest in the breath of the blizzard
As it sweeps from the snow-covered pole,
There's a pulse-stirring thrill in its keen stinging chill
That is good for the indolent soul.
Whoever has dwelt in the tropics
Where even the ocean is warm
Will be stirred to the quick by the sting and the flick
Of a rip-roaring midwinter storm.
But I live in the North, and I merely require

There's a joy in arising at daylight,
And taking a good healthful run
Through the damp morning dew while the day is still new,
And as yet unillumed by the sun.
Only sluggards can sleep through the dawning
When the birds call them forth to the hills,
And the laboring throng marches gaily along
To its toil in the marts and the mills.
I would also be up at the dawning's first peep
Except for the fact that I rather would sleep.

There's a pleasure in hard, useful labor
That nothing in life can excel,
Those who try it, I learn, can with calm unconcern
Bid the pastimes of leisure farewell.
To be always at work and achieving
Gives existence a purpose and aim,
And one dies more content if his days he has spent
In joyously playing the game.
But I am an idle and indolent oaf
And I always have found it more pleasant to loaf.

BOYHOOD OF FAMOUS AMERICANS

XVII

JOHN HAYS HAMMOND

[This is the seventeenth of a series of eighteen articles on the boyhood of famous Americans and telling how they got their start in life.]

BY J. V. FITZ GERALD

The boys started on horseback from San Francisco to Oakland. Their aunt, with whom they were staying while their father was in the East, consented to the trip. They took a small compass, a shotgun, fishing tackle and $60 in money with them. Blankets were also in the extra equipment, for the lads planned on doing a bit of camping before and after they visited their friends in Oakland.

John Hays Hammond, the older of the two lads, was 14 years old. His brother was two years younger. They had been brought up in the California of Civil War days and they were accomplished riders and skilled in the ways of the great outdoors by the time most boys of today are still playing with toys.

Their father, a graduate of West Point and an army officer detailed to duty in California, had taught them self-reliance, a love for outdoor life and instilled in them a spirit of adventure from the time they were able to walk. So it wasn't unnatural that they should make up their minds to see something of the world instead of merely taking the ride to Oakland and back to San Francisco.

They had heard much of the Yosemite Valley, then a comparative wilderness, and they turned their horses' heads in that direction, seeking the adventure that appealed so much to their venturesome dispositions.

Occasionally they stopped at small hotels, but for the greater part they slept in the open. They shot their own game, varied their diet with the fish that abounded in the mountain streams and thrived on their own cooking. By the time they reached the Yosemite they still had a substantial part of their money left.

From there they ventured into Nevada and by the time their father returned from the East and traced them through express company agents they had ridden approximately 1000 miles on horseback. And all this in a period of less than three months.

While seeing the country young John had an opportunity to inspect his first quartz mine. He spent several days watching the operations there. That experience was largely responsible for his choice of mining engineering as a profession, a career in which he has gained world-wide renown and great fortune.

The trail that started with the trip to the Yosemite carried him to practically all parts of the world, through dangers and hair-raising adventures in South America, Africa and elsewhere and to friendships ranging from lowly miners to crowned heads.

John Hays Hammond was born in 1855 in San Francisco, to which his father, who had been a major in the Regular Army during the Mexican War, had been detailed. His mother was a sister of Col. Jack Hays, famous as a Texas Ranger, and later the Sheriff of San Francisco. Young Hammond spent much time at his uncle's home. His mother died when he was a little fellow.

His father and uncle, between them, taught him to ride, to swim and to hunt. He proved that he was an apt pupil when he and his brother made their 1000-mile trip into the wilds depending largely on their skill with rod and gun to live as they rode through the lonely and rugged country.

The youngster was educated in the public schools of San Francisco. Later he went to a private preparatory school in New Haven to qualify for admission to Yale. He was enrolled in college at the age of 17 and was graduated in 1876. At Yale he was a classmate of former President Taft.

From Yale he went to Germany, where he spent three years in the Royal School of Mines at Freiberg. He returned to the United States and went to work for Senator George Hearst of California at $75 a month. His father wanted him to be a civil engineer, but the lure of mining was too great and he turned down a better paying job with a railroad to begin his chosen career.

He made progress enough to warrant him in going into business for himself. For a time he was too poor to pay an office boy and swept out his own office. He rode through the dangerous Apache country on a business mission in 1882, later almost losing his life in troublesome Mexico.

He came into world-wide prominence when he went to South Africa to act as an expert for Barney Barnato and Cecil Rhodes at their vast diamond holdings. He was accused of being implicated in the Jameson raid on the Transvaal Republic and was sentenced to death. But he was pardoned and went on to greater fame and fortune.

Santa Ana's Wooden Leg

Visitors to the patent office at Washington wonder how Gen. Santa Ana's wooden leg happens to be on exhibition there. This is how: Realizing he was in danger of being captured at the battle of Cerro Gordo in the Mexican War, Santa Ana got on a mule and fled, leaving his cork leg in the carriage in which he was riding. Private Abraham Waldren of Company G, Fourth Illinois Regiment, first to get to the carriage, appropriated the wooden leg. He sold it to three of his buddies, John Gill and Sam and Frank Rhodes, who took it home as a souvenir of the war. In 1862 they decided to send it to Washington where it has been on display ever since.

Again What of the Father?

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A few days ago I called attention to the inhuman brute known as a libertine. That time I referred to a babe being deserted by its 17-year-old mother.

Today a 20-year-old girl is dead and an aged doctor who was doubtless beseeched—pleaded with to save her from disgrace and yielded—now must face in his old age jail bars; and we—the people—refuse even so much as to ask as to the author of her disgrace. Were we honest men and women we would hunt down the man who caused her death and the disgrace and probable punishment of that aged man who, attempted to save her and her friends from a perpetual disgrace—we would follow that young libertine to the ends of the earth and bring him to justice. Force these illicit fathers to care for the babes they bring into this life and then these girls will be saved from shame and death as recorded in today's papers.

Told in a Picture

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A whole sermon is brought to light in that splendid cartoon, "Two Pulpits," in this morning's Sunday Times.

Your portrait in the splendid cartoon, one pulpit with the word of God and the Staff of the Shepherd, alongside of the pulpit with the microphone and muckrake, is pertinent and telling, makes one's heart full of the dawning of salvation. And in this cartoon we see the birth into the world of Him whose life, death, teaching and grace were to bring deliverance to mankind. What a tower of strength you set up to those who are tossed about by the blasts of a vain doctrine, the fleeting views and opinions which chase each other up and down the field of speculation and which ride in fury over souls.

Your cartoon elevates worship into its true place and it falls especially to our responsibility to see to it, that God may continue to be worshiped with all the dignity and the honor which His worship demands. Muckracking of the type of one Methodist pulpit is not serving the Lord.

Meet the Family

BARSTOW, Sept. 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Wandering about out here on the desert I have come on yesterday's Times wherein The Lancer laments the noise made by the children around him and wishes they would learn from the Indian children, etc. I have often wondered why Harry doesn't hie away to the children of nature whose praises he is continually singing. I am as genuine a friend to the Indian as he is, I am sure; but I think I know a little more about the noble red men than Harry does. I only wish The Lancer and all the other gushing sentimentalists like him who sing the praises of the simple children of nature and their way of life, might be condemned to six weeks without respite of life in a Navajo hogan or a Hopi pueblo; eating and drinking the filth, absorbing the germs, inhaling the odors and picking up the insectivora which belong thereto. Not camping among them, but actually living right in with them, I believe the illustrious Harry would be completely cured of his mawkish longing for the Indian way.

A Telling Rejoinder

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Have been reading in today's Times that telling rejoinder by James Warnack to the lurid gospeling of Dr. Guild on the subject of religious tolerance.

I shudder to think, sir, of the all-consuming wrath that would be aroused were a similar outburst perpetrated by a representative of any other creed or philosophy, religious or otherwise—and rightly so. But, of course, the stinging rebuke administered by a man in Mr. Warnack's position, and by a religious thinker and idealist of well-proven brilliancy such as he, leaves little to be desired, except an honest recantation voluntarily rendered.

As for The Times, its unflagging devotion to the cause of enlightenment and high-minded equality in all matters has been proven for the nth time.

Escape Death Penalty

We learn from the warden of Sing Sing prison that there are about 11,000 murders in the United States every year. Fewer than 100 of these thousands of murderers pay the death penalty. Apparently capital punishment hasn't much to do with murder. The criminal, not being normal, hasn't much interest in death penalties. And if he is interested and thoughtful he can readily figure out that his chances of going to the chair or the gallows are not great.

OPENING OF THEATER TO BE TONIGHT

Civic Leaders will Join in Dedication of Gift to City from Col. Griffith

Leading citizens representing organizations which have been largely responsible for developing this city to its present prominence as a center of industry, trade and art, will figure in the dedication of the Griffith Park Greek Theater tonight.

John C. Austin, noted architect, as president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, will preside and introduce Mayor Porter and other city officials, and Louis H. Roseberry, vice-president, Security-First National Bank. Mr. Roseberry will make the formal presentation of the theater in behalf of the bank which, as trustee under the will of its donor, the late Col. Griffith J. Griffith, was charged with the final consummation of the benefaction, in co-operation with the Board of Park Commissioners. The gift will be accepted by the Mayor.

L. E. Behymer, pioneer resident and impresario who has brought the artists of the world before Los Angeles audiences, will officiate as master of ceremonies of a program of noted performers which he has arranged for the occasion. These include Alice Gentle, prima donna soprano; Georgia Starke, coloratura, recently of the Bracale and Philadelphia opera companies; Don Jose Mojica, tenor, Chicago Civic Opera Company; Chief Yowlache, Indian basso cantante; Ellen Beach Yaw, coloratura; the Smallman A Cappella Choir; Norma Gould dancers; Francis Josef Hickson and his Greek players and others.

Although this new outdoor theater among the rolling hills in Vermont Canyon accommodates only 4419 people, all of Los Angeles is invited to listen to the program which will be broadcast over KNX beginning at 8 p.m.

This newest amphitheater, described by theatrical experts as the most perfectly designed and equipped in the world, has the added distinction of being the only municipally owned Greek theater in this country.

NINE NAMED BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY

Indictments Charge Dry Act, Immigration and Other Law Violations

In five true bills returned yesterday by the Federal grand jury nine persons were indicted on various charges.

Four men, Loynal Chase, Charles Peckart, Claude Cooper and Bob Burke, were accused of conspiracy to manufacture liquor on a large scale in San Diego county. Their bonds were set at $4000 each.

Harry Troester of Riverside county was accused of forging a narcotic prescription. Marie Mathen Fusco was accused of illegal entry into the United States by way of San Ysidro, after having been deported once. Larry Dickinson was accused of violating the Dyer Act in transporting a stolen car from State to State. Joe Carrao and Mrs. Joe Carrao were accused of violating the National Prohibition Act.

Eye-on-Ball in Golf Swing Costs $5445

Keeping his eye on the ball when he swung his golf club cost Dewey L. Reems, restaurateur, $5445 yesterday when a jury in Superior Judge Craig's court gave judgment for that amount to Frances L. Clark. She sued for $20,194, asserting that her skull was crushed and her memory impaired by a blow from a golf club swung at a ball by Reams.

Miss Clark said she and Reams played a friendly twosome on the Griffith Park links June 3, 1928, and that Reams swung his golf club "negligently, unlawfully and without regard to her safety," hitting her and causing the injuries asserted.

Reams asserted in his answer Miss Clark failed to step back out of danger when he started his swing. However, he did not appear in court to contest the suit.

Lowe Children's Rites Conducted

Funeral services for the three children of Robert E. Lowe of Moneta, whose sudden death on the 13th inst. was found to have been due to infantile paralysis, and not poison as at first suspected, were conducted in Roosevelt Memorial Cemetery yesterday. Notwithstanding announcement that the services would be private and at the graveside, a crowd collected. The two smaller children were laid to rest in one coffin and one grave.

The Lowe home at 1550 Chapman street, where are two more of the children is under quarantine, established as a precautionary measure, county physicians state. The two remaining children are at the General Hospital, but are sufficiently recovered to be ready for release shortly.

Wife Divorces Same Husband for Third Time

A third divorce from the same husband was won yesterday by Mrs. Clara Kornowski when Superior Judge Hazlett gave her a decree, dissolving her third marriage with Joseph Kornowski. The Kornowskis originally married in 1913, she divorcing him in 1915, remarrying in 1917 and divorcing him the second time in 1928, the records show. Mrs. Kornowski asserts that in July, 1928, Kornowski shot at her and threatened to kill her if she did not marry him a third time. They married August 14, 1928, and separated September 20, 1929.

The wife complained that Kornowski insisted on her working in his grocery twelve hours a day and that when she did, he became intoxicated and also gambled away $2000. For his family's table he sent home from his grocery decayed meats and vegetables, Mrs. Kornowski added.

With her divorce Judge Hazlett awarded the wife custody of her children, Joseph, 14 years of age; Clarence, 11, and Fred, 7.

Twin Divorce Suits Both Hit Drink Habit

Sauce for the goose was not sauce for the gander, and vice versa, in the home of Mrs. Katie Simmons and George Francis Simmons, each of whom liked to drink, but didn't like the other's intemperate habits, it appeared from their similar divorce actions on file in Superior Court yesterday.

When Simmons came home and found his wife intoxicated, she would throw dishes at him, and once hit him with an ice pick, he asserts. Then when Mrs. Simmons would encounter her husband in a state of intoxication, he would use the ice pick on her and kick her, she asserts. Each denies the other's charges. The couple have been married three years and nine months, according to the complaints.

HOW WHITE IS WHITE?

WE USUALLY think of newly laundered things as pure white. But the truth is that most of the time they are not white at all. Sometimes they are gray, sometimes they are yellow, and sometimes they are even blue. It all depends on the soap.

White things will emerge from washing absolutely white if they are washed with a soap that is absolutely pure. And White King Granulated Soap is pure. No "filler" or foreign matter—nothing but the finest vegetable and nut oils, good enough to eat!

It's economical too! Because White King is condensed, a little of it goes a long way. One teaspoonful in a wash basin, one cupful in the washing machine—plenty, even in hard or lukewarm water. Safe and swift for blankets . . . dishes . . . delicate colored fabrics. Your grocer has it.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

CONSTIPATION A SYMPTOM OF BAD HABIT OR ONE-SIDED DIET

If the mother were not impelled to any absurdity to prevent baby's missing a regular movement, constipation might not be one of the universal ailments of infancy and childhood. The use of laxatives of all kinds is almost a national characteristic. Every medicine chest is provided with a half-dozen kinds and their frequent use supposedly prevents and cures all ills.

We want to persuade the mother that constipation would have some chance of being cured if she corrected its cause instead of temporarily banishing the symptoms. The giving of laxatives is usually followed by an even more stubborn constipation, so there is never any end in sight—just constipation, laxative, constipation, laxative in a never-ending circle.

WHAT IS WRONG?

What is wrong when the child is constipated? In the nursing baby, clearing the intestine of the meconium present at birth should rightly be followed by perhaps a day or more of inactivity. The baby eats very seldom these first few days and there cannot be any natural bowel activity until there is a stimulating amount of residue to be excreted. If the constipation is continuous, look to baby's gain in weight. That usually tells the story of insufficient nourishment.

With the older child, constipation is usually a bad habit, or may be caused by one-sided diets too overburdened in one particular element; or too sweet formulas; or too rich formulas; or formulas with too much milk and no sugar at all; or diets lacking bulky, indigestible foods such as vegetables and fruits; or malnutrition because of insufficient food; or because the food, for some cause, is vomited.

Mrs. X wants to know what to do for a 17-months-old child who is perfectly well, but always constipated. The diet is good—a quart of certified milk, two servings of whole wheat cereal, fruit, a vegetable and cod liver oil. She wants to know if malted powder added to the milk will help.

CORRECTIVE MEASURES

The malted powder might prove laxative and is worth trying. Also scraped raw apple, orange juice or prune pulp is most effective on an empty stomach. Feed it about twenty minutes before breakfast. Give several glasses of water daily. Twenty minutes after breakfast take the child to the toilet. A five-minute massage of the bowels is helpful and also the use of a low chamber, which is most encouraging to natural action. If there is none in about five minutes, use a well-oiled suppository of soap or glycerine and thus establish prompt action daily. Keep up this program for at least three weeks.

Our leaflet on "Methods of Helping Constipation," as well as the diet for this age, will be helpful. Enclose with your request a self-addressed, stamped envelope, please. Your present menu could be improved by another vegetable and by eggs, chicken, meat or fish served at the noon meal.

School Hankies

There are few children who can tell where their handkerchiefs are when they return from school. Why not buy a yard of cotton material and cut into squares? These can be neatly hemmed on the sewing machine and used for school. The linen ones will then be available when needed.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

SAMMY JAY HAS SOMETHING TO SAY

Possession is the rule of might;
But this is often far from right.
— Sammy Jay.

Sammy Jay, who most of the time knows most of what is going on, occasionally visited Impy, the black Chipmunk, and little Mrs. Impy. He liked to stop for a bit of gossip now and then. Now, there is no one with a wiser head on his feathered shoulders than Sammy Jay. Sammy is smart. He always was smart. He was smart from the time when he first poked his bill through the shell of an egg. So there isn't much going on anywhere in the Green Forest, in the Old Orchard, on the Green Meadows or up in the Old Pasture that Sammy doesn't know about. If you want the news of any of these places go to Sammy Jay for it.

It was shortly after Chatterer the Red Squirrel had driven Impy and Mrs. Impy away from the nut trees that Sammy dropped down on a fence post near their home. His sharp eyes noted right away that something was wrong with the two young Chipmunks.

"Hello!" exclaimed Sammy. "What is the matter with you folk?"

"Nothing," replied Impy rather shortly.

Sammy cocked his head on one side and his bright eyes twinkled. "Would you look any happier if something was the matter?" he demanded.

Little Mrs. Impy had a sudden and bright thought. Sammy Jay would be likely to know who owned the nuts on those trees. "Neighbor Jay," said she, "there is something the matter and I believe you can help us."

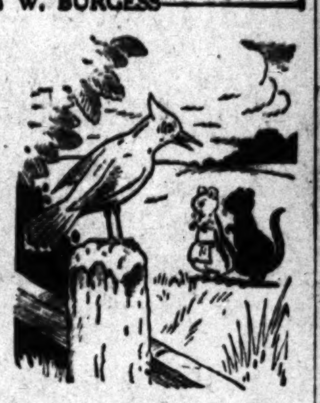
"I am always ready and glad to help anyone as pretty as you," replied Sammy Jay gallantly.

"Who owns the nuts on those trees over there?" asked Mrs. Impy.

"Whoever gets them," replied Sammy promptly.

"Chatterer the Red Squirrel says they all belong to him," spoke up Impy.

"Chatterer would," chuckled Sammy. "Those nuts don't belong to him any more than they belong to you or to me. Chatterer will get his share of them, but no more. A number of people are interested in those nuts."



"Hello!" exclaimed Sammy. "What is the matter with you folks?"

"We are," spoke up little Mrs. Impy. "We want some of them to store away for winter, but Chatterer says we cannot have any."

"That sounds like Chatterer," replied Sammy. "He knew that you didn't know the laws of the Green Forest. He knew that you have had no experience. He probably is chuckling to himself right now because he made you run away. He probably thinks he scared you so that you will never come back, and this would just suit him. You see, Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel and Rusty the Fox Squirrel will each demand a share of those nuts, and he thinks that the fewer he has to share them with the more he will get himself."

"Will he fight if we don't run the next time?" asked Impy.

"Chatterer is no coward. That much I'll have to say in his favor," said Sammy. "He is a good fighter and he isn't afraid of some one bigger than himself. But you are two to his one. So I guess if you stand up to your rights you will be able to hold him. But why all this trouble about nuts now? It isn't nut time yet."

"We were just looking things over and planning ahead," replied Impy.

"A good idea, a very good idea," said Sammy. "If you want some of those nuts you plan to get them and never mind what Chatterer says."

The New in Stores & Homes

Novelties, Ideas, and Suggestions

By OLIVE GRAY

Just as summer, after long months of brilliant color, of blossoms in garden and woods, betakes herself to darker tints, to browns and purples, and the neutral shades of bark and branch, so Mme. la Mode, having tired at last of brilliancy in dress, arrays herself in more somber shades for the autumn season. And her votaries, after vowing that they will never forego the flowery tints so long beloved, hasten to put on the deeper colors, and convince themselves that they always have liked them best.

Many Bead Chains

In costume jewelry, not only are the newer modes shown in many, many strands of finest beads, gathered into a single huge bead or cabachon, here and there, but often several long chains of beads are worn at once. Nor is it necessary that these multiple strands match or are even related as to shape or coloring.

Cabachon Clasps

You may purchase separately, cabachon clasps, for holding in place the several graduated strands of beads. Often, as you may have noticed, the long strings of pearls, either white or tinted, pass straight around the neck beneath the throat, and are allowed to fall free at the back of the V-shaped neck, after having been brought together by a jeweled clasp.

More Paillettes

Paillettes are taking the fashion world by storm. Not only are many of the smartest evening gowns, allovered in paillettes, but short packets paillette incrusted, are worn with gowns of chiffon or of satin, quite innocent of the glitterful trimming.

An ensemble for evening wear seen in an exclusive shop, was incrusted from neck to train in glittering black sequins, had a jacket of the same and a tiny turban, also of paillettes.

Latest in Lace

Not only is lace yardage treasureful, at present, and lace collars, especially of the heirloom type, are a gracious addition to the frock for afternoon or evening, but one may purchase, at the neckwear sections, lace neckpieces to be sewed to the neckline, whether it be V'd or round, flowery pieces in the pattern of the collar extending down upon the bodice, these to be appliqued.

Hank'y Trims

Tiny little tucked in handkerchiefs of fine linen, or ninon, are sometimes used as sole trimming for the black frock, a 'kerchief passing through bands in lieu of cuffs, on either sleeve, and the same effect produced at the point of the neck V in front.

French Knotted

One of the new berets—and there is a new one every day at stroke of 12—has the crown allovered in French knots. Sometimes these knots are fashioned from chenille of a tint identical with the color of the hat; again they are in contrast.

A Novel Peel

A novelty in chairs are those squatty ones in peeled cane. Shaped somewhat like the beach chairs—which are nothing much but backs—these peel chairs stand or sit, about five or six inches from the floor, are square in shape and look very comfortable and inviting.

Brilliant Cording

Round cording, set with brilliants may be purchased by the yard. This cord is convenient for many purposes. To outline the neck of the bodice; to be used as shoulder straps for the evening gown; for, on ever so many purposes sartorial—this rhyne-set cord.

Huge Shawls

All-enveloping shawls, in woolen weave of brightest tints, are among the offerings most attractive, for these first chilly days and nights. For motoring, for lounging on the beach, for porch use on foggy mornings, these warm, wrappy shawls. Their very coloring, would start the day right, if glimpsed on first awakening.

Anti-Smells

An excellent make in dress shields comes daintily boxed, and with each set—guess what! A tiny shaker filled with deodorant powder. Now, let us devoutly pray that some of those whom we pass along the street, and others who sometimes sit beside us on the cars, may find these shields—and purchase them! And use them and their little shakers.

Wide Rick-Rack

After some search for an edging to complete the collar and vestee set that she was making, Editha found a very wide rick-rack braid which proved most satisfactory as a finish. The pure white not being exactly what she wished, as her collar set was in eggshell, she changed the braid to match it, using a paper of that just-right dye so vaunted by her friends.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

The Coal Problem

Be sure no air creeps in at the doors or windows. Weather stripping is worth its cost in these days of high-priced coal.

Be certain the asbestos wrapping on your pipes are firm and that the heat is not escaping through them into the cellar.

Be sure the heating apparatus is in perfect repair before trying to fire up. Always have the heater man look over the whole system when he comes to clean out the pipes for the winter.

Away for the Winter

Now that you are through with your porch furniture and before putting it away for the winter, scrub it well with salt and water. Do not use soap. When well dried wrap in newspapers and pack away until next year.

You feel safe, secure when Kotex is your sanitary protection

It is a comfort to know you are using the very same sanitary pad leading hospitals prefer.

USE every single day . . . for work or play . . . unhampered. Kotex makes it possible.

Kotex, you know, is the sanitary pad that has completely altered the lives of women, everywhere. Sports, the races, all the outdoor activities you love need not be interfered with. This sanitary protection is so trustworthy, so comfortable, so secure.

It really fits, because every detail of its design has been carefully considered. Rounded and tapered, Kotex is inconspicuous under any type of frock.

It deodorizes, too

Daintiness is possible, under difficult circumstances, because Kotex deodorizes thoroughly. Comfort is assured. The Cellucotton — not cotton — absorbent wadding (of which Kotex is made) is not awkward or bulky. It is laid in many thin, air-cooled layers—and, by actual test, it absorbs five times as much as fine surgical cotton.

Perhaps the most important contribution Kotex has made to women's ease-of-mind is the fact that it is so easily disposed of. The advantages of that feature can hardly be overestimated, as you know, once you've used Kotex.

Where the blood is in such a toxic condition, eczema may follow friction or rubbing on the surface of the body, such as from woolen underwear, but the breaking out often results from no apparent skin irritation. There are some trade eczemas, such as affect chocolate dippers, painters, dyers, etc., but I am sure that the original toxic causes must first exist. Eczema is not contagious. It is not restricted to any age.

The crust which appears on infants' scalps is a mild form of this trouble. Many young children suffer from this trouble, but it must come from wrong feeding, as these cases are quickly cured by putting the child on the right diet. In case of infants, the milk formula must be corrected; if the baby is breast fed, then the diet of the mother should be corrected.

With the adult the cure is noticeably slower, but depends upon the correct diet treatment. Even in case of the trade eczemas where there is an outside irritation of the skin, the main object is to cleanse the blood stream of toxins induced by wrong feeding.

The best way to cleanse the blood stream quickly is to use an acid fruit juice fast similar to the directions which I gave in my recent cleansing diet course. The fast should be continued until the skin shows indications of clearing. It may then be followed by a diet of cooked and raw nonstarchy vegetables and some protein, but no sugar should be used at this time, neither should starches, such as potatoes, porridge, bread, etc. Sunbaths may be especially recommended, also local treatments of the affected part with the actinic light.

Return to the sauce pan, season with salt, and paprika, and color with a few drops of green coloring. When hot add one cupful of hot cream, then add the artichoke hearts, and serve.

$5.35 SQ. YD.

None in Los Angeles to compare with Bullock's Special Broadloom at the price! Bullock's has checked all sources of distribution and will tell you the plain facts as to why Bullock's can price this quality so low:

More than a year ago a committee of carpet experts representing an association of retail stores of which Bullock's is a member approached a well-known manufacturer of Broadloom; and offered him a standing order of thousands of yards if he would meet their specifications as to quality, depth of pile, closeness of weave, grade of wool and coloring. He committed himself to these exacting standards and because he could manufacture this Broadloom in this large quantity, he could and did reduce his price to a minimum, after which Bullock's added to value by reducing Bullock's mark-up to a minimum too! This is the story of Bullock's Quality Broadloom at $5.35 a square yard.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

ROMANCE SOARS FAR ABOVE FAIR

Riverside Throng Sees Two Made One in Plane

Jimmy Newton and Peggy Treydte Wedded in Air

Japanese Day Speakers in Praise of Displays

BY BURTON L. SMITH
"Times" Staff Representative

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 24.—Romance crowded commercialism from the center of the spotlight at the Southern California Fair here today. Prize-winning herds, magnificent displays, big pumpkins and various handicraft of the Riverside county folk were forgotten for the moment, as all interest centered in an airplane which soared above the grand stand carrying as its principal cargo "two souls with but a single thought; two hearts that beat as one."

It was the wedding day of Jimmy Newton and Peggy Treydte. The sky was their cathedral, and Rev. Berlyn H. Stokely, formerly director of young people's work in the local First Baptist Church, now pastor of a congregation in New Mexico, officiating clergyman. Just before the bridal ship sailed aloft, a second plane took to the air and maintained a higher altitude, allowing the romantic barge to sail beneath it. As the ceremony was being completed, the pilot of the ship above scattered a multitude of California blossoms as a token of good wishes to the bride and bridegroom of the air. Just so the vast audience which filled the grand stand and watched with intense interest the flight of the two planes, would not forget that a wedding was in progress, the band from Sherman Indian Institute played the familiar wedding march from Lohengrin. When the two ships returned from their trip to the sky, a great throng participated in a royal reception tendered the newlyweds.

JAPANESE HONORED

Japanese citizens of Southern California were honor guests today and were given a prominent part in the program. Consul Kato of Los Angeles, Prof. Nakazawa of the University of Southern California, and Secretary Condo of the Central Japanese Association of Southern California, all delivered addresses teeming with good wishes and compliments for the fair officials, delivered on behalf of the Nipponese of Southern California.

The principal address of the day was delivered by Congressman Swing of San Diego who elaborated upon the great development sure to follow completion of the Boulder Dam. He impressed upon his hearers the fact that institutions such as the fair now in progress, which impress upon the community the possibilities before them, are the greatest factors which will aid in the building up of a new and greater era from which the whole of the Southland will reap a rich reward. Hearty approval upon the part of the audience was given to all of the Congressman's utterances.

Many noted airmen and internationally acclaimed pilots were among the guests of the fair today. Maj. Thomas Walkup, police commissioner of Los Angeles, World War veteran, who organized the aerial unit of the Los Angles police; Edgar T. Wehm, member of the Police Commission; Homer T. Cross, deputy Chief of Police; Col. R. B. Barnitz, commander of the aerial unit, former assistant prohibition director of New York, now Los Angeles director of airports; Roscoe Turner, former holder of the American transcontinental air record; Lieut. Harry Ogden, member of the around-the-world flyers of the United States Army Air Corps; Lieutenant-Commander George Noville, who was second in command of the Byrd Atlantic flight, and Capt. "Bud" Campbell, World War pilot, and commander of the Goodyear blimp, were among the noted air-minded visitors today.

Introduction of the famous birdmen was an outstanding feature of the day.

Spanish Enchantadores, directed by Mrs. Ula Kitchen-Wolfe, a delightful Spanish orchestra, furnished the program given on the stage of the Agricultural Tent this afternoon and were well received.

EXTRA PURSE OFFERED

The horse races continue to please the large gatherings of enthusiastic fans, which daily fill the large grand stand. Tomorrow race history is supposed to result from the offer made by Fred Schweitzer, local Buick dealer, who will give $300 as an extra purse to be divided between horseowner and driver in the event the Pacific Coast time record for a half-mile track is broken, which means the trotters must go faster than 2:06 3-4 and pacers must excel 2:06 1-4. The trotting record is held by the Riverside track and the pacing mark was hung up during the recent fair at Pomona. The racing program for tomorrow includes a free-for-all trot, and free-for-all pace, besides two running races.

Tonight the Winter Garden Review delighted one of the largest evening gatherings ever recorded in the history of the Riverside Fair. The production, a bona fide Broadway offering, is far superior to the ordinary fair-ground entertainment. The review will continue as a feature every evening during the fair, and assures genuine enjoyment to night visitors at the grounds.

All attendance records for a second day of the fair were shattered today, when approximately 30,000 visitors passed the turnstiles. All exhibits and departments were filled to capacity.

Tomorrow will be Riverside Day at the Southern California Fair. It will also be Lions' Day and Kiwanis Day. The Kiwanians will be honored with the presence of their district governor, Charles E. (Pat) Millikan of Los Angeles, who will be the club's speaker at noon luncheon of the Riverside club at the Mission Inn. The clubmen will occupy a block of seats in the grand stand for the afternoon program.

A feature of the entertainment will be a husband-calling contest. Vaudeville numbers will be interspersed between the races, and band music will be furnished by the Sherman Indian organization.

HE LEAVES IN SMOKE CLOUD

Insomnia Victim Registers at Hotel, and Vanishes While Mattress Burns

ONTARIO, Sept. 24. — Mrs. J. Bliss, proprietor of a local hotel, had as one of her itinerant guests, a youth who literally left the place in a cloud of smoke, after remaining but an hour.

Mrs. Bliss reported to police that the youth registered at the hotel at 2 a.m., declaring he had had no sleep for fifty-five hours. He went to his room and an hour later Mrs. Bliss was attracted to the hallway by clouds of smoke.

She rushed into the room assigned the youth and discovered it to be ablaze, the mattress on the bed yielding huge billows of smoke. The entire business district was threatened, but in a short time the fire was extinguished.

FIRE HALL ASSURED BY ELECTION

Laguna Beach Firemen Victorious in Campaign for $20,000 Structure

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 24.—Citizens yesterday voted to construct a new fire hall, costing $20,000. The election carried by an overwhelming majority vote of 314 against 92.

The project, requiring a two-thirds majority, was turned down by the voters when offered at the city election recently. The election lost by a narrow margin so the volunteer fire department carried on a lively campaign to win at the second election. The fire department is housed in small quarters and a larger home is considered essential.

BOND ELECTION TODAY

TORRANCE, Sept. 24.—Voters of the original townsite will decide the proposed $400,000 bond issue for the construction of a municipal water plant at the polls tomorrow. The district included in the bond issue is now served by the Torrance Light and Power Company.

AGED ART AUTHORITY DIES

Armand H. Griffith, Long Superintendent of Detroit Museum, Succumbs at Santa Barbara

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 24.—The story of a man, formerly of considerable prominence in the East, who lived obscurely in Santa Barbara for sixteen years, was revealed today following the death of Armand H. Griffith, 81 years of age, in his home at 426 West Victoria street. He died late last evening.

Although his name was not known here, Griffith was considered an eminent authority in this country on art of both the old and modern masters, and counted among his friends the influential men and women of Detroit, his former home; New York City and Buffalo. He was for twenty years superintendent of the Detroit Museum of Arts. He was also a world traveler, a lecturer, an illustrator and writer.

According to his neighbors, Mrs. Margaret Chamberlain of 1316 Euclid avenue, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Grayson, he came to this city for his health and did not care to make himself known. The late David Gray, wealthy Montecitan, former resident of Detroit, and one of the original stockholders with Henry Ford, came often to see Griffith, but no one else here knew him well. He devoted his entire time to caring for his sister, Miss Georgia Griffith, a helpless invalid, who is still living. He seemed determined to live, despite everything, for his helpless sister, according to Mrs. Chamberlain.

"Mr. Griffith was very retiring and never talked about himself," explained Mrs. Chamberlain. "But we always knew he must be somebody as he was such an amusing and interesting man. We were very fond of him and loved to hear him tell of his travels. Whenever we did anything for him or his sister—any little thing—he always wanted to repay us in some way. He often gave us pictures."

And she displayed an interesting and valuable collection of small landscapes and portraits painted in oils by Griffith, all cherished by those neighbors who loved him and were so close to him but only knew that he "must have been a great man."

HAND GRENADES BURN TWO BOYS

Santa Ana Lads Find Them in Vacant Residence

They Extract Powder, Put it in Can, Apply Match

Howard Gibson Seared Badly by Resultant Blast

SANTA ANA, Sept. 24.—Discovering several hand grenades in an empty house on the E. B. Burge estate at First and Maybury street, two local boys took the grenades home, removed the powder, and ignited it in a can, with the result that one of the boys was in the Santa Ana Valley Hospital today, badly burned, and the police and Sheriff's office had a new mystery to unwind.

Upon investigation by Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff F. W. Howard and Motorcycle Officer Edward R. Jensen of the city police, it was learned that the house had been occupied up until a year ago and that the former occupant, A. J. Burge, brother of E. B. Burge, owner of the estate, did not number the grenades among his possessions. The grenades were discovered by Howard Gibson, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gibson of 1325 East First street, and Emery Steele, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Steele of 1321 East First street.

According to Burge, the boys took the explosive devices to the home of young Gibson, removed the powder and applied a match. The resultant flash burned young Gibson's face and neck, but his eyesight will probably be saved, however, it was said at the hospital. The Steele boy, also burned, was returned to his home after first-aid treatment at the hospital.

Two of the bombs were recognized as Mills hand grenades. The third, in the possession of the police, appears to be a detonator such as is used in the end of projectiles dropped from airplanes.

OIL MAN IN SUICIDE AT FIELD HOME

Isaac D. Loftus, Official of Pacific Western, Puts Bullet Through Head

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 24.—Believed to have become despondent over ill health and continued heart attacks, Isaac Daniel Loftus, 44-year-old field superintendent for the Pacific Western Oil Company, took his own life today when he shot himself in the head with a .38-caliber revolver.

B. M. Bernt, his assistant, found him lying in the kitchen of his home which was located on the lease on the western end of the Elwood Coastal field. Bernt had called on him a few minutes earlier. Loftus was in bed. Bernt suggested that since he was not feeling well he should go to the hospital.

Loftus agreed and told Bernt to get the car, according to investigations made by Coroner E. G. Dodge. Loftus promised to dress and be ready to go to town in ten minutes, Bernt told the Coroner. When he returned he found Loftus sprawled out near the kitchen table. Coroner Dodge said Loftus apparently had placed the muzzle of the gun in his mouth and pulled the trigger.

Loftus leaves a widow. She was in Modesto on a visit when the tragedy occurred.

Classifying of Gems Taught

PASADENA, Sept. 24.—To meet in the assembly hall of the Pasadena Public Library on Thursday at 7 p.m., a practical course in "Classification and Evaluation of Gem Stones" is announced by University College, night division of the University of Southern California, which is sponsoring this extension course in gemmology in this city.

Indorsed by the California Gold and Silversmiths' Association, the course will cover the history and factors affecting the value of diamonds and other important gem stones, mineralogical nature, crystallography; specific gravity, and refraction. Detection of artificial formation and imitations will be demonstrated through the use of gem-testing instruments and liquids. Lantern slides and specimens will be used.

Robert M. Shipley will have charge of the class. Mr. Shipley is said to be the only person in America who holds the degree of gemological diplomate, a degree received in 1929 at Chelsea Polytechnic School, London. The only classes in the United States similar to the ones being conducted by the University of Southern California are taught at Columbia University, according to Dr. Ernest W. Tiegs, dean of University College.

BOND RACKET DRAWS MAN TERM IN JAIL

VAN NUYS, Sept. 24. — Charles H. Risdon was found guilty on five charges of petty theft by Judge Clifford Thompson in the Van Nuys Municipal Court and sentenced to a year in jail, following conviction of practicing a new kind of "racket." According to evidence adduced, Risdon rented a string of small soft-drink stands and made prospective employees put up a cash bond which, according to police, he would pocket instead of depositing in a bank as prescribed by law. A number of victims testified in the case.

TREE TRIMMER USES SHOTGUN

Frightened Woman Calls on Police to Stop Battle, But It Was Just Job

PASADENA, Sept. 24.—A novel use for shotguns which was not reported yesterday at the meeting of the National Academy of Sciences was revealed here today.

Receiving a telephone call from a frightened woman that "there is a battle going on up here," a squad of police raced to 1730 North Fair Oaks avenue, arriving in time to see a man fire a load of buckshot into the top of a tall palm tree.

Thinking the man must have treed a mortal enemy, the officers waited breathlessly to see the victim fall, but only a palm frond fluttered downward.

The owner of the tree, Mrs. S. H. Harrison, appeared and explained that she had hired a tree trimmer, who, lacking an adequate ladder, had invented an efficient method of trimming. "That may go in the South Seas, but it's too primitive for Pasadena," a patrolman remarked as he suggested that a longer ladder might be rented from the fire department.

LITTLE GIRL MAY DIE; HIT BY TRUCK

Ruth Crow Near Death in Hospital; Driver of Vehicle Not Held

POMONA, Sept. 24.—Ruth Crow, 4 years of age, daughter of Charles Crow of Walnut, is near death in the Pomona Community Hospital as the result of being struck down while crossing the Valley Boulevard near the Walnut school yesterday by a truck driven by Placido Errava of Second and Workman street, Puente.

The child's hurts consist of a fractured skull and other injuries, according to the attending physicians, and her recovery is doubtful. Errava was released on his own recognizance, investigation having disclosed that the girl jumped in front of his truck.

Winter Rains to See No Debris in Washes in Valley

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24. According to the "law of averages" in San Fernando Valley, rain charts excessive downpours are expected in this area during the next few months.

With the first rain but a few weeks away now, the work of removing brush and other obstructions in the channels of a number of the large washes in the valley is being done under the supervision of Flood-Control Engineer E. C. Eaton.

By the time the work reaches its peak about 200 men will be given employment.

With the channels of these washes free of all debris, excessive rain water makes its way freely to Los Angeles River instead of overflowing into roads, fields and flat areas.

Inquest Finds Homicide Intent in Couts Case

ANAHEIM, Sept. 24. — Harvey Couts, fatally wounded in an altercation Monday afternoon at Stanton, met his death from "gunshot wounds inflicted by Lawrence M. Ridenour with homicidal intent," according to the findings of a Coroner's jury here today.

Ridenour, now under murder charges at Santa Ana, admitted to Harry Carter, deputy sheriff, that he fired two shots after Couts fell to the ground, the latter testified at the inquest. The confessed slayer, however, had contended that he shot in self-defense. The Sheriff's office failed to find a gun on the slain man, Carter said.

LAWNDALE WOULD BE CITY

Incorporation Petitions Prepared for Presentation to Supervisors on October 6

LAWNDALE, Sept. 24.—Petitions asking an election to decide the incorporation of this place have been advertised and are expected to be presented to the Board of County Supervisors on October 6. If granted, the election will follow at an early date, it is expected.

The present proceedings, would affect territory lying east of Inglewood-Redondo Boulevard, and north to Rosecrans from Redondo Riverside Boulevard, exclude the Alondra Park section and extend east to Cypress avenue, where it borders a part of the Western City district, where four separate annexation moves are now under way.

Three of the projects in Western City involve annexation to Hawthorne, one section having annexed a fortnight ago. This, however, is under contest, the hearing to be on October 14 in Superior Court. Two similar elections on adjoining territory are set for the 30th inst. and for October 16. A fourth tract in the Western City section has filed for permission to annext to Gardena, which was recently incorporated.

The wave of annexation and incorporation moves in this immediate vicinity during the past sixty days is the result of efforts to avoid assessments for the proposed Hollywood-Palos Verdes parkway project and to better preserve the identity of the various localities, according to their sponsors. The present action is the eighth similar move to be recorded in this section in the past two months.

UPTON SINCLAIR IN NEW ROLE

Socialist Author "Delighted" to Receive Republican Nomination for Governor of California; Printer May Have Erred in Producing Document

PASADENA, Sept. 24.—For a score of years, Upton Sinclair, the local Socialist, has excavated diligently for family skeletons in the Republican party closet, but today he "was delighted" to accept the Republican nomination for the Governorship of California.

Like many other Californians, Sinclair was laboring under the impression that Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco had received the gubernatorial bid at the recent primaries, so he was highly elated to receive official word from Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan that "Upton Sinclair has been legally chosen as the Republican party's nominee for Governor of California."

The engraved document, embellished with a gold seal, will be framed and presented as exhibit "A" whenever anyone charges Sinclair with embracing a radical philosophy.

"I understand," declared the surprised nominee, "that my nomination is tantamount to election, and I wish to extend my hearty thanks to my unknown supporters."

Mr. Sinclair was loath to comment on the rumor that a careless or facetious printer may have been responsible for substituting the word, Republican, for the word, Socialist, on the handsome notification document.

BANKER HELD TO ANSWER

Stay of Preliminary Hearing on Other Charges Given I. Isaac Irwin in Township Court

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 24.—I. Isaac Irwin, former president of the California Savings and Commercial Bank, today was bound over to Superior Court for trial under a charge of grand theft of $50,000, and obtained a stay of preliminary hearing on other charges of misappropriation of funds in connection with failure of the bank. The bank closed in July under order of Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Banks, with an estimated shortage of $198,000. The postponement was ordered by Dist.-Atty. Stephen Connell.

In anticipation of the two preliminary hearings in township court today, Irwin's attorneys, Curtis Hillyer and Irve C. Boldman, yesterday petitioned Township Justice Arthur L. Mundo for a continuance, saying their client had plans for early rehabilitation of the bank. Mundo denied the continuance, at that time, ruling that the preliminary hearing today need not interfere with the defendant's plans.

When the two cases were called as one this morning, Irwin's attorneys objected. They wanted the two cases given separate hearings. Prosecutors J. O. McKinney and B. L. Comparet consented. The first case, in which Irwin was accused of grand theft of $50,000 from the bank as of February 11 this year, was heard briefly and ended with the court holding the defendant for trial. Bail of $50,000 previously supplied by Irwin was continued in force.

As the prosecutors moved to begin hearings of the second case, involving several allied charges, the defense attorneys revived their petition for continuance. Unless delayed, the preliminary hearing would jeopardize Irwin's plans to make restitution and thus pay back all depositors in the bank. The attorneys argued. Justice Mundo granted a brief recess to enable them to consult the District Attorney, and soon word was conveyed from Connell that he consented to the desired postponement. Justice Mundo set October 6 at 10 a.m. for resumption of preliminary hearing.

He first received a direct avowal from Irwin that the banker was making "a serious effort" to make restitution, through possible agreement whereby San Francisco capitalists would assume control of and reopen the bank.

LIMA BEAN PRICES FOR CROP TOLD

California Association Announces Figures for Quick and Deferred Lots

OXNARD, Sept. 24. — California Lima Bean Growers' Association today announced opening prices on the 1930 crop for both quick and deferred shipments. The price for choice recleaned, month of October shipment, is $9.10 f.o.b. cars, California shipping point. The price for baby limas has been set at $1.65 less in 1929, the opening price was $11.05, stated Ralph L. Churchill, general manager and secretary.

Before setting the price this year, all possible factors were studied thoroughly. Depressed business conditions and comparative prices of other beans in national markets were taken under consideration by the association, Churchill stated.

Beans in other parts of the United States are selling a great deal under the lima bean, it was shown. Colorado Pinto beans were selling for $4; Idaho great northern beans at $4.75; Michigan small whites are $6.75.

Current Burns Substation Man at Beach City

REDONDO BEACH, Sept. 24.—R. W. Murphy, 47 years of age, attendant in charge of the Southern California Edison Company substation on Camino Real here, received burns which are expected to prove fatal, when he came in contact with high-voltage wires while working above the substation shortly before noon today. Workmen who turned off the current in the station brought him to the ground, with the aid of city firemen.

LAST RITES FOR MAN KILLED NEAR BISHOP

HUNTINGTON PARK, Sept. 24.—Funeral services for the late Edward Ray Heinlein of Clarendon avenue, who was killed Saturday morning when he was crushed beneath a falling tripod while at work for the Continental Drilling Company near Bishop, will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Wheat-Halverson chapel in this city. Heinlein came to this city five years ago with his parents from Long Beach. He was a graduate from the Poly High in the beach city and took a postgraduate course in the local high school. He was a member of the Long Beach De Molay lodge and also a member of the Sigma Gamma Fraternity. The deceased was 22 years of age and was married five months ago to Miss Patricia Ruth Wilson of this city.

Bond Issue for Water System Turned Down

BRAWLEY, Sept. 24.—a proposed bond issue amounting to $180,000 for the improvement of the city water system here was defeated yesterday by a vote of 504 to 210. Failure of the bond issue to receive indorsement of the voters was predicted several days ago when the Chamber of Commerce made public a committee report opposing the issue on the ground that the estimates on which it was based were excessive.

The money was to be used for the enlarging of the settling basins, a new infiltration system and other improvements.

Redlands Has More Students

REDLANDS, Sept. 24.—Registration figures for the first week at the University of Redlands show a total of 515 students on the campus. This does not include specials which take only partial courses. There will be an increase in these figures by the close of this week. This is a larger registration than at the end of the first week last year.

Class enrollments show 102 seniors this year, as compared with 89 last year; 119 juniors, as compared with 111; 129 sophomores, as compared with 124, and 143 freshmen, as compared with 151 last year. There are also twenty-two postgraduates.

The enrollment shows an increase in upper classmen due largely to transfers from junior colleges. This made it necessary to cut down the size of the freshman class this year as all women students are required to live on the campus.

Announcement was also made today of the retirement of James H. Dutro, veteran caretaker of the university buildings, because of ill health. For years he had complete charge of all the buildings but of late years has been responsible only for the chapel. His retirement places Joseph Tavelli in charge of all the buildings.

FIREMEN SAVE BABY

BEAUMONT, Sept. 24.—The infant son of Manuel Maggio of Beaumont owed his life to the inhalator squad of the Redlands fire department for the squad worked over the child two days. The baby had pneumonia and was kept alive until it could be taken to the Redlands Community Hospital where it is reported to be much improved.

VENTURA, Sept. 24.—A. J. (Al) Mehn of Ojai was nominated Commander of Ventura County Post, No. 48, the American Legion, at a meeting of all county Legion districts here last night. Approximately 150 Legionnaires attended the meeting.

Mehn was the only nominee, according to Adjutant James Shaw, and will be elected Commander when the county Legionnaires hold their election October 15, at Community Center, Oxnard.

Following the nominating of the Post Commander, District Vice-Commanders were nominated, as follows: Ventura, H. C. Brown and Edward Shield; Oxnard, Fred Hornbuckle and Edward Cerney; Santa Paula, Frank G. Nicely and John Hendry; Fillmore, Tom Walsh and Ted Zimmerman; Ojai, Harold Rider and George Busch; Moorpark, Nate Kern and Harry C. Stuart.

Valley Told Sum Needed to Finish Main Sewer Line

OWENSMOUTH, Sept. 2.—San Fernando Valley's allotment for the completion of the valley outfall sewer from Burbank to Owensmouth in the western end of the valley, will be about $862,000, it is stated here today, following the announcement that the Los Angeles City Council had voted to place a $6,000,000 bond issue on the November ballot to complete sewer line in all sections of the large Los Angeles municipal area.

This allotment also will include the construction of the proposed line to the north Los Angeles city boundary near San Fernando, where it is to be connected with the Olive View Sanatorium disposal plant.

While the question of the bond issue was before the Council it was noted that engineers had estimated $423,000 would be sufficient for the valley allotment. After figures were gone over Edgar A. Elkins of the Board of Public Works pointed out that the sum would be far from meeting the needs in the valley, and made an amendment recommending the valley's quota from the bonds be raised to $862,000.

Chamber Votes on Referendum

MONTEBELLO, Sept. 24.—The directors of the Montebello Chamber of Commerce yesterday cast a unanimous ballot favoring the four recommendations submitted by the United States Chamber of Commerce in Referendum No. 56 through the report of a special committee on commodity exchange trading. This referendum is considered very important, for as quoted by the United States Chamber "The harmful effect of incessant wide speculative fluctuations in the price of grain, upon all interests with production, conversion, distribution and export of our vast cereal crops, and upon our foreign commerce generally, is so self-evident as to seem to demand prompt remedial measures by the principal grain exchanges." With this thought in mind the referendum was submitted to ascertain the opinion of commerical organizations throughout the country.

W. F. Johnson, manager of the Montebello branch of the Security First National Bank, acting as Montebello's national councillor, made the necessary investigation and recommendation for the local board's consideration.

BURCH SILENT ON DIVORCE

Former Defendant in J. Belton Kennedy Murder Case Noncommittal on Reno Reports

Arthur C. Burch, whose three trials on a charge of murdering J. Belton Kennedy, held a place in the national spotlight in 1922, had "no comment to make" yesterday on reports from Reno that his wife is there for the purpose of obtaining a divorce.

Still the same smiling, flippant young man of the days of the famous murder trials, Burch beamed from behind the counter in his office where he sells fire extinguishers. He knew nothing new except in the line of fire extinguishers, he said.

"NO COMMENT TO MAKE"

"How about this divorce case your wife is going to file?" he was asked.

"I have no comment to make," he replied briskly.

"What is her maiden name and where is she from—you will recall that when you were married here in 1926 she said she preferred not to give her maiden name?"

"I have no comment to make."

"It was intimated that she went to Reno so that her parents would not find out who it was she really married."

"They ought to know—we were married at her parents' home."

GIVES LAWYERS' NAMES

Burch said he had no idea on what grounds the divorce would be sought. He obligingly furnished the names of his wife's attorneys at Reno but denied that he had been served with any papers.

"Well, let's have something additional," a reporter urged.

"Why not get in touch with Mrs. Obenchain and ask her for some comment?" he grinned.

Madalynne Obenchain was his codefendant in the murder charges, which were dismissed after five juries had failed to reach a verdict. Mrs. Obenchain is out of the city and has been for several weeks.

Mrs. Burch declined to state why she had gone to Reno to secure a divorce. At the time of their marriage in April, 1926, she refused to divulge to reporters her maiden name, saying merely that she was "an unsophisticated country girl whose name is Anne." Reports from Reno said her name is Irene. There are no children.

Menace of Fire Fatally Shocks Pioneer Woman

Funeral services for Mrs. Eunice Cyrenius, 80 years of age, resident of Los Angeles for nearly sixty years, will be conducted tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. from Bresee Brothers Chapel, 855 South Figueroa street.

Mrs. Cyrenius died early yesterday morning following a nervous shock she received from witnessing a brush fire near her home at 1367 La Veta Terrace. She was a native of Cleveland, O., and was the widow of Hayden Cyrenius. She was the mother of the late Belle Saurret.

Mrs. Cyrenius leaves a daughter, Mrs. Florence Whiteley; three grandchildren, H. H. Whiteley, Bessie Tedford, and Lillian Pettijohn, and nine great-grandchildren, all in Los Angeles.

SEIZED GEMS ON SALE

Two pieces of jewelry will be sold at public auction today at 10 o'clock at Room 505, Federal Building, by United States Marshal Sittel. A diamond bracelet appraised at $1200, and a matching necklace appraised at $1800, are said to have been brought into the country without payment of duty.

F. W. ROBINSON

Present constructive efforts of the trans-Pacific steamship operators will provide service comparable to that offered by any of the trans-Atlantic lines, F. W. Robinson of Omaha, vice-president in charge of traffic of the Union Pacific System, declared here yesterday in taking a forward viewpoint on tourist travel to and via the Pacific Coast. Mr. Robinson arrived yesterday from San Francisco and left last night for his headquarters in Omaha.

In commenting on general passenger travel and traffic, Mr Robinson said:

"Recovery made has been sufficient to furnish the tangible hope that general business will be fairly good during the remainder of the year."

Plans for making 1931 an all-festival year for California, including the 105th anniversary of the founding of Los Angeles, were looked upon by the Union Pacific System vice-president as certain to increase tourist travel to Southern California next year.

Mr. Robinson met with representatives of Pacific Coast interests, including railroads, steamship lines, hotels, banks and civic organizing the 150th anniversary of the Pacific Travel Bureau, designed to promote travel to California and the Pacific Ocean.

ASSERTED BUNKO MAN ARRESTED

Race Track Swindle Laid by Film Folk to Suspect Posing as Jockey

Charging he represented himself as Laverne Fator, famous jockey, and by so doing obtained sums of money totaling $15,000 from numerous persons in Hollywood's film colony, police yesterday arrested Leo Doody, 30 years of age, and held him pending investigation by the District Attorney's office. He was taken in custody at his home, 226 East Ninety-second street, by Detective Lieutenants Swan and Marshall of the bunko detail.

The officers say Doody for some time has been circulating among film folk, posing as the jockey, and stating he could fix riders at Agua Caliente to throw races. Thus, it is asserted, he received various sums from would-be bettors on the promise that he would divide the winnings. According to the detectives Doody admits he has obtained money from the complainants, but denies any fraudulent means was involved.

Asserted victims and the amounts they turned over to him, the detectives say, include Rosa Roma, operatic singer, $100; Grace Simpson, writer, $300, and Mrs. J. L. Taylor, $100.

Council Votes Against Reds' Parade Permit

The City Council yesterday declined to grant to the Communist party, United States of America, District No. 13, Section Los Angeles, a permit to parade from a point in Brooklyn avenue to Plummer Park, Santa Monica Boulevard. The Police Commission already has disapproved it.

The action was taken on recommendation of the Police and Fire Committee, Councilman Williams, member of the committee, having written a report agreed to by Chairman Martin declaring that as these people advocate overthrow of the present form of representative government, substituting a dictatorship of the proletariat, the Council should not abet nor encourage the organization.

Jury Convicts Seven Reds on Rioting Charge

After deliberating for several hours a jury in Municipal Judge Wood's court late yesterday found seven Communist sympathizers, who had been on trial for nearly three weeks, guilty of resisting arrest or of refusing to leave the scene of the Plaza rioting of February 26, last. Argument on motion for a new trial, made by their attorney, will be heard by Judge Wood on the 30th inst.

A new jury to try Bertha Turchinsky, radical organizer, on a battery charge growing out of the attempted Communist demonstration on March 23, last, will be selected today. Trial of twenty-seven other defendants, accused of other offenses on the same date, was delayed until the 30th inst. by Judge Wood.

Husband Search Also Finds Wife

Mrs. Victoria Solano's request that Deputy Sheriff Sepulveda aid her in finding her husband, Severano Solano, 41 years of age, yesterday resulted in Solano not only being found but also placed under arrest for San Bernardino authorities on a bigamy accusation.

Sepulveda reported that he found Solano living with another wife at 1610 East First street, who claimed to have married him in 1924. Investigation disclosed, according to the officer, that Solano subsequently left the woman and last April married Victoria Garcia, leaving her in Colton eight days ago to come to Los Angeles to live with wife No. 1.

SINGER TO HEAD BILL AT MILLION

Other Acts Scheduled; "Anybody's Woman" Booked as Screen Offering

Walter Richardson, who scored in London in the Ziegfeld "Showboat" company, as well as at other European centers, will be one of the featured attractions on the new vaudeville bill opening at the Million Dollar Theater today.

Other acts include Santo, the Spanish clown; Nile Marsh, female impersonator; the four dancers who were features in the Warner pictures, "Sally" and "The Gold Diggers of Broadway," and two other stage offerings.

Authenticity of Epic Film Noted

Five thousand reports on the history of the Civil War and the periods immediately leading up to and following the conflict were perused for authentic data for the filming of "The Birth of a Nation," originally produced sixteen years ago and now in the second week of its engagement at the President Theater in the new sound version.

The scene depicting the assassination of President Lincoln, Ford's Theater, Washington, is reproduced to the smallest detail, it is said, and the scene itself taken in the presence of eyewitnesses.

DEL RUTH ON LOCATION

Roy Del Ruth, Warner Brothers director, accompanied by his troupe, has departed for Catalina, where exterior scenes for "Ex-Mistress" are being filmed. Del Ruth expects to finish by the middle of this month.

"Sea Wolf" and Ceballos Stage Show Due Today

Milton Sills is said to have achieved one of the most notable performances of his career in "The Sea Wolf," opening today at Loew's State Theater, as his final contribution to the art of talking pictures.

Jack London's story, from which this new Fox production was adapted, tells a story of strange happenings on a ship commanded by a man whose philosophy of life is the rule of the survival of the fittest.

The presence of a beautiful girl and a derelict youth on the boat lends romance. These characters are portrayed by Jane Keith and Raymond Hackett. Alfred Santell directed.

The new Fanchon and Marco stage offering is "Fountain of Youth." It is staged by Larry Ceballos. Lotti Loder, Viennese stage player, will appear in person.

Norma Shearer Has Chief Role in New Picture

She appears in the opening sequence as a dowdy housewife, who is so busy with her household duties that she neglects her husband's affections, and when she discovers his infidelity, she leaves him and goes to Paris for a three years' course in the art of wearing clothes and obtaining "it."

Rod La Rocque plays the role of the philandering-but-repentant husband, and Marie Dressler depicts the part of an old dowager whose intrigue almost wrecks the marital bark. Included in the supporting cast are Raymond Hackett, Gilbert Emery, Hedda Hopper and Sally Eilers. Robert Z. Leonard directed.

"ANIMAL CRACKERS" NOW AT EGYPTIAN

The Marx Brothers, who create hilarity on stage and screen, will be seen in "Animal Crackers," starting today at Grauman's Egyptian Theater.

The film is called a jamboree of joy, with Groucho, Harpo, Chico and Zeppo Marx competing with each other for laughs. Lillian Roth, Margaret Dumont, Louis Sorin and others are in support. Victor Heerman directed.

Spectacular Finale Lures in De Mille Feature

'Madam Satan' Shows at the Criterion Theater

Kay Johnson, Penny, Roland Young Head Cast

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Testing the capacity of the sound screen for spectacular dazzle, not to say razzle-dazzle, Cecil B. De Mille's "Madam Satan" opened yesterday at the Criterion Theater and drew exceptionally large audiences. A pretentious cast appears in this farcical social marathon of noise and photographic effects and gives evidence at times of singular powers of endurance.

De Mille is still the master of the circusy exploit. He discloses this in "Madam Satan" when to the accompaniment of a veritable pandemonium he smashes up a Zeppelin and sends a throng of masquerade dancers hurtling into midair in parachutes. The roar during this theatrical climax is deafening and is augmented by an unearthly clatter and strident shrieking of the metal framework as it is riven apart. Such an ear-assailing storm of sound has seldom if ever been heard from the loud-speakers and if realism be the word, then the De Mille production seems to have plenty of it, at least in these scenes.

CARNIVAL ATMOSPHERE

Practically everything in "Madam Satan" leads up to this pictorial and audible cataclysm, if you want to call it that. Indeed, I would say that the entire Zeppelin sequence consumes more than half the footage of this feature, and the actual collapse of the airship is preceded by a long and raucous carnival party that runs wild with fantastic glitter.

The general impression of the De Mille picture is that it is too much in one key. The superabundance of sound palls, and leaves one weary. Besides, there is a staginess about the whole result that casts anything approaching conviction to one side.

The earlier portion of the picture discovers a commonplace estrangement between a husband and wife. The husband is a playboy, while the wife has turned to remote social interests, and is accused by her spouse of having a "below-zero" temperament.

With the scene transferred to the apartment of the husband's girl friend, the film becomes a sort of boudoir farce, and this, as it happens, manages to be the most diverting portion of the production. It is of vintage character, not unlike "Twin Beds" and other light froth of that period, but thanks to the efforts of Roland Young, particularly, succeeds in being very amusing.

Virtually all of the plot revolves around this episode and the Zeppelin sequences, but it would seem that both are unduly prolonged. This is especially true of the carnival.

The picture, in its entirety, does not compare with "Dynamite," for the plot is thin and the dialogue lacks the real edge of brightness. There are song numbers, but none noteworthy.

SPECTACLE ATTRACTION

The picture, therefore, offers spectacle as its main attraction, plus the work of Kay Johnson, Roland Young, Reginald Denny and Lillian Roth, who are much handicapped by the artificiality of their roles and the lines they have to speak.

Costumes and settings, extreme though they may be, are a fulfillment of the designer's art. In fact, a sartorial holiday should be declared to commemorate this event.

The original story of "Madam Satan" was written by Jeanie Macpherson, and the dialogue by Gladys Unger and Elsie Janis. Principals in the cast outside of the four leading ones include Elsa Peterson, Boyd Irwin, Tyler Brooke, Theodore Kosloff and others, most of whom are but members of the crowd which seems endlessly to occupy the screen during the carnival.

A good travesty on "The Broadway Melody" is furnished by the all-canine barkie, "The Dogway Melody." It is the plot of the original in tabloid form, and much burlesqued. There is worthy humor in this idea.

Yiddish Troupe Presents Play by Markowitz

"Man, Woman and Devil," by J. Markowitz, in three acts and a prologue, was presented last night by Cogut's Yiddish Players at the Beaux Arts Theater. The same play will be repeated tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Last night's play was the most ambitious, from a production standpoint, undertaken so far by the local Jewish ensemble. Ben Adler was responsible for a notable performance as the revolutionary leader who suffers exile and degradation at the hands of fate.

Macloons will Hear Singers

In the hopes of securing a fine singing organization, Lillian Albertson and Louis O. Macloon will interview singers upon the stage of the Figueroa Playhouse today, tomorrow and Saturday afternoons, according to an announcement.

The Macloons are preparing plans toward the casting of their latest operetta, "The Violette of the Montmartre," the rights of which they purchased for England and America and which will be done here in November.

Clarence Brown to Direct Star

Clarence Brown is rapidly completing preparations for directing Greta Garbo in "Inspiration," the fifth picture in which the director and star have been associated at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. As soon as the cast is assembled rehearsals will commence for this talking picturization of the story of modern Parisian life.

NANCE O'NEIL WINS R.-K.-O. LEAD

Frederic March to Play Opposite Claudette Colbert; Constance Bennett Takes Test for Fox Role; Melford Forges to Fore as Spanish Director

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

When that capital comedy, "The Queen's Husband," is made into a picture by R.-K.-O., it will have in the role of the queen the brilliant actress Nance O'Neil.

Miss O'Neil has just been signed for the part, according to word received yesterday. At present she is busy playing in "Resurrection" for Universal.

Lowell Sherman, the actor-director, is to play the name role, and the remainder of the film's cast will shortly be selected.

FREDRIC MARCH GETS LEAD ROLE

Fredric March seems destined to become a permanent resident of New York City.

According to an announcement made yesterday by B. P. Schulberg, the actor will remain in New York for his third screen role. He has just been assigned to share honors with Claudette Colbert in the untitled film play which will mark Miss Colbert's return to the screen following a 'round-the-world tour.

FREDRICK MARCH

March made the transcontinental trip eastward early in the summer to play in "Laughter" with Nancy Carroll and Frank Morgan. Immediately afterward he was assigned one of the star parts in "The Royal Family," and now comes the decision to hold him in Manhattan for his role with Miss Colbert.

CONSTANCE BENNETT TAKES FOX TEST

One of the best dramatic roles which Fox has had to offer in some time, we hear, may go to Constance Bennett.

This role is in a story not yet ready for announcement. Miss Bennett is known to have taken a screen and voice test for the part.

CONSTANCE BENNETT

The actress is one of the most important drawing cards on the screen at present. She is under contract to Pathe, and is at present appearing in a Pathe feature. She has already appeared in one picture for Fox, and is said to have given a brilliant performance.

Esther Ralston on Air

While it does seem a pity to hide a beauty like Esther Ralston's under any sort of metaphorical bushel, the fact remains that Miss Ralston is to give over at least a part of her services to the radio.

ESTHER RALSTON

Negotiations are on, with little doubt as to the result, between the star and a certain radio company for Miss Ralston to give a series of beauty talks on the air. Miss Ralston gave a similar series of talks on beauty culture while she was in New York.

Spanish Version Planned

Having directed "East Is West" and other Spanish versions for Universal, he is now engaged to preside over "Dracula," which is to be made in Spanish.

George O'Brien Travels

One is constrained to say, George O'Brien is flying to New York, wasn't he? So swift are those air birds.

The fact is, the Fox star left Tuesday night for the eastern metropolis via airplane, accompanied by a trio of army officers and in an army plane. He is expected to arrive at his destination today. And, due to difference in time, he may already, by the time you read this, be walking up Broadway.

LUBITSCH FILM WILL START RUN

"Monte Carlo," Featuring Jeanette MacDonald, Jack Buchanan, Due Today

"Monte Carlo," Ernst Lubitsch's new production, comes to the Paramount Theater today in conjunction with a new stage show, "Take It Easy."

Lubitsch gathered together a brilliant cast for the picture headed by Jeanette MacDonald and Jack Buchanan. "Monte Carlo" is said to be a more entertaining production that his "Love Parade." Buchanan sings several duets with Miss MacDonald. The story centers about gay places in France.

With the Pacific Coast premiere of the stage show, Rubinoff, violinist, will be featured. The remaining acts include Nelson and Knight, Nat Spector, Babe Morris and Franklin and Warner.

R.-K.-O. Offers Melodrama on Screen Today

The tempestuous star of "Sorrel and Son," "Shanghai Lady," "Undertow" and other films, Mary Nolan, again has the chief role in "Outside the Law," which opens a week's run today at the R.-K.-O. Theater. The chief supporting players in this drama of the underworld are Owen Moore and Edward G. Robinson.

In the star spot of the new vaudeville program are the Berkoffs, noted dancers, in "Russian Revels." Also included in the variety unit are Don Galvin, guitarist from Spain; Bert Walton, monologist, and "Any Family," a travesty.

In the film 4-year-old Delmar Watson, who has acted on the screen since the age of 5 weeks, is introduced as a potential child star; and others of the cast are De Witt Jennings, Edwin Sturgis, John George and Rockliffe Fellowes.

"Office Wife" Breaks Record at Downtown

During the first week of the run of "The Office Wife" at Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater the production broke all existing house records, according to the management.

The story shows, it is said, how the up-to-date secretary is required to enter the social life of her employer.

The attendance for the first seven days for "The Office Wife" totaled 63,427, exceeding the house record established by "The Gold Diggers of Broadway" by 1014, the announcement says.

BOGUS MONEY PLANT RAIDED

Large Counterfeiting Ring Declared Crushed

Four Arrested and $5000 in Fake Bills Seized

Operations on Large Scale Reported Under Way

Two weeks after four men are said to have started out on a large scale to make counterfeit Federal Reserve notes of $1, $10 and $20 denominations they were arrested yesterday, according to a report by W. W. Ashe, secret service agent in charge here for the Treasury Department. The arrest of the four took place near Eighty-fourth street and Central avenue in a place rented by the four. Agent Ashe was assisted by Detective-Lieutenants Loyd, Wilson and Young.

It was reported that several thousands of dollars in fake Federal Reserve notes were passed in and near Riverside before the plot was discovered. When the officers and Ashe swooped down upon the place they found the four men and $5000 in fake notes, printing presses, engraving machines and plates.

It was reported to be one of the largest counterfeiting rings broken up here in several years. Those arrested are Robert E. Johnson, a printer, 20 years of age, held on a charge of passing counterfeit notes; Claude E. Johnson, 45, his father, held for making prints; Thomas E. Crow, 47, and Jimmie Curleo, 20, a photo engraver. The latter is said to have admitted that he made negatives and "cuts" of reserve notes.

Complaints will probably be filed against the four today before United States Commissioner Head.

MOTOR COACH FARES TO NORTH REDUCED

Winter excursion fares between Southern California and the Pacific Northwest will be placed in effect by Pacific Greyhound Lines October 1, next, it was announced yesterday by H. A. They are expected, Wooster announces, to induce tourists wintering here to return home via the north.

Members of the unit have been sworn in for special duty in the air for the department. They eventually will have special insignia on their planes, badges of a special design and maybe a special uniform.

A nonsuit yesterday ended the contest over the $62,139 estate of Mrs. Isabelle E. Hamilton, whose two sons were the opponents in a suit tried before a jury in Superior Judge Keetch's court. Charles D. Hamilton, who was left only $1000, instituted the contest, asserting that his brother, Myron T. Hamilton, who was bequeathed the bulk of the estate, unduly influenced their mother.

POLICE SEEK TO THWART SUICIDE PLAN

Beaches Watched When Woman Disappears After Leaving Notes About Baby

Police of all Bay district cities yesterday were watching piers and beaches in an effort to frustrate the self-avowed intention of Mrs. Margaret Fox, young Palms mother, to commit suicide, following her disappearance from her home, 3340½ Durango street, last Tuesday evening.

She left a number of notes scrawled to her husband, a studio employee at Culver City, who believes her strange behavior due to a nervous breakdown. Detective Lieutenant Duval of the West Los Angeles division is in charge of the search.

It was stated that the missing woman was formerly a secretary of Jeanne McPherson, scenario writer. She is described as 5 feet and 6 inches in height, weighing 120 pounds, with blue eyes and brown hair. She is 29 years of age.

When she left her home, after requesting a neighbor to take care of her 16-months-old baby while she went shopping, Mrs. Fox was wearing a yellow and black checked coat over regular street clothing. In her notes to her husband she referred to the baby, Virginia Margaret Fox, as "Ginger," and left instructions as to the child's care and diet.

He was convicted of testifying falsely in his trial for using the mails to defraud, of which he was acquitted. Miss Thom was accused of testifying falsely in the mail-fraud case.

Mrs. Pearl Battersby, jointly accused with Miss Thom, pleaded guilty and is to appear on October 1 for sentence.

Liquor Makes Young Girl Ill

In the interests of safety, Betty Mann, 11 years of age, entered the pedestrian tunnel at Beverly Boulevard and Union avenue yesterday as she started home from school. In the tunnel two other pupils urged her to take a swallow of something they had in a bottle. Betty took a big swallow.

A few minutes later she staggered up to her home at 222 North Alvarado street. Her uncle, Pat Mann, 2005 Valley street, took her to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. "Acute alcoholism," said the doctors, as they treated Betty and sent her back home, a sadder but wiser girl.

DEATH SHOT BLAMED ON RICOCHETING

Police Officer on Trial for Killing Negro Youth Who Fled from Raid

Contending that the bullet that killed William Teems "ricocheted from a rock while Luther Weyant was shooting trying to halt Teems's flight, Peter J. Youngdahl, attorney representing Weyant, yesterday introduced testimony in Superior Judge Aggeler's court intended to prove that the killing of Teems was accidental.

Weyant, Los Angeles police officer, is on trial for the murder of Teems, 17-year-old Negro youth, who was shot down while fleeing from arrest when police raided a dice game in Watts six weeks ago.

The prosecution charges that Weyant shot Teems down without just cause when he was fleeing from arrest on a misdemeanor charge.

Today, when the defense resumes its case, witnesses will be called to prove that Weyant fired only to frighten young Teems and had no intention of injuring him, according to Youngdahl.

AD GROUP WILL MEET

A business meeting of the Los Angeles Advertising Association will be held at 6:15 p.m. today in the Mary Louise Tea Room, 2200 West Seventh street. Agnes White will tell about the P.A.C.A. convention, to which she was a delegate, and Florence Schindler will review the club history.

CLEWS FAIL IN SEARCH FOR LINDSAY

Police May Drop Hunt for Seattle Man Accused of Murder and Kidnaping

No new clews developed yesterday in the search here for Charles E. Murphy, alias Everett Lindsay, wanted in Seattle for the murder of his wife, child kidnaping, criminal assault and army desertion. For the first time since it was established that Lindsay lived in a local apartment up to the 17th inst. as H. F. Williams, detectives failed to receive tips from citizens that the fugitive had been seen in various parts of the county.

"Unless we receive some unexpected information," declared Captain of Detectives McMahon, head of the police fugitive detail, "we will have to pigeon hole the case. We haven't one real tangible clew as to Lindsay's whereabouts."

Football Player Given Probation

John (Red) Watson, former star back for the St. Mary's College football team and now playing professionally with the Chicago Bears, yesterday obtained leniency when he appeared before Superior Judge Wood for sentence on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Watson was convicted of the drunk-driving charge in Judge Wood's court Tuesday and applied for probation. The court granted him probation for three years and suspended his driver's license for six months.

BOLSHEVIST EXPERIMENT STIRS WOMAN LECTURER

"I am neither for nor against Bolshevism, but I recognize the right of every intelligent person to look dispassionately on an experiment which, undoubtedly, is the most interesting experiment of our age."

With this statement Mme. Juliette Grebin, Russian by birth but now an American citizen, lecturer and globe-trotter, who has come to this city to make her home, prefaced a series of colorful observations on the Russia of today, as she discussed yesterday, in her suite at the Hollywood Plaza, a recent trip to her mother country.

Mme. Grebin came here from Kansas City, where for the past four years she has been head of the language department in the Horner Conservatory of Music. She is here to open a language department in the Zoellner Conservatory of Music, where she will also lecture and give courses in several of the eight languages which she speaks.

GIGANTIC SCALE

A member of a prominent Russian family, Mme. Grebin received her early education in Russia, later taking her college degree from the University of Dresden and continuing her studies in France. For three years she had the chair of Russian literature in the University of Melbourne, in addition to which she has done theatrical and journalist work.

"The most startling thing about Russia today," she said, "is the industrial development. The program for this was mapped out to cover a period of five years and parts of that program already have been completed at the end of two years—notably in the agricultural line. Factories are springing up all over the country; there are thousands of Russians throughout this country quietly studying American industrial development; millions of dollars worth of contracts have been made and the Russians are even buying up whole factories in this country and transporting them almost bodily to Russia. They are doing things on a gigantic scale.

GREAT ACTIVITY

"Never before in the history of the country has there been such activity in the field of natural riches and at the present time Russia is the second largest producer of oil after the United States. The school system has been completely revised with every bit of unessential work stricken from the curriculum. The idea is to turn out efficient workers and not diploma-bearers. The study of English and German is obligatory—English for business and German for scientific work. Illiteracy is being done away with just as rapidly as teachers can be trained for there is a great shortage of instructors.

"There are fewer divorces in Russia than in this country, for one reason because the government is so strict about the payment of alimony, failure to do so if there are children in the case being a prison offense.

"The talkies will never be popular in Russia in my opinion, jazz is virtually unknown and art is on a high plane, except that I believe it is too often used as a means of promoting government propaganda."

George Finishes Amateur Career as Match Sets New Endurance Record

BY ALAN J. GOULD

MERION CRICKET CLUB (Ardmore, Pa.) Sept. 24. (AP)—The shades of night again were falling rapidly over the bunkered battleground this evening when George Von Elm of Los Angeles, last survivor of the entire set of "seeded" favorites, save only Bobby Jones, lost to Maurice J. McCarthy, Jr., of New York, in a spectacular battle that went exactly ten extra holes to the twenty - eighth and shattered all endurance records for the American amateur golf championship.

GEORGE VON ELM

Tied after the first nine holes of their second-round match, all square again at the eighteenth, Von Elm and McCarthy, weary, but still game, went to the tenth extra hole still deadlocked.

It was the forty-eighth hole of the day for the bronzed, stocky McCarthy, who had been forced to play one extra play-off hole this morning to qualify, then go to the nineteenth in the first round to eliminate Watts Gunn of Pittsburgh.

Von Elm had swept through the first round easily, whipping Chuck Hunter by 6 and 5, and stood out

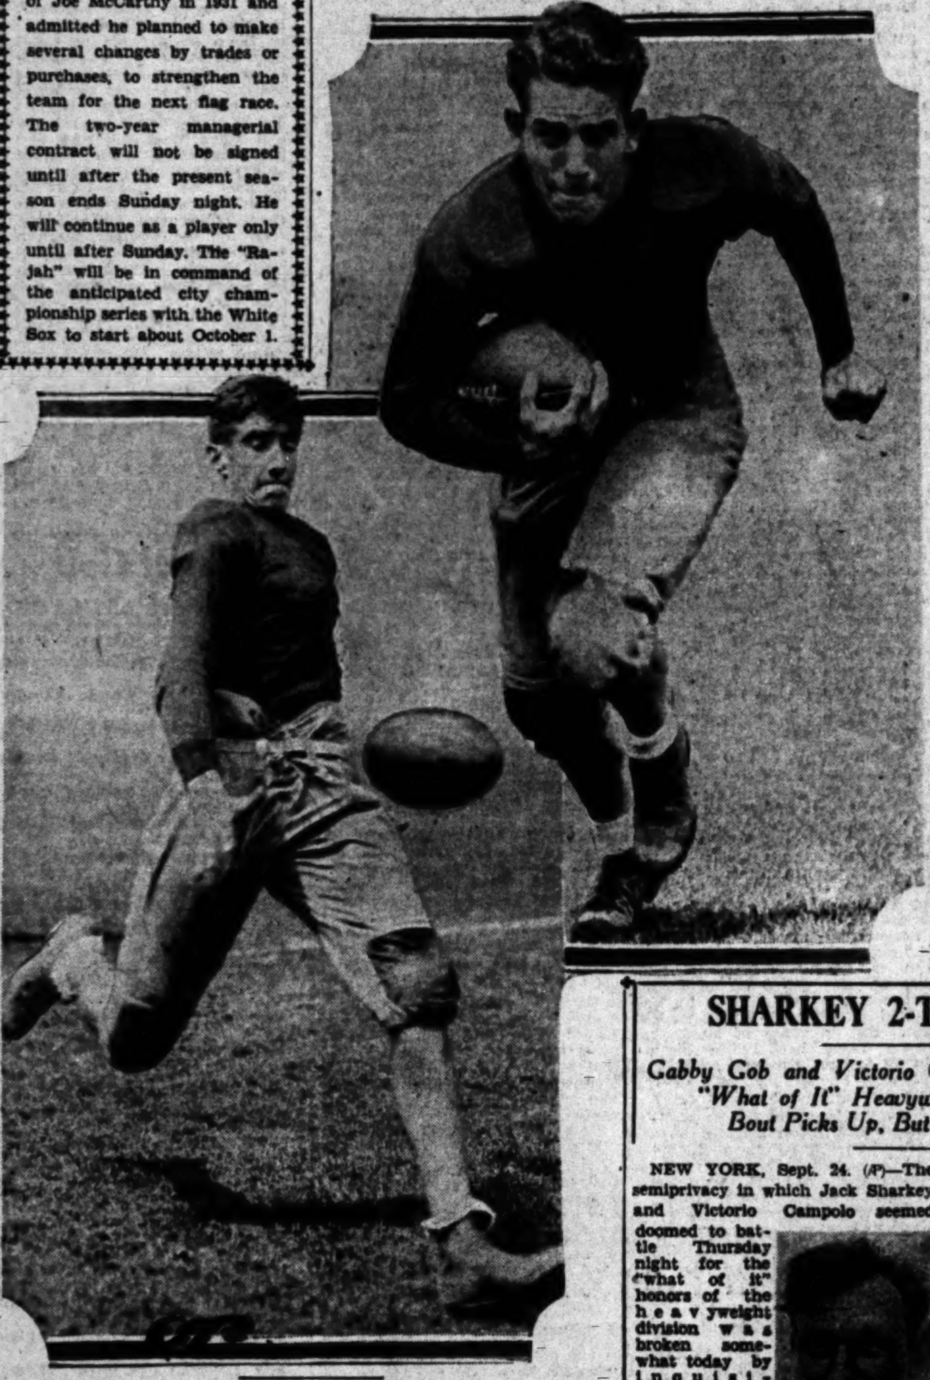
The "Rajah" will be in command of the anticipated city championship series with the White Sox to start about October 1.

MEXICAN "ALL-AMERICANS"

Two of the best football players in Mexico are Fausto Miranda (top) and Manuel Landa. Both are members of the National University of Mexico grid squad which arrived in town yesterday morning on the Southern Pacific Apache for the opening intercollegiate pigskin game of the season tomorrow night with the Occidental Tigers in the Coliseum. Miranda is one of the best halfbacks on the eleven, while Landa is admittedly the best end in Mexico. He also does quite a bit of kicking.



MOHLER CHOICE FOR BRUIN TILT

Sophomore Star Faces Test with First Team

Regular Varsity Line-up to Start Against U.C.L.A.

BY PAUL LOWRY

Orv Mohler, Trojan sophomore, may be Howard Jones's choice as starting quarterback when the Southern California eleven faces U.C.L.A. in the opening Pacific Coast Conference game of the season on Saturday.

The assignment does not mean that Jones considers Mohler his first-string signal caller, but it indicates that he wants to know what Mohler can do under fire with the varsity line in front of him.

The Trojan second-team line does not operate as a unit like the varsity, and Jones feels the only way he can give Mohler a fair shake at the position is to give him all the available tools.

As interested observers at the scrimmage session yesterday the Messrs. Doug Fairbanks, Doug, Jr., and Irving Berlin, the latter of Tin Pan Alley fame, went charging up and down the sidelines.

Still another possessor of a secret practice pass who stayed to the finish was Jack Rissman of Chicago, donor of the national football trophy, which was won by Southern California in 1928 and was captured by Notre Dame last year.

Mr. Rissman is a visitor in our midst for a few days, and says the Trojans look as sweet to him as any bunch of football players he has seen for a long time.

He picks the Trojans, Notre Dame and Harvard as leaders in their respective sections of the country.

With the exception of Mohler the Trojan team that takes the field Saturday will be the regular varsity line-up as it has appeared in practice—Wilcox and Arbelbide at ends; Hall and Brown, tackles; Shaw and Baker, guards; William-

VICTOR!

Here's Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena youngster, who yesterday defeated Wilmer Allison of Davis Cup fame, to enter the semifinals of the fourth annual Pacific-Southwest tennis tournament at the Los Angeles Tennis Club.

STARS BOW TO SENATORS, 6-3

Rally by Hollywood in Ninth Inning Falls Short

BY BOB RAY

Buddy Ryan's Sacramento Senators evened up the series with Hollywood by defeating the Stars last night at Wrigley Field, 6 to 3. Although they lost, the Stars retained their five and one-half-game lead over the Angels, who were beaten again by Seattle.

The Stars, after being held to one run in eight innings by Lefty Louis Vinci, gave the customers a thrill in the ninth when they chased the Solon southpaw to the showers, scored two runs and had the bases loaded before Ed Bryan came to the rescue and retired the side.

During that final round Severeid

Seeded Players Conquered in Sparkling Tilts

Gledhill Defeats New York Star Racketer

BY RALPH HUSTON

Three more Davis Cup players were knocked out of the fourth annual Pacific Southwest tournament yesterday. Wilmer Allison of Texas, who was seeded No. 1; George Lott of Chicago, No. 2, and Berkeley Bell of Texas, No. 6, joined Johnny Van Ryn in the also-ran class, while Sydney Wood of Pasadena, who was not a cup-team player, but who held the No. 3 seeding in the local tourney, also slipped out of the running.

KEITH GLEDHILL

Allison bowed to Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena youngster, in a terrific five-set match that took three hours to play. Bell dropped his match to Cliff Sutter, intercollegiate king, in three sets, and Lott was an easy victim for George Mangin, Georgetown U player, also in three sets. Wood fell before the inspired play of Keith Gledhill, Santa Barbara star.

The four winners advanced to the semifinals, both matches of which are scheduled to be played today, the other tomorrow.

LONGEST MATCH

In winning yesterday Vines added Allison to a long list of conquered stars that already include R. Norris Williams, Francis T. Hunter, and Frank Shields. The match was the longest played yet in the tournament, and one of the most grueling ever seen on the local courts. Vines had a three-love lead in the first set, but dropped it. He came back strong to take the next two sets, but lost the fourth in a long-drawn battle that saw Vines take another three-love lead, only to have Allison even it up, and eventually break through the lanky Pasadena youngster in the twenty-first game, and win, 12-10.

In the final set, Allison broke through Vines to take a 5-4 lead, but displaying smart tennis, Vines came back to break Allison, evening the match; win his

SHARKEY 2-TO-1 FAVORITE

Gabby Gob and Victorio Campolo Tangle Tonight for "What of It" Heavyweight Honors; Interest in Bout Picks Up, But Poor Gate is Prospect

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. (AP)—The semiprivacy in which Jack Sharkey and Victorio Campolo seemed doomed to battle Thursday night for the "what of it" honors of the heavyweight division was broken somewhat today by inquisitive customers approaching the Madison Square box offices with cash in hand.

JACK SHARKEY

The outbreak of interest, mild though it was, sent optimism soaring at the battle palace and brought out a rash of predictions that the lackadaisical sailor and the big disappointment from the Argentine will duel before $150,000 worth of patrons in the final fight rally of the open-air season at the Yankee Stadium. The struggle is scheduled for fifteen rounds.

The suspicion has arisen that Campolo, clumsy and slow but a belter with his right hand, may tag Sharkey squarely during the proceedings, and many of the faithful, having waited long to see the Boston sailor beaten, feel they cannot take chances by staying home tomorrow night. If the patrons maintain their aloofness, a gate of less than $100,000, the amount guaranteed Sharkey alone for this match, is in dismal prospect for the garden.

Sharkey has worked none too well in training, appears overweight and sluggish, and lacks fire. He was ill for a day from a stomach disorder and prompt offer of postponement and even cancellation was made him. He refused to accept a delay and seems carelessly confident that he will batter down the six-foot-six Argentine within four rounds.

Contrary to past policy, last-minute arrangements have been made to broadcast the bout over the National Broadcasting Company network from station WJZ here.

Despite Sharkey's failure to impress in training and Campolo's great advantage in height, reach and weight, the Boston sailor man is a 2-to-1 favorite.

MEXICAN TEAM WORKS OUT

Root Has Light but Fast Team for Oxy Contest Tomorrow; Features Passing Attack

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

Not so big, but making up in speed what it lacks in weight—that at a glance is the Mexican football eleven that pulled into town yesterday morning on the Southern Pacific Apache for the first intercollegiate football tussle of the year with Occidental in the Coliseum tomorrow night.

After being entertained at the Breakfast Club, the Mexican party, thirty strong, headed by Coach Reginald Root, arrived at the Coliseum for their initial local workout at 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

COACH REGINALD ROOT

Practically all of the plays exhibited were of the passing variety, several laterals being mixed in with the common everyday pass.

All of which goes to prove that the Mexican eleven's chief ground-gaining threat will likely be its aerial attack.

This will be the first game of the 1930 season for the over-the-border team and also will be the seventh game played by the squad.

ONE YEAR OLD

Last year marked the introduction of American football in Mexico, the team playing six games, two of which were with American universities, the other four being with Mexican elevens.

Both Louisiana State and Mississippi made the trip to Mexico City last year, Louisiana winning 56-0, while Mississippi returned to American soil on the long end of a 26-0 score. It was in the Mississippi game that Manuel Landa, star National end, snagged twenty-three out of twenty-five passes. The Mexicans made twenty-one first

LEON KELLER LOW WITH 72

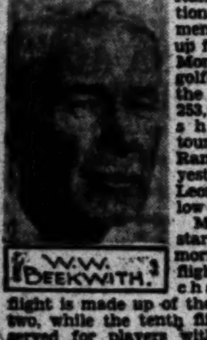
Rancho Star Leads Second Day Qualifiers

Championship Flight Made Up of Low Thirty-two

Golfers Urged to be on Time for Matches

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

H. K. Bachelder's par-equaling score of 70 stood the test of yesterday's vigorous attack in the Rancho invitational tournament to stand up for low gross. More than 100 golfers, bringing the entry up to 253, a fine showing, toured the Rancho course yesterday with Leon Keller's 72 low for the day.



W.W. BEEKWITH.

Match play starts this morning in ten flights. The championship flight is made up of the low thirty-two, while the tenth flight was reserved for players with handicaps from 19 to 24.

A stiff breeze prevented any record-breaking yesterday and high scores were the rule rather than the exception. W. H. Constable of Potrero trailed Keller with a 74 for second low score. Phil Ayres, Southern California junior champion, had a 75, while the 76 bracket included such well-known stars as Phil Carter of Rancho, Harlow Hurley of Los Angeles, H. B. Wesbrook of Annandale, and Winston Fuller of Los Angeles. Bill Jelliffe of Girard, Jack Mackey of Los Angeles and Chuchk Ward of Brentwood turned in cards of 78.

There are few outstanding first-round matches. Probably the best will result when Guy Hanson of California meets W. W. Beckwith of Rancho. If the dope runs true to form, however, the second round will produce some real golf with Jelliffe slated to meet Carter, Bachelder vs. Hurley, Pendergrass vs. Wesbrook, and Ayres vs. Mackey.

There will be a consolation round on Saturday morning for those who failed to qualify and first-round victims. The defeated sixteen of the championship flight will comprise the first flight tomorrow.

A. H. (Ollie) Painter, tournament director, urges all players to appear promptly. The tenth flight is scheduled to get off at 7:30 a.m. on the dot.

Following are the pairings and starting times:

NEW FOOTBALL RULES.

DON'T be surprised if the football rules are revamped next year.

Mr. Howard Jones of Southern California has a member of the national rules committee right under his nose in the person of Bill Hunter, S.C. director of athletics, and the arguments have been flowing so hot of late that Mr. Jones has declared himself.

"By golly," he bellowed yesterday as Mr. Hunter strove to defend himself and the rules committee against a particularly venomous attack, "I'll rewrite the darned rules myself.

"And I'll bet there'll be some horse sense to 'em.

"Nearly every rule in the book has to be clarified with some kind of an explanation.

"You guys haven't got enough guts to say what you mean, and when you try to frame a rule you think of some coach and hedge the thing in such language that you can put half a dozen different versions on it."

With that Mr. Jones gave Mr. Hunter a final withering look and stamped out of the training quarters.

PERSEVERANCE TRIUMPHS

ELLSWORTH VINES'S five-set victory over Wilmer Allison in the Pacific Southwest tourney yesterday was a great example of perseverance.

The tall kid figured he could beat the man who beat Henri Cochet, the world's champion, at Wimbledon by hitting the side lines.

But Vines stuck to his guns, and even after Allison had broken through his serve to give him a 5-4 lead Vines kept pegging at the lines.

He deuced the set at 5-all, took his own service with cannonball shots and captured the set on Allison's service with a series of beautiful placements.

The last one was a cross-court shot that Allison failed to put a racket on.

For a period in the final set it looked as if Vines would beat himself. Allison contented himself with getting the ball over the net with just a fair amount of pace on it, and letting Allison take shots at the side lines with disastrous results.

But Vines refused to beat himself, and perseverance was rewarded.

THE POOR PROS

But with Al Morro, Jim Jeffries's heavyweight hope, fighting at Hollywood tomorrow night, and a pair of good bills coming up next week the pro promoters are poking their noses out of water.

After a week of darkness the Olympic will reopen with the first good fight in many weeks—Sammy Jackson, the black boy, and Young Corbett, the uncrowned welterweight king.

HOLLYWOOD DEFEATED

doubled with one away and McNeely and Shellenback, the latter batting for Carlyle, drew walks to fill the bases. Brannan's single to right scored Severeid and McNeely and caused Skipper Ryan to send Bryan to replace Vinci.

Johnny Jones, Hollywood's recent purchase from the Piedmont League, then made his local debut as a pinch hitter for Page but lined to French. Gazella drew a walk to once more fill the bases, but Lee forced Gazella at second, French unassisted, to end the contest.

Augie Johns started on the mound for Hollywood but Vance Page had to finish. The Sacs scored five runs off the Star southpaw in the fifth and sixth rounds, Vinci's homer with one on accounting for two of the tallies. Brick Eldred also hit for the circuit in the eighth to register the only run off Page.

Umpire McLaughlin put Mickey Heath out of the game in the seventh inning for protesting a decision on the bases. The pudgy arbiter also threatened to clear off the entire Hollywood bench when the Stars joined the fans in razzing him, but let it go as a threat.

After he and Vinci had battled through four scoreless rounds, Johns weakened in the fifth and the Solons went out in front by scoring a couple of runs. With one away, Wirts singled to right. After Vinci had fanned French singled and the runners advanced to second and third on a wild pitch. Hillis walked to fill the bases. Backer followed with a single to center and Wirts and French galloped over the plate.

Johns was nicked for three more runs in the sixth. Osborn led off with a double to center and Eldred walked. On an attempted sacrifice Camilli forced Eldred at second, but Osborn reached third. Wirts's sacrifice fly to Barbee brought Osborn home. Vinci then exceeded his fondest expectations and lined one into the right-field bleachers for the circuit, Camilli scoring ahead of him.

In the home half of the seventh, the Stars spoiled Vinci's hopes for a shutout when Severeid dropped a double along the left-field line and scored on Heath's single to center. Carlyle then hit into a double play, Hills to Camilli. Heath claimed Hillis did not tag him and protested so vigorously that Umpire McLaughlin put him out of the contest. That was the start of McLaughlin's troubles for the evening. Harry Green came in and played first base and McNeely went out to left field.

Seals Tripped by McDonald

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 24. (AP)—Hank McDonald, Portland's lanky kid pitcher, let the visiting San Francisco Seals down with four hits and won the opening game of the series, 7 to 3, here tonight before a small crowd that shivered in the cold.

A double and three singles in the sixth by the Beavers gave them two runs and broke a 2-all tie. Three runs on three hits in the eighth put the contest away. The Seals got on in the ninth in a delayed rally.

JONES WINS TWO MATCHES

Bobby Well on Way Toward All-Time Record as Eighteen-Hole Bugaboo is Passed

yond 15,000, a milling, tumultuous throng. They came in upon a smash of dramatic excitement, but little good golf. There was drama minus genius.

Bobby Jones loafed around the first nine in the afternoon in 41 to stand 3 up on Hoblitzel. On the eighth hole Bobby slashed a shot out of bounds to lose a stroke and distance, and still won the hole. On the tenth he took two shots in a trap and got a half by sinking a thirty-foot putt for a par 4.

TAKES IT EASY

In the forenoon round he played up to his highest standard. He went for everything. He played as if his life depended upon the outcome. In the afternoon he sensed the fact that he could take life somewhat easier, and he played according to schedule. You could see that the strain was off and that he was saving himself for the test ahead. It was the worst nine holes he had had all summer, but it was good enough to establish a substantial lead.

Coming home in the afternoon he settled down to his old standard and soon cleaned up the front. These two eighteen-hole matches were supposed to be his big barrier. It was generally conceded that if he could get by these short and decisive thrusts he would be an odds-on favorite to win his fourth championship in one season and thereby set a record beyond the imagination of anyone who has ever tackled this elusive and baffling game.

The job of beating Bobby Jones at eighteen holes hasn't been an impossible task. The job of beating him at thirty-six holes is another matter. The fact that he was able to conserve his nerves through the second round won't do him any harm.

So far as the record-breaking gallery was concerned, Jones was the center of the picture. There were other matches far more exciting, but the crowd was after the young lawyer who had cut his way through the battlefields of St. Andrews, Hoylake and Interlachen, against the finest golfers in the world. You couldn't see Jones today with a stepladder and a Lick telescope. You were lucky to get within range of his smooth, even, oily swing.

The day was hot and muggy with a half haze drifting over the landscape. It was no day for energetic exercise, or for cross-country running, but the magic of the Jones name lured them along, old and young, male and female. They galloped and shoved and crowded. They hurdled ditches and they fought the guarding ropes.

SEAVER LAUDED

But outside of Jones's chance for a new record, most of the drama went to other matches. For example, young Charley Seaver of Los Angeles, a star all-around athlete, beat Armstrong of Chicago in the morning and then threw a monkey wrench into the machinery by beating George Voight in the afternoon.

Seaver is a powerfully built kid who can hit the ball a long way and who is always willing to take chances. He was 3 up on Voight at the fourth hole. Then he had a wild streak and Voight caught him. But in place of weakening Seaver came back with another charge to take the lead again and eliminate one of the stars of the field by high-grade golf.

Seaver is one of the possibilities of the future. He is capable of beating anyone now. He has the swing, the power, the head and the heart to go the route. Voight made a gallant stand down the stretch, but he couldn't check the final rush of the young westerner, to whom reputations meant nothing at all.

SWEETSER GREAT

Then there was the great all-day battle Jess Sweetser had. The former United States and British amateur champion had to get up at daybreak and qualify. He was in the play-off stopped Tuesday by darkness. Sweetser beat Phil Finlay in the morning match and he had to sink a thirty-five-foot putt to finish all square with John Ahearn of Buffalo in the afternoon.

Coming to the final green, Sweetser was a doomed man. His mashie niblick, his best club, had let him down. It was like an old friend going false. On the final green Sweetser faced a long thirty-five-foot putt over bewildering contours to stay in. He holed this putt and then won on the nineteenth green.

It is worth while to see these former champions still in the field. They have proved before that they could go the route.

And then there was young Gene Homans, son of the famous Shep Homans, who celebrated his sixtieth birthday last night in Englewood, N. J. Shep Homans was an all-American football star about 1890, and that happens to be forty years ago. He was one of the best of all the fighters, a fullback who never used a substitute in three years of play.

On the same day Shep celebrated his sixtieth birthday his son beat Gus Novotny, the midwestern star, in the morning and then hooked Lawson Little, the strong young Californian who had beaten Doc Willing on the twentieth green. Little is a fine golfer and a brave fighter, but Homans had too much skill and coolness and courage combined. He beat Little, 4 and 2, to join Jones, Seaver, McPhail, Sweetser, Lehman, Coleman and McCarthy among the last eight.

GREAT BATTLE

Few can appreciate what this struggle to reach the last eight meant. For example, the feature match of the championship came between George Von Elm and young Maurice McCarthy. Von Elm was three under par in the morning to beat Hunter, 6 and 5. McCarthy had beaten Watts Gunn on the nineteenth green. In the afternoon Von Elm and McCarthy crashed head-on in the greatest battle any championship has ever seen.

They were nip and tuck, ding and dong, all the way to the final green. Here Von Elm was one down and one to play. To square the match and win this hole the westerner had to lay a full-spoon shot within nine feet of the cup from 240 yards away. It was a magnificent effort, the great shot of the championship, and then the battle broke into flame with a worn-out, excited gallery following every shot as they struggled along over the record route.

McCarthy had to work hard to get his 4 at the first extra hole after a sliced drive, but he should have won the second, where Von Elm played several bad shots. Three putts by McCarthy enabled Von Elm to halve in six. On the third McCarthy was bunkered, but Von Elm had three putts from forty yards away.

From the fourth to the ninth they halved in par. At the tenth extra hole, the twenty-eighth of their match, McCarthy finally broke through par to win.

Jones put all his varsity hopefuls through hard scrimmage last night, but had Mohler working at quarter with the second team.

The second team lacked the smoothness displayed by the varsity, and Mohler was not nearly as successful advancing the ball as Duffield.

SPARTANS SCORE

It was the last hard scrimmage before the U.C.L.A. game, and Jones not only gave his first, second and third teams plenty of offensive work with the ball, but put them on defense against the attack of Morley Drury's Spartans.

And let it be said right here that Mr. Drury's Spartans scored a touchdown on the first team with a long forward pass and four line plays, the last being a Stanford double reverse which sent Clay over the line with the ball.

SOLOMON TO START WITH BRUINS

Eddie Solomon, captain of the U.C.L.A. football team, will be in the starting line-up Saturday against the Southern California Trojans, Bill Spaulding, varsity head coach, announced yesterday. "Solly" looked good in scrimmage yesterday afternoon, especially in blocking and forward passing.

Yesterday was the final day of practice against U.S.C. plays and formations on the Westwood practice turf and the latter half of the practice period was utilized in running two complete elevens against the "All-Americans" in offensive plays. Today will see the Bruin gridmen practicing on punting formations and defense against forward passes.

An ineligible halfback, Caldwell, who used to play for California Christian College, knocked the varsity about like ten pins last night in Trojan offensive measures, being aided a great deal by a "goof" halfback by the name of Stickel, who looked good enough for first string last night.

Reuben Thoe, senior halfback, did some first-rate line plunging last night, although he has rarely carried the ball in the past. Thoe will be in the starting line-up Saturday, Spaulding said, as will also diminutive Buddy Forster, who enlivened things yesterday by a few fifty-yard jaunts around the ends.

VON ELM LOSES TO OLD "JINX"

as one of the few remaining favorites until he caught the tartar who fought him to a standstill and finally to defeat.

This was to be Von Elm's last amateur tournament and he was fighting with grim desperation to avoid the jinx that has beset him in the opening day's "sudden death" matches ever since he whipped Bobby Jones in the finals four years ago.

So there was every element of dramatic suspense as these two, blond George and dark, pugilistic-looking Maurice, stepped up to the twenty-eighth tee and whaled out long drives aimed to give them easy approaches to this dog-leg 335-yard layout, uphill.

McCarthy had the longer drive and, after Von Elm had pitched well on, the New York youth played a pitch and ran dead to the cup. The ball stopped barely eight inches from the hole and Von Elm was left with a twelve-footer to sink if he hoped to continue the fight. He missed by a narrow margin and conceded the putt, the hole and the match to McCarthy.

This record-breaking match doubled the previous mark of five extra holes for any prolonged encounter in tournament history dating back thirty-four years. Back in 1913 Paul Hunter of Chicago beat A. C. Ulmer of Florida at the twenty-third hole in a first-round match at the Garden City Golf Club and in 1920, at the Engineers' course, Chick Evans went five extra holes to beat Reggie Lewis at the forty-first.

McCarthy has always been a bear for endurance battles in this championship. He defeated Max Marston at the twenty-second hole in 1926 and the following year he came close to beating Bobby Jones at Minneapolis in a first-round match that went to the 18th hole before the Georgian won.

BEAR TEAM READY FOR GRID GAME

California Eleven Shows Power and Speed in Toil for Broncho Tilt

BERKELEY, Sept. 23. (Exclusive) Power and speed were in abundance today as the University of California football varsity went through its paces for the opening game of the season Saturday with Santa Clara University, but the big question of whether the Golden Bears also will include deception in their game is still unanswered.

There are no football-wise men on the team such as Benny Lom and Lee Eisan, the brilliant backs who were raised with pigskins under their arms. Therefore, Price still has his worries over a smooth, well-rounded, deceptive offensive. So far as pure beef and smashing qualities are concerned, the California mentor has no need to worry.

Another source of concern to Price is George Watkins. This husky chap of 186 pounds should be in the first string backfield. He kicks further than any other Bear, an average of about fifty-five yards. He is apparently one of the most accurate passers. He is fairly consistent with his line plunges. But he has had a tendency to drop the ball when hard hit, and also has manifested some lack of co-ordination with the remainder of the backfield. Whether Watkins can overcome these deficiencies and blossom forth in the manner that a Coast Conference halfback must blossom, is the information for which Price would give one good ear.

In today's workout, Price favored as first-choice backs the following: Ralston, "Rusty" Gill, flashy fullback; Clarence (Moose) Garrity, who is fullbacking once again following his temporary metamorphosis into a halfback; Joe Hickingbotham, a very earnest, serious fellow of 190 pounds, who is halfbacking; Ed Griffiths, the former Polytechnic High School star; Ray East, speed halfback, and Ed Kirwan, quarterback.

MACIAS WINS OVER YOUNG HARRY WILLS

Wildman Macias, rugged Mexican welterweight from Santa Ana, slugged his way to a ten-round decision over Young Harry Wills in the main event at the Wilmington Bowl last night. Macias won all the way and had the veteran Negro battler on the floor several times during the bout. In the semi-windup Joe Goedders broke Stutts Houk's jaw to gain a four-round technical knockout. Mike Stanvich and Urban Hernandez fought a six-round draw in the special event, although most of the fans thought Stanvich had the better of the going. In the preliminaries Jimmy Wallace stopped Willis Hust in the first heat, while Al DeNave also put his opponent, Al Silva, away in the first round.

NEWMAN SELECTS LINE-UP FOR GOB TILT

ALMADA WINS FOR SEATTLE

Louis Hits Homer in Ninth to Beat Angels, 3-2

SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 24. (AP) Louis Almada smacked the first ball pitched in the last half of the ninth inning here today for a home run, ending the game in a 3-to-2 victory for the Indians over the Los Angeles Angels. The game lasted one hour and ten minutes, the fastest here this season, and believed the fastest Coast League contest of the year.

Louis Almada

Dutch Ruether held the Angels to five singles and a home run by Harper, the only score for which the Seattle pitcher was responsible. After tying the score in the third, the Angels were held hitless until the ninth when two singles failed to break the tie. Nine hits were made off Art Delaney by the Indians.

The series stands two to nothing in Seattle's favor, the Indians having won yesterday in the eleventh inning. The score:

Quinn Winner in Ascot Race

Featuring an evening of brilliant and thrilling driving on the part of most racers, Francis Quinn, local ace who was at the wheel of a Garnant Special, won the forty-lap main event on the program at the American Legion Ascot speedway last night by negotiating the distance in the fast time of 20m. 11 3-5s. Quinn was followed to the line by "Stubby" Stubblefield, Arvel Brunmier, "Shorty" Cantlon, the second-ranking driver in America, Swede Smith, and Walt May.

Quinn started out second, but dropped back to third, when Stubblefield pulled a fast one to take the lead in the ninth lap. However, Quinn kept pulling up, and in the eighteenth lap passed Brunmier to grab the No. 2 position, and in the twenty-seventh circle of the oval, Quinn flashed past Stubblefield to take the lead for the rest of the race. Stubblefield, steering his Dealin Special, started the race at fourth place, but on the first turn he whizzed into third place with a brilliant piece of driving.

In another highlight of the evening, Arvel Brunmier in a special mount set a new track record for a one-lap qualifying round by circling the dirt oval in 26.65s.

"Shorty" Cantlon, the highly touted second-ranking driver of America, could not quite get the feel of the Ascot oval and appeared to be at a loss during most of the evening as to what to do on a dirt course.

The complete results follow:

Event No. 1—Two laps, helmet dash open to three fastest cars to qualify. Won by "Stubby" Stubblefield; Swede Smith, second; Arvel Brunmier, third. Time, [illegible]

Event No. 2—Ten laps, open to eight fastest qualifying cars. Won by Arvel Brunmier; Francis Quinn, second; Swede Smith, third. Time, [illegible]

Heinecke Gets Coaching Job

OXY FROSH START PIGSKIN PRACTICE

With a squad of thirty-five men in suits, Coaches McDonald and Beebe of the Occidental freshmen are looking forward to a fairly good season in the Southern California Conference. At present the outstanding men on the frosh squad are Scott, a tackle from Oxnard; Duncan, halfback from Fairfax; Hobbs, end from Reedley; Sal Machuca, end from Franklin, and Jones, a half, and Echman, another backfield man.

GOVE BACK AT OXY

Frank Gove, one of the Occidental tennis mainstays, of two years ago, returned to the Tiger institution yesterday. Gove will be eligible for the varsity this fall and threatens to be the outstanding singles player in the Southern California Conference.

MICKEY WALKER VICTOR

VINES UPSETS ALLISON

own service, with the aid of a couple of aces, and then again broke through Allison to take the match. Vines completely outsmarted the man who beat Cochet at Wimbledon in the last three games. After dropping his service, to give Allison a lead, Vines suddenly changed his court tactics, and instead of slamming the ball back hard, he "dinked" it over the net, into the service courts, and the tired Allison, trying to smash it back, usually smashed the ball into the net. Vines had match-point three times in the last game before he finally made it.

Gledhill's victory over Wood was equally sensational, and took two and one-half hours to play. Wood lacked the power and steadiness he displayed in trimming Gilbert Hall, 6-0, 6-0, the previous day, and was no match for the Santa Barbara youngster, who reached the peak of his career in the victory. While Wood was playing an erratic game, Gledhill was performing smoothly, his backhand working perfectly, and his placements showering all over the court with remarkable accuracy.

Sutter's victory over Bell was more or less expected, as the intercollegiate title-holder was seeded fourth, two places ahead of Bell, in the draw. Mangin completely outplayed Lott in their match, the Davis Cup star playing very poorly. After taking the first two sets in easy fashion, Mangin ran up a lead of four-love in the third set before Lott finally rallied long enough to take two games.

FAVORITES LOSE

Sutter teamed with Bruce Barnes of Texas to provide an additional surprise in the doubles when they defeated Hall and Lott in a five-set battle that was finished under the arc lights. The score was 6-1, 5-7, 7-9, 6-4, 6-0. In the fourth set, while trailing 4-5, Hall and Lott ran up a 40-love lead on Barnes's service, but committed several costly errors, and a chance to tie the game count. The loss left them completely blown up, and with Hall limping badly from a foot injury, they were easy victims for the youthful Texans.

Vines and Gledhill, after a short rest from their long singles battles, teamed up to conquer Neil Brown and Bobby Sellers, the defending doubles champions, 5-7, 6-3, 11-9, 6-4. Allison and Van Ryn, the favorites in the doubles, won handily from Wood and Phil Neer, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

Yesterday's results and today's schedule:

MEN'S SINGLES

Vines defeated Allison, 5-7, 6-3, 6-3, 10-12, 7-5; Gledhill defeated Wood, 6-2, 6-4, 14-12; Sutter defeated Bell, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2; Mangin defeated Lott, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2.

MEN'S DOUBLES

Allison and Van Ryn defeated Neer and Wood, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4; Vines and Gledhill defeated Brown and Sellers, 5-7, 6-3, 11-9, 6-4; Bartosh and Tidball defeated Von Elts and Hawks, 6-3, 6-4; Barnes and Sutter defeated Hall and Lott, 6-1, 5-7, 7-9, 6-4, 6-0.

FOOTBALL OFFICIALS IN MEETING TONIGHT

Southern California Conference football coaches are to be the guests of honor tonight at the weekly meeting of the Southern California football officials' association at Central Junior High.

New rules are to be discussed, while all of the new mentors in the conference are to be welcomed. There are quite a number of new coaches in the circuit, chief among them being Lee Eisan at La Verne and Walter Herreid at San Diego State.

LA VERNE BUILDS FOR NEXT YEAR

Lee Eisan Instills New Vigor in Leopards as Large Turnout Brings New Hope; Former California Quarterback Spreads Optimism

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

(This is the sixth of a series of articles dealing with football teams of the Southern California Conference.)

"We may not set the world on fire this year, but look out for us in 1931," warns Lee Eisan, California's 1929 quarterback, who begins his career as a football coach at La Verne College.

LELAND EISAN

You can laugh that off if you want to, but Eisan's coming to La Verne has had the reviving effect of a cool breath of fresh air on a sultry day. Eisan is both enthusiastic and optimistic and has the happy faculty of pepping up those around him.

FUTURE BRIGHT

La Verne sees in Eisan the agent by which they can be delivered from the conference cellar, and certainly the future looks brighter to the Leopards this year than at any time since they entered the league. Both Eisan and La Verne deserve every break they can get.

As a basis of comparison, it may be pointed out that last year I. H. Van Cleve seldom had enough men out for two teams, and the squad was limited to twenty-seven men. This time Eisan had a turnout of thirty-five with a number of transfers from junior colleges and several veterans back from past years. More promising still, out of a total freshman enrollment of sixty, forty were boys and twenty of these are out for football.

Eisan has introduced Nibs Price's system with good results. He is well satisfied with his backfield material and believes that he has found a real scoring combination in Capt. Fred Hubbell at quarter; Brick Lewin and Max Forney, halfbacks, and Red Weybright, fullback. Hubbell tips the beams at 155 pounds, Lewin weighs 170, Forney, 175, and Weybright, 185. Lewin is a transfer from the Pomona Junior College.

On the line Eisan has Ralph Adams and Bert Jones, junior college transfers, at ends; Ike Funk and Walter (Buck) Ferree at tackles; Joe Raynon and Dan Stover, guards, and Al Nichols, center. Ferree, a letterman from two years ago, is the heaviest man on the team, weighing 208 pounds. Other promising candidates are Charles Snell, an end; Jerry Deal and Onis Leonard, tackles, and Doyle Montz, center. Leonard, who played two years ago with Ferree, is a mere 205-pounder.

CONFERENCE GAMES

On the second team, Maurice Shirk, 170-pound halfback; Everett Calvert, halfback, and Maurice Smith, fullback, have been pressing the regulars.

La Verne plays only three conference games this season, meeting San Diego State, Redlands and Whittier. Eisan is pointing his team for its first real test against Santa Barbara State, on October 18, next.

Jim Jeffries Seconds Morro at Hollywood

Jim Jeffries will second Al Morro, Burbank heavyweight, tomorrow night, when he fights Hans Birkie of Oakland, in the main event at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium. Morro, having recently upset the dope to beat Armand Emanuel, is a big favorite to win from Birkie.

The Oaklander is a different fighter than either Tony Stabineau or Emanuel. He is the rushing type, who forces the going, and it will be interesting to watch how Morro fights this type of battler.

According to Jeff, his fighter is in better condition than when he fought Emanuel.

Tommy McGough and Sid Torres are in the semi-wind-up. Torres will be a favorite over McGough. They are bantamweights, and rated very good fighters for preliminary boys.

The special may end in a kayoe. Billy Wagner has a slight edge on Bob Stennett. They are light-heavyweights and both good sockers.

HAMAS, WHITE HORSE TO TANGLE TONIGHT

Pasadena Arena will see in action again tonight the former Penn State College five-letter athlete, Steve Hamas. This time Steve will have harder opposition from Chief White Horse, a full-blooded Cherokee Indian. The fight is for ten rounds—or less.

John Patrick O'Hanigan will meet Joe Arcinega. Four-round bouts will be Jack Layva vs. Johnny Gump, 135 pounds; Young Ralph vs. Johnny Doe, 122 pounds; Les Darcy vs. Young Jimmy McLarnin, 138 pounds.

ROBINS TUMBLE AGAIN

Phillies Sink Dodgers to Fourth Place with Easy 6-3 Victory; Klein Hammers Out Homer

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24. (AP)—The Phillies closed their home season today by defeating Brooklyn, 6 to 3, and sending the Robins down to fourth place in the National League standing.

The Phils clinched the game in the first as successive home runs by Chuck Klein and Don Hurst overcame a two-run Brooklyn lead. Both wallops were off the pitching of Ray Moss and traveled over the right-field wall. It was Klein's fortieth homer of the season.

The defeat dropped the Robins a half-game behind the New York Giants, who were idle, but left them with a good chance of regaining third as they have three games to play and the Giants only two. Score:

Bells Take Free-Hitting Contest, 11 to 7

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24. (AP)—San Francisco's Missions defeated Oakland, 11 to 7, today in a free-hitting contest. Each side chalked up seventeen hits, with the locals bunching theirs more effectively. The Missions put on a six-run rally in the opening frame that drove Pete Daglia to the showers, and they continued to clout Kasich and Hurst. The Oaks rallied in the eighth for four runs, Arlett accounting for three with a homer that scored two runners ahead. Cole, starting pitcher, weathered out the storm, however. Score:

Ripley- CREATOR OF "BELIEVE IT OR NOT"- Proves it

"RIP" HIMSELF ripples off the story of first O. G. conquest.

HERE THEY ARE . . . the "taste testers" at work in the dining room of the New York Athletic Club . . . all of them under the supervision of "Believe It or Not" Ripley himself.

Old Gold most Appealing Cigarette

Completes taste-test of 4 leading cigarettes at New York Athletic Club . . . Believe it or not, OLD GOLD WINS!

By ROBERT RIPLEY, Himself

" 'Believe-it-or-nots' have always stopped me. Any story too good to be true pulls me up short. Now comes one of the biggest thrills I've had yet.

"OLD GOLD has always seemed to me to be one of the biggest 'believe-it-or-nots' to be found anywhere.

"That's why I accepted OLD GOLD'S challenge to conduct a series of taste-tests in public places, with the distinct understanding that they would publish the results . . . WIN, LOSE OR DRAW.

"I've just completed the first test at the New York Athletic Club. Fifteen guests at the Club each smoked the four leading brands of cigarettes, with names concealed by metal bands. When each tester had made his choice I took off the bands . . . tabulated the score.

"And, believe it or not, OLD GOLD won!

" 'Believe it or not' fans know I prove my facts. So in box at the right is the auditor's report of the score."

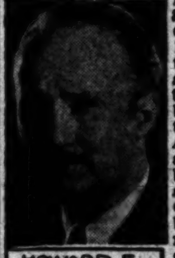
WOMEN FREED BY ADVERTISING

Lecturer Reviews Routing of House Drudgery

Existence of Article Useless Without Demand

Feminine Beauty Laid to Greater Leisure



HOWARD E. WILLIAMS

Women owe their emancipation from household drudgery to advertising, Howard E. Williams of the Lockwood-Shackelford Company told his hearers in the third of a series of educational broadcasts being made by the Los Angeles Advertising Club and sponsored by the University of Southern California. The broadcast was made by remote control from the university studio over station KMPC.

"Women were told in advertisements they could sew a hundred times faster with a sewing machine than by hand," said Mr. Williams, whose topic was "Advertising, the Road to Happiness." "They were told by advertisements a machine had been invented to do washing. The woman of today can perform her housekeeping duties in about one-third the time it took her grandmother.

WOMAN'S TIME FREED

"Two-thirds of the modern woman's time has been freed from the physical burden of maintaining existence—a result to be credited to advertisements which told millions of women a better and easier way had been created.

"Some may say advertising has been only an incident in this development, and that the credit for woman's emancipation from drudgery belongs to the inventors of the labor-saving devices; but I believe we are all familiar with the economic law that the mere existence of an article or commodity is not enough, for if it is to be useful to millions of people it must be available to millions of people who know all about it and have been stimulated into wanting it.

"We come to the familiar truth that if the millions are to be sold, the millions must be told with advertising, and telling and selling the millions permits mass production, thus getting the price down to where the millions can afford to buy.

WHAT IS HAPPINESS?

"Philosophers and clergymen have been arguing for centuries just what is this thing called happiness. Well, the kind of happiness we are talking about today is the tangible kind that came to a woman the first time she used a vacuum cleaner instead of a broom and found that fifteen minutes of easy work had replaced an hour's hard sweeping, and the kind of happiness she would soon find in the forty-five minutes of freedom the new machine had suddenly brought her.

"Here lay advertising's biggest job, and opportunity. Millions of persons suddenly found themselves with time to do anything striking their fancy. Advertising educated the millions to accept new ideas—how to decorate their homes and make them more cheerful and inviting; how men might use their leisure to educate themselves; phonograph advertising put music in more than half of the nation's homes.

WOMEN LEARN TO DRESS

"Automobile advertising put us all on wheels and brought the pleasures and recreations of travel and changing scene to almost every individual.

"Women were not so conscious of their appearance until they had leisure to go to the theater, give parties or attend bridge. They suddenly realized that cotton stockings, gingham dresses, run-down shoes and plain faces did not fit into the new picture. Cotton dresses went out of existence; silk dresses with silk attire under them became the vogue; beautiful dainty shoes replaced the high-topped button variety; faces were dressed up with cosmetics to look like the wearers thought they ought to look—all these tendencies and desires were observed in their infancy by watchful and enterprising manufacturers who immediately carried the new ideas to other millions through advertising pages.

HOUSE MADE HOME

"Homes have been revised to fit the new scheme of things. Thirty years ago if a house had good-sized rooms and a large front porch, if the paint and shingles were in good condition, it was judged a pretty good house. Not so nowadays. Houses are no longer just houses. You now have to decide whether you want a Spanish hacienda, an English cottage or a house in the Colonial style.

"The kitchen must be equipped like a miniature machine shop run by push buttons. The rugs, furniture, draperies and bric-a-brack must be either modern, antique Spanish, Italian, or early American. Bathrooms are glittering displays of tile, nickeled fittings and mirrors. The house must be heated by an automatic heating system. But today utility is not enough. The house must also have definite style and character.

"Advertising not only has been the principal means of providing people with leisure, it has also been the means of filling that leisure to the personal satisfaction of each individual."

RULING ON BUS LINE MERGING DELAYED

Examiner Gannon of the State Railroad Commission yesterday took under submission an application by the Pacific Electric Railway to consolidate the Hollywood-Beverly Hills motor coach line and a bus line serving Hollywood, University, Santa Monica and Ocean Park. O. A. Smith, passenger and traffic manager for the carrier, declared that operating losses incurred in maintaining the lines make the consolidation necessary.

FOREIGN COURTS SOLUTION SOUGHT

Judge Milton D. Purdy

COURT ISSUE IN CHINA TO ARISE SOON

Judge Thinks Question of Extraterritoriality Must be Decided in Four Years

The solution of the problem of extraterritoriality in China, the existence of foreign national courts functioning in several cities, must be reached within the next four years, in the opinion of Judge Milton Purdy, justice of the American court in Shanghai who is in Los Angeles on leave.

"American and other foreign interests in China, and particularly in Shanghai, where there are millions of dollars invested in factories, buildings and commerce, are anxious over the outcome of the question," Judge Purdy declared yesterday. "The treaty under which the United States maintains its national courts in China to settle questions which arise between its citizens will expire in 1934. A similar treaty between China and Great Britain will expire in 1933."

Judge Purdy explained that foreign investors are fearful of trusting the settlement of litigation to native judges. He added, however, that the Shanghai Municipal Council, composed of the representatives of several nationalities, has engaged Justice Seetham of South Africa for a study of "ex'tr'ality" and to suggest a possible substitute.

Date Fixed for Annual Awards in Cinema Field

Winners of the annual awards for accomplishment in the motion-picture field will be made known at the annual business meeting and awards dinner of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences at the Ambassador November 5, according to announcement yesterday.

Ballots now are in the hands of the academy members and must be in the academy offices in Hollywood not later than October 10.

The nominations for the best performances among actresses include Nancy Carroll, Ruth Chatterton, Greta Garbo, Norma Shearer and Gloria Swanson, and actors, George Arliss, Wallace Beery, Maurice Chevalier, Ronald Colman and Lawrence Tibbett.

The academy also will vote on the best achievement by a director, best photography, sound recording and writing and the outstanding productions selected as "All Quiet on the Western Front," "The Big House," "Disraeli," "The Divorcee," and "Love Parade."

CITY MAY GET HOSE FACTORY

Head of Eastern Concern Looking Over Sites Here With Idea of Building

An addition to the growing list of factories allied with the garment and clothing industries in Los Angeles was forecast yesterday with the arrival of J. A. Conrad, president of Conrad's Hosiery Company, Clifton, N. J., for a survey of possible sites for a new factory.

Mr. Conrad said yesterday that his concern had entered the Pacific Coast with its product only ten years ago and only recently established a warehouse stock in San Francisco.

"The time is coming very shortly when we will have to locate a factory here," Mr. Conrad said. "As far as I have been able to determine, Southern California seems to have the even climate so necessary for silk manufacture."

He explained that his present factory in New Jersey has 800 employees and that a factory located here would have a similar number.

Last night Mr. Conrad entertained a number of department-store buyers and saleswomen at the Biltmore with an illustrated lecture on hosiery manufacture.

Unseeing Eyes of Driver Tell Suicide Secret

Frequently while Warren Hauser, attendant at the parking space at 4473 Sunset Boulevard, went about his work yesterday, he noted with small stirrings of curiosity a man sitting quietly in the coupe he had parked there at noon.

Finally, in the evening, it struck Hauser that the eyes that stared out so steadily through the glass seemed unwinkingly steady. It was then discovered that Bert H. Mason, 35 years of age, who, from a letter in his pocket, may have been the head of a concern called the Gold Dust Placer Mining Company, and who had been sitting so many hours in what seemed brooding thought, had converted his coupe into a sealed, lethal-gas chamber.

The floor board of the car had been opened. With a screw driver the man had gouged a hole in the exhaust pipe. He had left the motor running, closed the windows and the door and waited until death overtook him.

A sardonic phase of the suicide, as it is recorded by the police, is that Mason owned 25,000 shares of stock in some venture which he had been advised in a telegram found on him not to sell—and all he had in his pockets in actual cash was 89 cents.

Narcotics Taken by Drug Bandit

BLACKSTOCK FUNERAL PLANNED FO TODAY

Funeral rites for Mrs. Abbie L. Blackstock, 82 years of age, pioneer resident of Los Angeles, who died Monday at her home, 109 North Avenue 54, will be conducted at 2 p.m. today at the Highland Park Presbyterian Church, 5301 Pasadena avenue. Rev. E. P. Cochran will officiate. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Mrs. Blackstock had lived here since 1876. Santa Monica Extension Project Brings Request to City Attorney from Utilities Board

Purported plans of the city of Santa Monica to ballot on a bond issue with the object of extending its municipal bus line to Pershing Square by way of Pico Boulevard yesterday resulted in the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation of Los Angeles asking the City Attorney's office to issue an opinion on the right of Santa Monica to extend its service without obtaining permission of the board. A test case is proposed. The board's engineers suggest that the legality of the proceeding should be ascertained before the Santa Monica voters take any action in order to save them unnecessary expense.

Those behind the proposed extension believe that it can be made without the consent of Los Angeles, basing their opinion on the amendment known as Article 11, Section 19, of the California Constitution, which purports to give a municipality the right to extend a municipal bus line to other municipalities not operating their own lines, according to the engineers.

The board's engineers hold that the amendment was for a specific case and not for general application and that the proposed extension by Santa Monica cannot be effected without a permit from Los Angeles.

In 1928 the Board of Public Utilities granted the request of Santa Monica for operation of the line from Rimpau and Pico boulevards and over Pico Boulevard to Santa Monica, after the applicant had agreed to abide by the regulations of Los Angeles on bus transportation. A proposal to test the case at that time was dropped because of the agreement to abide by the regulations.

The board's engineers hold that if Santa Monica is allowed to make the extension without a permit, there is nothing to stop it or some other municipality from operating on any streets of Los Angeles they may choose, in competition with established bus lines.
